

JUDGE STANTON IS BOOMED BY FRIENDS FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Martin O'Brien of Crookston Urges the Bemidji Judge's Availability.

Finish of the Red Hot State Fair Contest Next Week.

Governor Eberhart Mixes in the Red Lake County Seat Fight.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald)—Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji is receiving a great deal of publicity in the state press in connection with talk emanating among his friends and connecting him with the Democratic nomination for governor. Judge Stanton was in St. Paul and Minneapolis for a week-end visit and while in the cities met a number of prominent Democrats who were favorably impressed with his personality. While talk has been largely along the lines of nominating former Governor John Lind or Congressman W. S. Hemmick for governor at the next state convention there are many who declare their belief in Stanton's availability.

Martin O'Brien, the Crookston attorney, who during recent years has been considered to have been one of Governor Johnson's closest political friends in the Ninth district, was one of those who met Stanton in St. Paul and he is quite enthusiastic over the Bemidji judge's availability.

BROOKLYN MEN GET PAY RAISED

Rapid Transit Company Makes Voluntary Increase in Wages.

New York, Jan. 8.—The Brooklyn Rapid Transit company today announced a voluntary increase in the pay of the 5,000 motormen, conductors and other trainmen employed on the company's lines. The increase in pay for the motormen will be from $1.50 to $2.00, or one-third of the surplus netted last year.

The new system of pay places the trainmen in grades according to length of service, and their wages will be increased in proportion to the term of service. Surface line conductors and motormen will receive from $1.50 to $2.00 an hour this year and 1/2 cent more for the same grades next year. On the elevated lines motormen will receive this year 25 to 31 cents an hour; conductors, 21 to 27 cents, and guards, 18 to 21 cents. Each grade will be advanced 1/2 cent next year.

THINK KNOX'S PLANS FUTILE

Japanese Do Not Agree With Scheme for Manchurian Railways.

Attitude of Russia Will Have Big Influence on Their Action.

Tokyo, Jan. 8.—The leading newspapers, in their issues of tomorrow, disapprove of the acceptance by Japan of Secretary Knox's proposition for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways. The consensus of opinion here is that the plan is impracticable because Japan would not receive a benefit proportionate with the sacrifice entailed.

It is held that the interests of the Japanese settlers in Southern Manchuria could not be protected under such an arrangement. Official circles remain non-committal on the subject. It is generally believed here that Russia will decline to accept the American suggestion.

The Treaty of Portsmouth.
The newspapers will point out that the commercial neutrality of Southern Manchuria was guaranteed by the treaty of Portsmouth which the published first information which the publication of the American note was contained in extended news dispatches from Washington printed this morning. The dispatches were unaccompanied with editorial expressions.

Although the members of the cabinet and other government officials declined today to give the slightest intimation of their official views, it may be stated with assurance that the Japanese government is now conferring with Russia and that the tenor of Japan's reply will depend largely upon the position taken at St. Petersburg.

Knox's Plan Difficult.
It is no secret that the Japanese statesmen regard the American proposition as one which would be extremely difficult to work out in practice. The Zelaya Is Blamed By Him for Deaths of Groce and Cannon.

Peace Envoy in Nicaragua Drowns—England Enters the Field.

Washington, Jan. 8.—President Madrid of Nicaragua, in a message to the state department, declares that the recent shown by the government and people of the United States because of the execution of Groce and Cannon, American citizens, was justified.

The telegram was received by the state department through Admiral Kimball at the navy department. It stated that Madrid had asked Admiral Kimball to inform the United States government that after a personal study of the circumstances attending the execution of Groce and Cannon, he profoundly lamented the violent act which cost those men their lives.

President Madrid, the message further sets forth, after personal investigation of the circumstances under which the execution took place, declared the deed illegal. He considered the circumstances under which the execution took place as a violation of the constitution under which a president of that country may be prosecuted criminally.

This expression from the president of Nicaragua may prove of great significance. It is taken here to mean a possible demand upon Mexico or upon some other country, if Zelaya should leave Mexico, for the extradition of the former president by whose orders Groce and Cannon were executed. There is a provision of the Nicaraguan constitution under which a president of that country may be prosecuted criminally.

CHEER OUSTING OF THE FORESTER

Wool Growers Rejoice in Official Decapitation of Pinchot.

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 8.—Cheering greeted the announcement of the dismissal of Gifford Pinchot, at the sessions of the Wool Growers' association. The action of President Taft may result in changing the association's proposed legislation, as many resolutions bear upon the forestry service and its relations to sheep grazing.

Albert E. Potter, assistant forester, who has been designated to succeed Mr. Pinchot temporarily as chief of the forestry bureau, is attending the convention. He said he had not received official notification that the bureau had been transferred to his charge.

Is With Pinchot.
Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—The Forestry Society of California has sent the following telegram to Gifford Pinchot, chief forester:
"The Forestry Society of California, by unanimous vote, expresses its absolute confidence in your judgment and sincerity. Stay with the right; the people of California are with you."

At the same time, Clifford Harmon will ascend in his big spherical "New York," with Mrs. Alvin French and Miss Alice Campbell of Pasadena, on (Continued on page 23, fifth column.)

GIRLS GET RID OF FREAK NAMES

Nothing Tuttle Becomes Trix, and Something Now Is Kitty.

Mexico, Mo., Jan. 8.—Nothing Tuttle and Something Tuttle are now Trix and Kitty Tuttle respectively. They have changed their names. The young women are daughters of T. T. Tuttle, a retired farmer.

Tuttle's first child, a girl, was born in 1881, which was a dry year. In order to commemorate the year, she named her Eighty-one. She is now the wife of Ruffie Jackson.

The second child, a boy, brought about a disagreement between Tuttle and his wife as to a name, so they compromised by calling him T. Tuttle. The third child, a girl, was named Nothing and the strange names were carried out in the naming of the youngest. She became Something.

"MEAT TRUST" GRIP MADE STRONGER

Big Packers Are Said to Have Added to Forces in the East.

New York, Jan. 8.—Coinciding with the disclosure of the means by which the price of meat to "the ultimate consumer" in New York was advanced Nov. 1 at a secret meeting of the so-called meat trust, comes a report that the Western packers are taking a fresh grip on control of the local supply of meat. It is alleged that Armour & Co. Swift & Co. and other affiliated packers have obtained a dominating interest in a half dozen of the largest independent local meat wholesalers, including the company organized by local retailers to fight the so-called "meat trust."

OMINOUS SILENCE HOLDS WASHINGTON FOLLOWING THE OUSTING OF PINCHOT

SPEAKER CANNON IS GIVEN JOLT BY VOTE IN HOUSE

Insurgents and Democrats Jubilant Over Result of First Clash.

Norris of Nebraska Says It Was Expression of Lack of Confidence.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Joy and jubilation are running riot in the insurgent camp at the capitol today, for when the smoke of the first skirmish in the war against Speaker Cannon had cleared away in the house yesterday it was found that the "regulars" had been beaten in an open vote and that the opponents of the speaker and his methods of conducting business in the house had gained ground.

In "regular" circles there is evidence of some perturbation over the result of the first clash. It is expected that the party whip will be given some insistent instructions before the next question comes to a vote in the house, and there is evidence that strenuous efforts will be made to prevent any further occurrence such as marked the closing moments of yesterday's session.

Cannon Cannot Name Committee.
Speaker Cannon received his "jolt" in the house of representatives in the vote on the amendment offered by Representative Norris of Nebraska, the insurgent leader, to the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation resolution, and the vote was 148 to 146, five voting "present." The amendment took from (Continued on page 5, second column.)

DEMOCRATS HEAR FOLK

Speaker Attacks Tariff, Aldrich and Cannon at Kansas City.

Gives "No Protection for Monopoly" as Party Battle Cry.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 8.—"The great fight in the country today," said Joseph W. Folk today in a speech at the Democratic state conference here. "We cannot bring about a forced equality of conditions, but there may be an equalization of burdens and opportunities. There is a growing demand for protection for the people against monopoly, instead of protecting monopoly against the people. The only purpose of the protective tariff is to stifle competition, and to that extent create monopoly."

The Democratic party should take a clean-cut stand against the system of protection. The fight should not be for free raw materials and protection for manufactured products, or vice versa, but for no protection at all. No protection for no protection at all. (Continued on page 5, fourth column.)

REFUSES TO YIELD OFFICE TO WOMAN

Nebraska County Treasurer Claims She Is Not Eligible to Position.

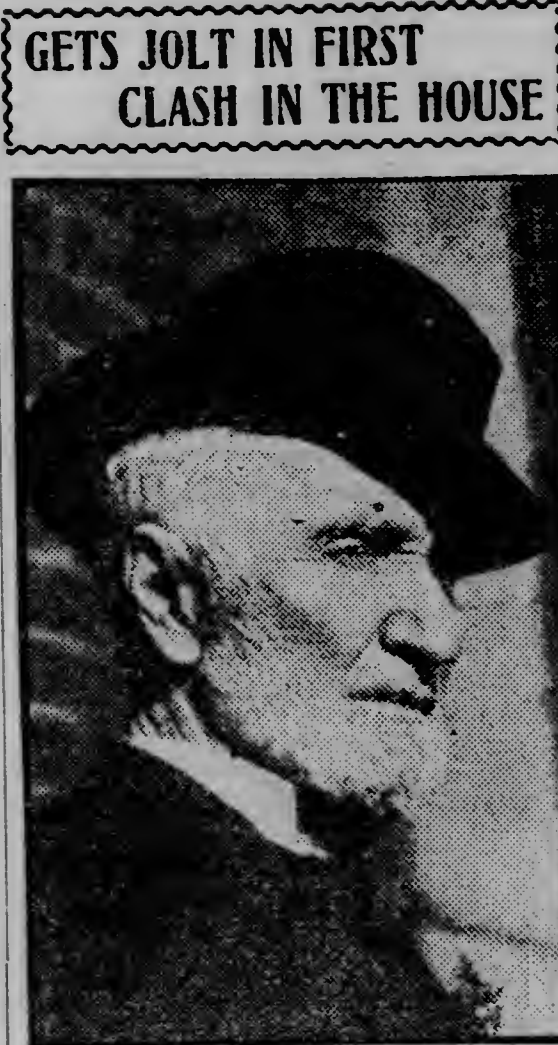

Norfolk, Neb., Jan. 8.—F. B. Quible, county treasurer of Cherry county, has refused to turn over the office to Miss Gertrude Jordan, who was elected last fall. Quible takes the ground that a woman is not eligible to hold a county office. The case will be carried to the supreme court and will be the first such test under the constitution of the state of Nebraska.

FORESTRY MEN TO MEET JAN. 18

Governors Will Be Invited to Attend Session in Washington.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The American Forestry association will hold its twenty-ninth annual convention in Washington Jan. 18 and 19. A conference of governors of states will be held here Jan. 20, and the governors will be invited to attend the forestry convention. Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture will address the foresters.

PROPHETS IN BLACK MOOD

Former Chief Forester Declines to Make Any Comment "At This Time."

Great Fight in Party Is Predicted—Insurgents May Be Gainers.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Gifford Pinchot, chief forester of the United States, yesterday, in a private citizen today, apparently unconcerned and smiling in great contrast to the political ferment in which Washington finds itself.

The summary dismissal conveyed last night in the president's letter in the closing lines, "by your own accord, you have destroyed your usefulness as a helpful subordinate of the government and it therefore now becomes my duty to direct the secretary of agriculture to remove you from your office as the forester has brought nothing from Mr. Pinchot more than the simple statement, 'I would prefer to say nothing at this time,' but political Washington almost trembles to think what may be the result."

Many Effects Possible.
Pinchot today, in the opinion of many, becomes the pivot on which the insurgent fight with the administration can turn its guns. The effect of Pinchot's dismissal, the friend of Theodore Roosevelt and head champion of the Roosevelt conservation policies, being ousted from the official family of President Taft is another phase of the conjectures which fill the air. The effect of Pinchot's dismissal upon the congressional investigation of Secretary Ballinger and the land office, is another.

DULUTH GAINS GROUND IN WAR ON WHITE PLAGUE

Vital Statistics Show Decrease in Deaths From Tuberculosis.

Health Department Report Encouraging to Those Behind Campaign.

Duluth made a big advance in its fight against the destructive white plague the last year, according to figures in the health office. Fewer deaths results from tuberculosis than for years, the record being by far the best attained since Duluth outlawed its swaddling clothes.

Dr. E. J. J. J., health commissioner, made a few comparisons this morning and found that eighty-nine persons died of consumption in 1909 as compared with 105 in 1908 and 101 in 1907. "I am very gratified, and I am sure the rest of the city will be," said Dr. J. J., "that this demonstration in black and white that much progress has been made. When the totals are compiled at the end of the present year, I am confident that they will show still greater gains. Fresh air is the greatest remedy in the world, not only for tuberculosis, but for other diseases which may be classified as preventable.

During the year fifty-seven deaths were caused by accidents, as compared with fifty-two in 1908 and seventy-one in 1907; twenty-eight were caused by diphtheria, as compared with forty-two in 1908 and forty in 1907; 101 were caused by pneumonia, as compared with sixty-nine in 1908 and 111 in 1907; forty-five were caused by Bright's disease, as compared with thirty-one in 1908 and thirty-three in 1907; thirty-two were due to heart failure, as compared with twenty-five in 1908 and twenty-eight in 1907; eighteen were due to scarlet fever, as compared with twenty in 1908 and nine in 1907.

The mortality rate is low, being .0009, about the same as last year. This means that 9.5 people died for every 1,000 in the city, as compared with the population at 85,000. The total number of deaths was 350, but 145 of these brings the actual number of Duluth deaths down to 205.

A feature of the figures is in the mortality rate of age, of whom seventy-two died. But of this number fifty-six died during the last months of July, August and September. Death was generally caused by pneumonia, which was the case with 1,350, but they have not all been died. Certificates for births that occurred last year are still coming in. The number which have been received is 1,350. It is reported that there were but 174 births in 1909.

RAILROADS ALL TRAINS ARE DELAYED

The Cold Weather Seriously Affects Railroads of the Northwest.

Many Small Towns Are Without Adequate Fuel Supplies.

Reports received here from a wide strip of railroad territory show the railroads of the country are tied up by the severe weather, that has covered the belt, both in the East and in the West.

Particularly is the coal movement affected by the severe weather that is prevalent throughout the West. Not only is the coal needed more in severe weather, thereby throwing more work onto the railroads, but the railroads find it exceedingly difficult to work any where under full capacity when the thermometer hovers below the zero mark.

Information received here today indicates that the railroads of the East are badly affected by the cold weather, while the passenger and freight trains in the West are seriously affected.

An example of the effect of the cold weather on the railroads may be noted in the experience of the Northwestern between Duluth and Chicago. The Northwestern has been late every day for the past week, and the delay of the trains is simply due to the cold weather. The Northwestern was reported over two hours late this morning, and the delay is caused by the cold weather in Wisconsin and Illinois.

When the extreme cold spell struck the Northwest, many of the smaller towns of the West were caught without a coal supply that would last any length of time. Talk, too, despite the fact that the Northwestern railroads had sent out repeated warnings to all the orders that are pouring in from Minnesota, North and South Dakota and from sections of the states further to the West. They are working in the face of the cold weather, which is very discouraging, according to the statement of the railroad men.

Some of the localities without an adequate supply may suffer before the railroads are able to fill the orders received by the coal dealers.

According to the statements of Commissioners Mills and Elmquist there is no immediate danger that any towns in this state will suffer from lack of fuel.

In the Eastern section of the country the railroads are experiencing delay and trouble, according to railroad reports, that are being received by the Duluth office. Locally the only serious delay that is felt is on through freight trains, but the delay is caused by the cold weather, as well as coal shipments to the West. The delay in passenger business has also experienced the bad effects of the weather.

RAILROAD NOTES

A. R. Brown, traveling freight agent for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, is in town today with the freight train. Mr. Brown reports freight business quiet with the promise of an unusually heavy season after the winter full is over.

Mrs. George A. Cohen and Josephine Cohen left Duluth this afternoon on a special train.

George Stephens, general freight agent for the Canadian Northern, was in the city last night. The freight business of the Canadian Northern has been increasing, and it was in connection with this that Mr. Stephens was here. He left early this morning.

A. M. Cleland, general passenger agent for the Northern Pacific railway, is due to arrive in Duluth at 7 o'clock this evening. He will come here to take up some general passenger matters.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The regular Republican organization of the house will not rest under the defeat sustained yesterday.

The regularity, it is announced, will rally their forces for a final fight when the times arrives for the house to choose the members of the investigating body. They expect to master sufficient force to name practically the entire committee, which would have been chosen had the speaker been left to choose the committee.

The speaker, it is said, has been chosen by the committee, and the public lands today reported a resolution authorizing the committee to investigate the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

MANY GUARANTEED NOTES IN THE ANDY JONES CASE. Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. H. Hall, agent for the Andys Jones bank defalcation case today, said that he had received a number of notes, which he guaranteed would not have to be paid.

P. J. Jones, an attorney of Devils Lake, testified he had signed for the notes, and that he had signed a guarantee that he would never be called upon to pay the notes.

The defalcation of Sheriff Ely was also brought out. It was shown that the Hall and Ely notes had figured in the $50,000 defalcation.

These were identified by County Treasurer Julek as having been turned in to cover Ely's defalcations from failure to turn over delinquent taxes he had collected.

Many additional notes are expected to be taken up this afternoon and fully explained.

It develops that Jones signed personal guarantees over the notes. Signed notes that were used to help him and his friends.

Final Action on Canadian Northern Franchise Expected Monday Night.

The council Monday night will probably be the scene of another battle over the Canadian Northern franchise. Following the stormy session last Monday at which West Duluthians clashed fiercely over the route that the road shall follow, the council will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock. It is anticipated that some West Duluthians will be present at the next meeting. The general sentiment among the Duluthians will be passed, despite the strenuous objections that have been made.

The question as to whether or not M. Fitzgerald should be granted another extension of time for reducing the grade of Piedmont avenue between Third and Tenth streets is also to come up. The other business promises to be of a routine nature.

STORMY SESSION IS LOOKED FOR

Final Action on Canadian Northern Franchise Expected Monday Night.

The council Monday night will probably be the scene of another battle over the Canadian Northern franchise. Following the stormy session last Monday at which West Duluthians clashed fiercely over the route that the road shall follow, the council will meet Monday night at 8 o'clock. It is anticipated that some West Duluthians will be present at the next meeting. The general sentiment among the Duluthians will be passed, despite the strenuous objections that have been made.

The question as to whether or not M. Fitzgerald should be granted another extension of time for reducing the grade of Piedmont avenue between Third and Tenth streets is also to come up. The other business promises to be of a routine nature.

PLAN RENEWAL OF THE FIGHT "Regular" Republicans Work Through Senate and House Rules.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The regular Republican organization of the house will not rest under the defeat sustained yesterday.

The regularity, it is announced, will rally their forces for a final fight when the times arrives for the house to choose the members of the investigating body. They expect to master sufficient force to name practically the entire committee, which would have been chosen had the speaker been left to choose the committee.

The speaker, it is said, has been chosen by the committee, and the public lands today reported a resolution authorizing the committee to investigate the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

MANY GUARANTEED NOTES IN THE ANDY JONES CASE. Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. H. Hall, agent for the Andys Jones bank defalcation case today, said that he had received a number of notes, which he guaranteed would not have to be paid.

P. J. Jones, an attorney of Devils Lake, testified he had signed for the notes, and that he had signed a guarantee that he would never be called upon to pay the notes.

The defalcation of Sheriff Ely was also brought out. It was shown that the Hall and Ely notes had figured in the $50,000 defalcation.

These were identified by County Treasurer Julek as having been turned in to cover Ely's defalcations from failure to turn over delinquent taxes he had collected.

Many additional notes are expected to be taken up this afternoon and fully explained.

It develops that Jones signed personal guarantees over the notes. Signed notes that were used to help him and his friends.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 8. — The National Baseball commission yesterday promulgated its findings regarding several former major league players whose reinstatement or return to the club with which they served before joining the California state league, was sought by Secretary Moreng of that organization. The gist of the commissions' action. The gist of the commissions' action given out yesterday, after the annual meeting of the commission. Yesterday's announcement, however, reveals several important details.

Joe' Nealon, former first baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who stood and awarded to the Oakland Athletics a $10,000 stock certificate, said this finding is because of the Pittsburgh club's failure to pay the Oakland club valuing its claims in the case.

Elmer Strickland and Thomas Sheehan, former players of the Pittsburgh Pirates, are denied reinstatement as members of the Pittsburgh league. The finding in these cases puts on the players the burden of proving that they are entitled to recognition by organized baseball. Moring and Sheehan were returned to B-Stock by Henderson declared a member of the B-Stock club. Moring and Sheehan are the Stockton team.

Tommy Hughes, related to H. Smith, ex-outfielder. As previously announced, he was awarded reinstatement as a member of the Stockton team under a contract signed before the California league was organized.

The commission also promulgated a decision denying the application for reinstatement of the club's application for a new hearing in the case of Player Sava of the Watertown, Conn.

New of the Theatre

The Third Degree

"The Third Degree."

The experience gained by Charles Klein during the past twenty years as a playwright has given him an insight into the demands of the play-going public that has made him one of America's leading dramatists. After his tremendous success with "The Lion and the Mouse," from which he realized a fortune of half a million dollars, Mr. Klein wrote "The Third Degree." The success of the latter play has proved to the author that he is writing in the midst of the era calling for plays based on a topic of contemporary interest.

The stage is credited with its fascinations like other callings of the moment, as may be shown by the retrospective glance at the varied offerings of triumph during the past few years. There was a time when Shakespeare's heavier works and tragedies of more modern authors were given prominence, but the rapid pace maintained today in the business world seems to lead patrons of the theater away from a performance of tragic tendencies. The farce and has never regained its vogue, presumably because there are no Charles Kloys to supply the demand for that class of entertainment. The condition of the world, which will be impressive when the real merit of the play is reached.

The problem and "costume" plays seem to have lost their real entertaining qualities, while spectacular offerings appeal only to the eye because their grandeur predominate over their literary strength. These facts were made known most forcibly to Mr. Klein through his contact and practical experience and conditions encountered by a dramatist. He has been a most new idea in dramatic themes appeared most strongly to Mr. Klein, but it was not made possible by application for some little time afterwards.

Five years ago Mr. Klein was in Washington in the interests of a copyright law and his many visits to the senate chamber gave him the inspiration that he had been searching for—a topic of timely interest. The author began constructing a play that would not be simply entertaining, but instructive, by dealing with a subject which was of consequence to the welfare of the American people. "The Lion and the Mouse" was the result of his first effort with that point in view. The remarkable triumph of the play gave the author encouragement which led to his decision to write ten plays of contemporary interest before retiring from the dramatic field.

"The Third Degree" numbers two in the proposed series, and, as the title would indicate, deals with a most timely topic, especially since the many recent applications of "the third degree" by the police of New York and the consequent upheavals among their commissaries. The evils more frequently wrought than not by the use of hypnotic suggestion and visual concentration in police inquiry were impressed upon Mr. Klein by reading the works of Prof. Hugo Münsterberg of Harvard, although the dramatist has always been a student of metaphysics and psychology. After the scenario was completed a New York manager paid Mr. Klein $2,500 in advance royalties, but afterwards failed to see the dramatic possibilities in the play and refused to produce it. The wisdom of Henry B. Harris was again made clear after he read the play. He was anxious to produce "The Third Degree" and offered the controlling manager $3,000 to release all rights to the play. It will be seen in Duluth all of next week.

"The House of 1,000 Candles."

The attraction at the Lyceum tomorrow night will be the original production of "The House of a Thousand Candles," a play founded upon the novel of Meredith Nicholson, by George Middleton, and produced at Daly and Backlot theaters in New York city for nearly an entire season.

The dramatist has succeeded in translating to the stage the story, without loss of dramatic interest or value. It has been extremely successful from the first performance. The action moves at a rapid pace, and the scenes succeed one another in logical and progressive order. It is a strong virile drama, with a plausible, consistent, convincing plot that can be as easily understood by one who has read the book as by one who has read the fascinating tale of the house of mystery. The most is made of every dramatic situation in Mr. Nicholson's novel, and a play has been produced that is as clear and interesting as the novelist's story.

To the plot as revealed in the novel more substance has been added and this in turn, has lent weight to the drama, built a stronger story for stage purposes, around each character and assisted in developing to their fullest extent all the dramatic quality of the book. Bates, the silent, inscrutable butler steps into the position of hero, and though it is by no means easy

PAUL EVERTON,
Leading Man in "The Third Degree."

to make a hero of a valet, the dramatist has succeeded admirably. Moreover the elevation of Bates is accomplished without detracting appreciably from the prominence of young Cleburn, the hero of the novel, and in one sense still the hero of the play. But behind the footlights, Bates gets the prominence which is really his due and which in the story Mr. Nicholson allowed him by suggestion rather than by emphasis. This adjustment of the character's values is less a liberty than a development of the novel's possibilities and not only does it modify the story to any material extent but assists as a matter of fact in making the stage version clearer than it might otherwise have been and the scenes and situations more effective.

"The Merry Widow."

"Better, even, than over," seems to be the critical and popular verdict upon this season's production of "The Merry Widow," by Henry W. Savage. Wherever this queen of operettas has appeared there has followed this declaration and with it an enthusiastic statement that the Lehar masterpiece itself is not with less delightful and inspiring than the day it first saw the glare of the footlights. One thing is certain, the delicious melodies, intoxicating rhythms and brilliant gaiety of "The Merry Widow" do not lose by repetition. Indeed, it is not until the third or fourth hearing that one begins to realize the manifold charms of the operetta.

During the year's engagement at the New Amsterdam theater, New York, many music lovers attended not merely a dozen performances but literally scores. The high record, so far as is definitely known, is held by a well known lawyer, who, with his wife and occasionally a party of friends, saw her widowship forty-eight times. They saw and heard the role of Sonia presented by every one of the eleven interpreters engaged from time to time. Many others attended more than twenty performances and the number that saw the operetta over a dozen times must have run into the hundreds.

Precisely similar was the experience during the runs of the Chicago and Boston companies. Unless this had been the case, it would have been impossible to play to such tremendous receipts as $1,000,000 in New York, $800,000 in Chicago and $250,000 in Boston. There are not enough different playgoers in any of these cities to make such returns possible; there must be "repeats."

"The Merry Widow" will be in Duluth, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 18, 19 and 20.

Lyceum Notes.

"The Great Divide," William Vaughn Moody's successful drama of American life, will be presented under the direction of Henry Miller at the Lyceum again. "The Great Divide" has a record of over 600 nights in New York, and is beyond doubt the most successful dramatic achievement of any American playwright.

The rumor that David Warfield, the great American actor who has been entertaining New York audiences for five consecutive seasons in "The Music Master," will appear at an early date in this city has been substantiated by the announcement that he has just come from the Bolshoi offices in New York. Mr. Warfield and the original Belasco company will be seen in this city in the very successful play, "The Music Master." As a dramatic and artistic event, the occasion will be the most important the local stage has known for many seasons. Mr. Warfield will travel in his private car.

"The Man of the Hour" is booked for an early appearance in Duluth. Managers William A. Brad and Joseph F. Grier's special cast will be seen on this occasion.

There may be comments upon the electrical effects, utilized in "The Soul Kiss" and "The Prince," the companion play to "When Knighthood was in Flower," Frank Holland's greatest success, the beautiful romantic drama which will be presented at the Lyceum on Jan. 16 and 17, but the apparent inconsistency of electricity in the sixteenth century will be quickly removed when once the curtain rises on a Florentine rose garden, in the first act. The refreshing and soothing murmur of trickling fountains greets the ear, but the sparkling spray could only assume a semblance of nature by the use of modern electrical effects.

Every up-to-date idea is used in the production of "The Soul Kiss," the record-breaking New York musical comedy success, which is booked for an engagement at the Lyceum on Jan. 21 and 22. Even the "Diabolical" craze is used effectively in a third act number, entitled "My Diabolical Beau."

At the Bijou.

What the Winnipeg Free Press says is one of the best vaudeville shows that has ever appeared in that city will open at the Bijou for Monday matinee and all week. The bill will be headed with another big feature European gymnastic act, that has been imported to play the Sullivan & Constable circuit. The act is the Schlavovits troupe of gymnasts. The troupe consists of six of the best specimens the athletic world could turn out, and their feats are marvelous to behold. The wonder of this act is again a woman who supports a full-grown man on each hand while they turn somersaults. The act is one of the most wonderful that has ever appeared in vaudeville, and one that every one who enjoys athletics should see.

The principal comedy act for the week will be Collins and Brown. They are a pair of comedians who are known in vaudeville as the Marathon foot racers, and as real German comedians they have few equals. The characters they present are of well-known types that are met with daily in every great city.

One of the neatest singing acts that has been seen in some time will be the Three Singing Girls. They are three pretty girls with an attractive stage presence, and have voices that have been trained to a high standard. Leaders of good singing will take great pleasure in this offering. The program includes classic numbers, as well as popular melodies. Each of the three girls is a soloist, and their ensemble numbers are beautiful and worth going a long way to hear.

Ralph C. Whitehead, who has been for several years identified with the vaudeville and dramatic types in the East, will give another prominent number on the program. Mr. Whitehead is a genuine artist and a thorough master of character delineation. His English and Italian renditions are exceptionally good, and he is sure to be one of the week's favorites. The big sketch for the week will be Hal Kelly and Flo Wentworth, two artists of known ability, and who, like many others, have deserted the legitimate for the vaudeville stage. Their choice has been a wise one, as they are now considered as having one of the best acts in the sketch line that vaudeville has to offer. They are presenting their big success entitled "The Village Hold-up," a little playlet replete with pathos and good comedy.

Mr. Kelly is one of America's foremost character actors, while Miss Wentworth is a dramatic player of much ability. A complete set of scenery is carried for the production.

Earl Morse will sing one of his best illustrated songs entitled "Rings on My Fingers."

The usual bright and exclusive motion pictures will round off this most promising program. Matinees are given daily at 2:45 and night performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved by either phone. A special school children's matinee will be given Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and performances Sunday afternoon and night.

Bijou Notes.

The Bijou theater has a big list of vaudeville features for this winter. Some of the acts that will appear in the near future are: Louis Guertin company, Edward Winchester, Helen Carmichael in phantasmic pantomime; Maud Hall, Mazuz and Mazette, Tossing La Velle, The Elks, The Farleys, Stockney's Dog and Pony Circus, Musical Lower, Fox and Ward, Little Hip, trick baby elephant, Master and Mrs. Five Sisters Warwick, Leona, The Comedy, The Four Phantasms, Boyle Bros., Phil Staats and Emma Benner, also several big European novelties.

Bisbee, Ariz., Jan. 8.—Pumping has been in contact. The tunnel has been changed a large body of ore, and the impression is growing that the merger has fallen through or has been indefinitely postponed, or, worse yet, that it never was considered on the wide plans that had been outlined in the public prints, and that much of the talk was for no other purpose.

Some Lost Heavily.

An interesting story comes from an unseasoned private source in New York that, during the height of the boom, the Tumble and North Butte over the Jesse vein, and both companies are engaged in surveying and doing development work for the purpose of proving ownership of the vein in question. Since President Hickey left the Tumble company issued his sensational letter, practically challenging the North Butte and Amalgamated companies.

shaft is sufficiently unwatered to allow of their commencing work. This will be within a few weeks. It is thought. According to the present plans one hole will be sunk from the shaft bottom which is down a little more than 500 feet while three others will be sunk from drifts at the same level at some distance from the shaft. Each hole will be sunk 1,000 feet to the bottom of the shaft. The operations will be under supervision of O. P. Kane, who will occupy the position of consulting engineer for the company.

The California & Paradise Mining company, which owns twelve claims in the Cordova mining district of the same county, has received a notable acquisition to the board of directors and an impetus toward further extension and development.

The crosscut from the Sullivan shaft has reached a distance of 243 feet to the eastward, from which point it will be directed to the north and northeast, the eastern and northern boundary of the Eureka claim. Operations of the Lake Copper company continue to result in the discovery of further good runs of ground, particularly so at the third level. At this depth the distance between breasts in the shaft is approximately 90 feet with good values showing throughout. The improvement made by the new machinery will make operations thereon profitable to make operations thereon profitable. The Board has led to some what of a mystery and there are those who expect it to be the equal of the Calumet conglomerate. Plans for other developments are being watched with considerable interest by the local mining men.

The Isle Royale mine has gradually increased operations on the old Isle Royale lode and is again sending a good round tonnage to the smelter. The quality of the ore is rather low grade. Operations on this bed are continuing.

Globe, Ariz., Jan. 8.—The Arizona Commercial Copper company, whose property is located in the Copper Hill mining district and about four miles east of Globe, continues to employ about 200 men at its mine and smelter. The smelting plant is putting out its

At the fifth level all operations have temporarily ceased until the shaft is enlarged to the sixth level. The crosscut at the sixth and bottom level has attained a level that is equal to the level of the shaft at that point has attained a depth of about 100 feet, and a decided improvement in the quality of the ore is noted as depth is gained. The present showing in this shaft is as follows: The shaft has attained a depth of about 800 feet. Lateral openings have been made in the rock, but thus far without the mineral in commercial quantity. The Assistant Manager John E. Pemberthy is in general charge of the Arizona smelter. Mr. J. However sure we may be that overturning the way for the cataclysm of financial panic and industrial depression, the possibility of a disaster of this kind could be averted, the fact that such a disaster among us are not yet wise enough both to foresee the event, and to convince themselves that it is not a question of delay, but of a question of time.

It is related that in Palo Alto at noon on April 18, 1908, a Chinaman cook was preparing dinner in the street on an open fire. A crowd of people, and passers-by remonstrated that this was unsafe. The Chinaman replied: "There another earthquake before the day could be eaten. The Chinaman said:
"I am not afraid of the earthquake. I am afraid of the fire. Who say so?" "Why," said the other, "Dr. Jordan said so." "I am not afraid of the earthquake," remarked, "Why didn't Dr. Jordan tell us about the first one?" and then said: "I am not afraid of the earthquake, I am afraid of the fire. Who say so?"
warn us that the present indications of a disaster of this kind are not so that we are to have another panic before our dinner. The Chinaman said:
"I am not afraid of the earthquake, I am afraid of the fire. Who say so?"
to forget the first one, and that they are not taking place.

For our part, we believe in making the most of the good times. We accept them as a reality, and look forward to the future with confidence and of interpretation for any reason, to their own advantage. We are not without optimism but assurance based on appreciation of the essential soundness of the "fundamental features." Wealth is not a thing to be hoarded, but dependent on a high degree of economic prosperity, and the tasks at hand are not to be neglected. We are engaged

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

A good and true woman is said to resemble a Cremona violin; age but increases its worth and sweetens its tone.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

THE SPECIAL MESSAGE.

Under the Sherman anti-trust law, as construed by the courts, not only are the corporations hated of the people guilty, but many corporations in fairly good repute also are guilty.

Concentration of capital and industry which has reduced waste and expensive friction has produced great benefits to society, though so far society hasn't taken steps, through its government, to see that these benefits were distributed properly.

In fact they are distributed just as the System sees fit to distribute them; and that means inordinate profits for those in control of trusted industries, and inordinate prices to the consumer.

The fault is not in the consolidations, but in the manner of their management. Yet the Sherman law is aimed at the consolidations themselves, and it is being construed to make unlawful consolidations that are beneficial in themselves, but have been made harmful by the manner of their operation, through lack of proper public regulation.

President Taft would not change the Sherman law, however. He would leave it as it is, and in his special message to congress he suggests that in lieu of amending this law, an opportunity be given the big industrial combinations to bring their business once more into the "zone of lawfulness" by taking out federal charters. He points out that it is the duty of the government to proceed against every combination which exists in violation of the Sherman law, and it may be that that includes pretty nearly every corporation that would disturb consolidation of industry.

That would disturb business greatly, and would "halt prosperity." Therefore he proposes to let the corporations that are subject to prosecution under the Sherman law choose their form and come in under the federal incorporation act which he recommends. Under it stock could be issued only in amounts equal to the cash paid in, or if stock is issued for property, the valuation of that property would be fixed by federal authority. Such corporations could not hold stock in other corporations, except for special reasons approved by the federal authorities. The oil trust, for instance, would have to change its form completely. Instead of being a holding company it would have to absorb its many branches entirely, unless the federal authorities gave it permission for special reasons, the nature of which reasons is not suggested by the president. This is an important omission, and as it stands leaves a dangerously wide discretion with the federal authorities.

The business done by the great corporations is interstate; national, in fact. The states cannot effectively control it. If it is to be controlled the Federal government must do it. The Herald believes in a federal incorporation law. It believes, however, that such a law should not be a refuge for accused trusts, but for an oppressed people. It should be framed in the common interests, and not in the interests of the corporations. The regulation it provides should be thorough and radical enough to keep these mighty corporations within due bounds. They are servants, but they have acted like masters. The efforts of the Federal government should be to make them good and effective and obedient servants; not to make their master-ship absolute and secure. Which end the president's proposed measure will accomplish is a matter, at present, largely of academic discussion. Judgment as to its probable effectiveness should be withheld for further study and discussion.

The railroad recommendations include the establishment of a United States court of commerce to hear appeals from the interstate commerce commission, with the right of an appeal to the supreme court; relieving the commission of prosecuting cases in the courts, and placing this duty in the department of justice; allowing pooling arrangements under the supervision of the commission; empowering the commission to pass upon freight classifications; empowering the commission to hold up new rates or classifications for inquiry as to their reasonableness, and to forbid them if unreasonable; giving shippers the right to choose routing of freight; forbidding railroads to acquire interest in competing lines, but allowing roads already owning 50 per cent or more of the stock of other roads to complete the purchase; supervision of railroad stock and bond issues of railroads by the federal authorities, with the provision that stocks must be sold for par; authorizing the commission to investigate rates or classifications upon its own initiative, and without waiting for complaint.

These are, in substance, the recommendations of the committee appointed for the purpose by the president, and they were urged by the interstate commerce commission itself in its annual report. They threaten no hardships upon the railroads. The railroads must submit to effective regulation in the public interest, and they are fortunate indeed that the recommendations that are now before congress come from a president so friendly to big business, and so mild in his tactics, as W. H. Taft.

These mostly are steps in the right direction, and while the recommendation of a federal incorporation act will offend both those who believe that big combinations of business should be annihilated and those who believe that the Federal government should keep its hand off business, it is a recognition that business has become national, and that it must be handled nationally.

Special Privilege Gleeveful.

Wool growers of the West, in conventional assembly, cheered the news that Pinchot had been discharged by President Taft. They had been disturbed by Pinchot in their free occupancy of public grazing lands. Other despoilers of the people's wealth no doubt either cheered or chuckled at the news, for it is good news—for them.

Pinchot was not only the most zealous and faithful servant the people have in the government at Washington; he is actually the creator, together with Theodore Roosevelt, of the policy of conservation which proposes to lock the door upon what slender remnants of national wealth remain ungrabbled. He has been a thorn in the flesh of the administration because he has watched vigilantly and has deemed his duty to the people to be of higher importance than his duty to the Taft administration. Now he is out of the way, and Special Privilege rejoices.

If there were any restrictions upon his vocal activities before, there are none now, and further light upon the policies of the present administration may confidently be expected of him.

Glavis cried out against threatened thefts of rich coal lands, and he was indignantly discharged. Price, associate forester, cried out against threatened thefts of the people's wealth, and he, too, was discharged. Shaw, law clerk in the forestry bureau, could not resist warning the people, and he shared the same fate. Pinchot refused to be still while Special Privilege carried on plans of plunder, and he was promptly discharged. Real conservation, now, has not a single friend left in the administration.

HOW LONG?

From a source very friendly indeed to President Taft comes a new interpretation of his policy of using federal patronage to keep bally Republican congressmen in line. This is it:

Canon must not be interfered with until the president's measures are put through.

Hence, congressmen who give vent to their hostility to Canon and Cannonism are to be disciplined. If they try to start anything against Canon, they will confuse the "big issues" before congress. So they mustn't.

There's something very familiar about that. Last spring when the new congress was gathering for the special session on the tariff, Canon was an issue for a brief period. At that time the president sent word around that the tariff was more important than Canon. The fight against Canon was not to be allowed to interfere with the revision for which the country had called. So Canon was re-elected, and tariff revision went ahead under the house as he organized it.

When the president interceded to save Canon, he made real tariff revision impossible.

Now he appears to be mixing in again with the same plea: legislation first, and then Canon. There is always legislation pending, and if Canon's decaipitation is to be postponed until there is no legislation in the way, he will have to live longer than Methusalem.

The point is that there will be no legislation progressive enough to fit the spirit of the times until Canon and Cannonism are out of the way. So when Mr. Taft demands legislation, and asks that Canon be kept in power, he seeks two objects which defeat each other.

BREAKING INTO GOOD SOCIETY.

One of the most notable innovations in the Webster's New International dictionary, just out, the first complete revision since 1890, is its liberal incorporation of slang and colloquial phrases with full definitions and historical discussion.

Slang, beyond question, is the raw material of which much language is made. Whatever its origin, whether in a den of thieves or in the light conversation of a drawing room of the leisured classes, slang phrase has a chance of becoming a fixture in the language. To be sure only a very small percentage of slang phrases become fixtures, and a very large percentage are not fit for such honor. But in every day use all over the country there are slang phrases or words that are on their way to permanent enrollment in the American language.

The publishers in their statement accompanying the new dictionary say on this subject: "The common speech of the people is largely swayed from homely and everyday sources. Its low stratum, the debatable ground between the admissible and the inadmissible for a dictionary, consists partly of what is known as slang. The word itself is defined in the present book as 'the popular but unauthorized (and usually ephemeral) usage of odd, grotesque or strained words or terms of speech.' Johnson defended the dignity of literature by a highly exclusive attitude toward all such interlopers. Webster shut the door still tighter. But the Unabridged of 1864 opened the gate a little, and the old International opened it wider. The Oxford dictionary is extremely hospitable, admitting almost everything of this coinage which is found in reputable print. The purist who would find a rigid line of exclusion along this frontier is confronted by the fact that historically slang has been one of the experiment stations in which verbal candidates were tried out; it has been one stage in the contest for the survival of the fittest. Thus, 'bluff,' as a metaphor derived from the game of poker, found place in the best periodicals about a quarter of a century ago.

'Stand pat,' from the game of cards, seems to have been first employed in a political sense by Senator Hanna in 1902, and now the 'standpatter' figures in all current discussions of the American tariff. Such slang phrases as 'daisy,' 'cinch,' 'graff,' 'rough-house,' 'make good,' whatever their merits or prospects, are so common in the newspapers and light literature of the day, that their meaning is likely to be occasionally sought for, perhaps, by some erudite scholar who has stumbled on them in unfamiliar fields. As to all such terms, the editors of the New International have aimed at the practical maximum of utility. Their test has been: Is this word likely to be looked up by enough readers, within the next few years, to entitle it to a place? This has led to the inclusion of such slang terms as appear to have pretty general vogue and seem likely to hold their ground for some longer or shorter term of years."

This hospitality will be appreciated, we are sure; certainly it should be welcomed by the "erudite scholar, who stumbles on these terms in unfamiliar fields," and desires to fathom their meaning. At any rate, here they are in this new dictionary, holding their heads up bravely in the most respectable company, and apparently announcing themselves as just as good as any words in the language. To be sure each is carefully labeled and thus assigned to its proper class; but it is a good deal to a humble, struggling slang term to get into such good company even with a distinguishing label.

AN ADMIRABLE SPORT.

Duluth this year again is honored by being made host for the Northwestern Curling association and its annual bonspiel. This is the seventeenth event of this character, and Duluth has been host several times, always to its own pleasure and delight, and it is to be hoped, to the satisfaction of its guests also.

As a sport, curling occupies a field all its own. It is an admirable game for the player, although not prodigiously exciting to the spectator, except he be a curler. The Herald remembers a reporter sent to "cover" a bonspiel for the first time, who stood around shivering for an hour waiting for the game to begin, while several lively ends were played. He thought they were practicing. But to the player, and to anybody after the simple points of the game are made clear, curling is a delightful and wholesome winter sport.

It would be hard to find a sport so clean. We never heard of the taint of professionalism in curling. The game is played for the game itself. Prizes are offered, but they are never cash prizes. Always they are trophies that, though very likely having a beauty and intrinsic value of their own, are chiefly valuable because they represent triumphs in a game that requires a good eye, steady nerves and sound judgment.

We never heard of a bonspiel degenerating into a riot over the decision of an umpire or referee. We never heard of a curler being killed or seriously injured as an incident to the game. We never heard of drunkenness or carousal as adjuncts to curling bonspiels. We never heard of a fight or even a too heated dispute over a curling game.

A bonspiel brings together a crowd of men who come pretty near being the salt of the earth. No other sport attracts a finer or more representative body of men. A city that is privileged to entertain such a gathering is honored. Here's hoping that the bonspiel weather will be right, the ice fine and conditions for play immaculate.

DANGEROUS FALSE MODESTY.

Dean John L. Heffron of Syracuse university, in a recent talk at the university, advocated earnestly on moral grounds the teaching of the physiology and hygiene of sex in the public schools. He said that the subject has so long been suppressed by false ideas of modesty that it would be difficult to speak freely and plainly upon it without running the risk of offending some sensitive persons, but nevertheless the lack of instruction on this vital subject in homes and in schools is so appalling that it should be taken up.

He is absolutely right. It is a "ticklish" subject, some will say; but that is largely because of the silly false modesty that keeps parents and teachers dumb upon it, to the everlasting hurt of their charges. Such inane prudery is Satan's faithful servant.

The subject has by common consent been shut into a dark closet, where, as things will be in the absence of light, it has taken on strange and abnormal and unhealthy forms of growth. At whatever cost of shock to delicately sensitive souls, it must be dragged out of that dark closet and into the light of day.

Dean Heffron advocated instruction in this subject in the public schools through biological channels. Plants and animals have their sex stories as well as human beings. So absurd is the present attitude toward the subject of sex that often teachers even shrink from instructing their pupils about how plants procreate, because it involves discussions of sex physiology that have a similarity to human sex physiology that is almost startling. Yet if young children were taught the physiology of sex in the home or the classroom in that natural and innocent manner, they would not have to learn it, in dangerously distorted fashion, in the alley or the street.

A story comes to The Herald of a teacher who attempted this experiment with her charges. The children innocently carried the story to their parents, and a bevy of indignant mothers descended upon the teacher. Now it happened that the teacher herself had been startled by the appalling knowledge of sex displayed, in unhealthy and dangerous forms, by her pupils, who innocently displayed that knowledge in conversation. She was able to tell mothers, who were horrified at the idea that they or anybody else should tell their children that there is such a thing as sex, of states of mind in their children that gave these mothers new light on the subject.

The habit of parents is to let their children learn these things for themselves. They learn them, unsuspected by parents, at appallingly tender ages. They learn them in such forms that the wonder is not that many children become depraved but that the number is not vastly greater. Recently a canvass was made of 200 inmates of a Chicago rescue home for lost women. They were asked to what extent their parents had informed them of the physiology and hygiene of sex, and whether they had been warned of the perils of sex. In not a single case had one of these unfortunate girls ever had the slightest bit of advice or caution from their parents on a subject ignorance of which had wrought their ruin.

The children learn of these things inevitably. If they do not learn at home or in school, they learn from each other, and in most cases the instructors are children of vicious nature. The time is coming when either parents or public schools will be first to convey this knowledge.

THE OPEN COURT.

Members of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their views about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—exclusive of the letter. They must be sent on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.

THE AMERICAN WORKMAN

AND QUEEN ELIZABETH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

When I consider your editorial, "How Do You Like It?" I cannot help but think of how much time and money was wasted for schooling on Mr. Taft and the writer of this editorial. You both are as far from truth as you can be. Where you, Mr. Editor, are wrong is in stating that every article produced can be, and is, produced cheaper here than in Europe, and therefore can be sold at a lower price than the tariff also has lost its power.

It may give the writer a live beef of the world to Mr. Armour here and hang one eagle on each horn at that, but the beef, once inside of Armour's packing house, is his, and he will charge you and I all that the tariff will bear." tariff or no tariff. The difference in cost in the retail trade, published a short time ago, shows that this contention, as there is no tariff between the different cities, and that a difference in cost from 17 to 87 per cent.

Now as to President Taft's statement that "high cost of living is due to the excessive mode of living," and Mr. Wilson saying that the "working people live better than Queens," it simply proves their ignorance of the true situation, and they are the last statistics on this matter prove the contrary of this claim and show us that the "cheap cuts" have advanced the most in price, and my own experience is that the "cheap cuts" have advanced the soup bone thrown in gratis, while now the meat man splits it in two and charges a cent for each half. Yet these gentlemen have the nerve to blame the tariff for the "choice cuts" (I hope the public market man will make note of this) and to blame the tariff for the "choice cuts" (I hope the public market man will make note of this) and to blame the tariff for the "choice cuts" (I hope the public market man will make note of this).

Second, we cannot send billions of dollars' worth of produce to foreign countries and have cheap goods here. The tariff is the only way to protect our own industry and to keep the price of goods at a level that will allow us to compete with the rest of the world. The tariff is the only way to protect our own industry and to keep the price of goods at a level that will allow us to compete with the rest of the world.

EXERCISE for Young Folks

SCHOOL children living in large towns and cities seldom have the proper amount of outdoor exercise. While the gymnasium is very good in its way it does not furnish fresh air and soft earth. One must expand the lungs out of doors and run on the spongy ground. Too often the town and city children are obliged to ride in street cars to and from school, thus losing the exercise of going and coming afoot. And the evenings at home are so filled up with lessons for the morning and affairs of the family that any special effort towards physical development is entirely neglected.

But to have strong, active minds the boys and girls must have strong, active bodies. We all know how difficult it is to arrange for any special physical exercises in the modern home, for to quote a boy on the subject, "doors-space is too limited to allow of any jumping and running," not to speak of the inconvenience to the other members of the family while one is using the place for a gym.

So it behooves the city boys and girls to make it possible to have open-air exercise, and this can be done if they will form themselves into "out-of-door clubs." The respective mothers should take turns in chaperoning the club.

There is no better exercise for the development of the body than walking, and if the club can arrange to take an early morning walk before school—say from 8:30 till 9 o'clock—they will soon find themselves much benefited both physically and mentally. Then, when the weather is fine, there should be the Saturday tramp into the country, gradually increasing the distance till they can walk ten miles without fatigue.

Of course, the morning walk before school calls for early rising. And the natural consequence of early rising is early going to bed. This habit cannot be too highly recommended, and the boys and girls who are out of bed at 7 o'clock in winter and at 6 o'clock in summer are ready to retire at 9 in winter and half an hour later in summer, for it is a known fact that less sleep is required in warm weather than in cold weather. All growing children should sleep from eight and a half hours to nine and a half hours. Late hours at night are destructive to the mental and physical welfare of the child; his nerves become unstrung and his tastes abnormal.

If there are to be pleasures such as parties and theaters for the children, let matinee be always in the daytime. The matinee is always a source of great delight to the young boys and girls and should be given to them occasionally during the winter, but attending the theater at night is to be condemned. Parties for children should also be held during the afternoon—or early evening, the gaiety being over by 8:30 o'clock.

But to return to the out-of-door exercises. The walking club cannot be too highly recommended for the development of boys and girls, physically and mentally, for whatever aids our physical growth by means of necessity help us mentally by giving the mind a good, strong body to support it.

Skating and snowballing are also splendid sports which greatly aid physical development and rugged health. And during the summer there are swimming and rowing to take the place of skating and snowballing. Indeed, so much virtue lies in being out of doors that it would seem that every breath we draw in the open air is more valuable to us than so many dollars in gold. Sweet, wholesome thoughts come with a fine healthy body, so it is the duty of every parent to assist his child in getting that which is his right, and every child's duty to make the most of that right.

The Snowball Battle.

SEE the soldiers all in line! Now the battle's on! Every man will have to test His nettle and his bravn.

Ammunition's piled up high To use throughout the fray Which just begins when school is out And ends at close of day.

The Big Snow Fort is near at hand, And soldiers, great and small, Will strive to win the victory With the powerful snowball.

The Little Waif.

BY MAUD WALKER.

At a sudden Speckles found himself alone—the house empty and no sound of a human voice to answer his bark, bark, bark. It came early in the evening and Speckles, who had been in the old barn at the rear of the house, had been his headquarters during the winter, and the people in the house had been his good friends. Now, that Speckles, really belonged to the household, for he had only found the place just as the hard winter days were setting in. During the summer months Speckles had lived with some boys who had carried him away from his mother's kennel one dark night, and who had named him Speckles, and who used to take him about the street with them and sometimes to the country on riding trips. But when the cold weather came those boys seemed to forget Speckles, for every morning they went away from the place where they lived and did not return till late in the evening. Of course, Speckles did not know they were going to school. He only knew that he was lonely and that his summer friends were beginning to neglect him. This was very hard to bear, for, being a dog, Speckles loved company.

So one morning after his two-legged comrades had left him for the day, Speckles decided to find some other friends who would use him with more consideration. So he ran out of the yard

BERTHA'S WINTER PICNIC.

BY HELENA DAVIS.

I'M going to have a picnic on Saturday," said Bertha to several of her young friends. "And I want you all to come."

"A picnic?" And May Rogers laughed at such an absurd notion. "Why, one can't have a picnic in the winter, Bertha. If we went to the park or to the woods we'd freeze sitting about on the ground, eating a cold picnic luncheon. Why have you been sleeping during the past four or five months? It's winter now, dear."

Three or four other little girls laughed also at the idea of a picnic in winter, and Helen Warren said: "Come, ladies and gentlemen, let's go to the picnic in winter. I'm interested. And you may count on my accepting the invitation, too. I'll be there—wherever it is to happen."

"Oh, so will I come," cried May eagerly. "After all it's a funny idea—a picnic in winter. But, tell us where and when it is to be."

"I said on Saturday," replied Bertha, her "absurd notion," as they had put it. "And the hour is to be 3 o'clock P. M. And the place—well, all I can tell you is that I'll be there—wherever it is to happen."

"All right," agreed each of the little girls. Bertha ran off to invite several other school friends, among them half a dozen of the boys—jolly chaps, who would furnish all sorts of jokes and besides belonging to the picnic crowd, they would furnish a store of things in their pockets. For the remainder of the week the boys and girls talked about the Saturday afternoon picnic at the home of Bertha Avery lived in eager anticipation, wondering what the "picnic" held in store for them by way of surprise. Many made conjectures, saying it would be only a house party and that the games would be indoor games.

But when the clock struck 3 on Saturday afternoon nearly every guest was turning in at the gate leading to Bertha Avery's home, for each boy and girl was anxious to be present when the "picnic" began, and the latest arrival was there at 10 minutes past the hour named.

On entering the hall nothing unusual about the interior decoration was noticed, which was the same room in appearance it had always been on their former visits. The guests looked at one another questioningly. "Just as I supposed—only a joke of Bertha's," whispered May Rogers. "The picnic is the picnic house party we are all accus-

Biddle-de-Binker

Biddle-de-Binker sat on a stool Doing nothing all the day long;
No reading did he, no talking did he,
Nor sang he a simple gay song.

little milkmaids. They carried pails on their arms from which they dipped but tea and chocolate to fill the cups and glasses for the guests.

After luncheon over the waitresses quickly took away dishes, cloth and left over food, leaving the floor of the barn open. Then Susan gathered up the harp, piled it in a corner. Mrs. Avery telling the guests to stay while this work was in progress, and soon the floor was as clean as that belonging to a house. Suddenly some music began in a corner of the barn, for a small orchestra had entered quietly during luncheon, and had secreted themselves behind some palms and ferns. While the orchestra played some of the boys and girls danced, while others visited the fishing pond, trying their luck at fishing. The side of the time threw the line over the curtain, and on hauling it out again would find a conical little toy fastened to the hook. Had the guests been watchful they would have seen one of the little milkmaids slip behind the curtain just as the fishing began. It was she who selected the "fish" that appeared on the book.

When 5 o'clock came Mrs. Avery had to call out: "Time for the park to close. All will please leave the grounds by the front gate."

"Oh, what a delightful picnic!" cried May Rogers. "I never had so much fun in all my life. It was a real woods picnic, for sure." And this was the verdict of each guest present, and as they reluctantly left the "park" and returned to the house for their wraps, they voted Bertha's picnic the "best thing of the season."

"Well, I hoped you'd like my picnic," smiled Bertha. "But we owe most of the plan to dear mamma, who knows how much children love a picnic—even in winter."

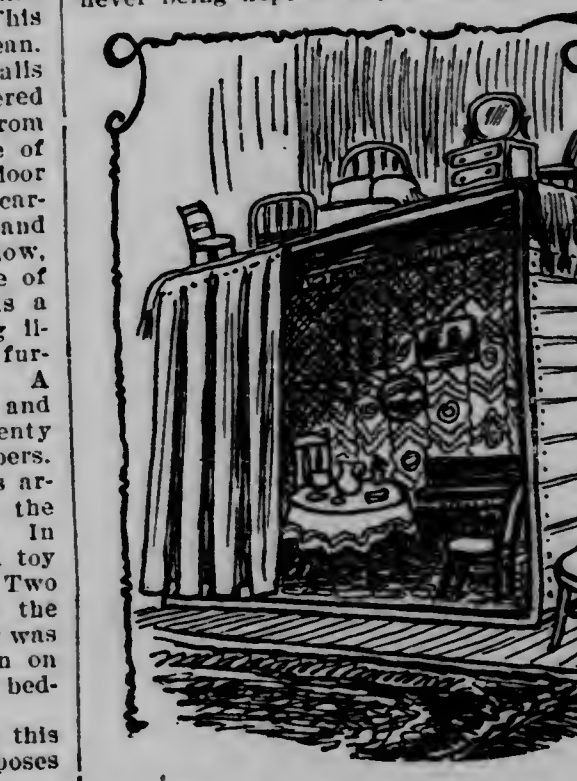

Two-Story Play House for Little Girls

TWO little girls begged their mother to make them a "sure-enough two-story" playhouse that might stand in the corner of her sewing-room.

The indulgent mother, after racking her brain for a plan, suddenly conceived the following one: In the barn she found an old empty piano box. This she had swept and washed very clean, she had swept and washed very clean. The sides which were to serve as walls, and ceiling to the playhouse were papered with some bits of bright paper left from the front hall of the house. The side of the box which was to serve as a door was carpeted. Then the box was placed in one corner near to a window, the one open side facing the middle of the room. Across the open side was a half-drawn curtain (see accompanying illustration), and inside the box was furnished to represent a play-parlor. A small table, two chairs, a toy piano and a doll's sofa were there, leaving plenty of room for the two little housekeepers. A rug covered the top of the box, which was the bedroom floor. In one corner—against the wall—stood a toy bed, beside it a little dresser. Two chairs and a washstand completed the bedroom furnishing. The second door was reached by stepping on a stool, then on a chair, and from the chair to the bedroom door.

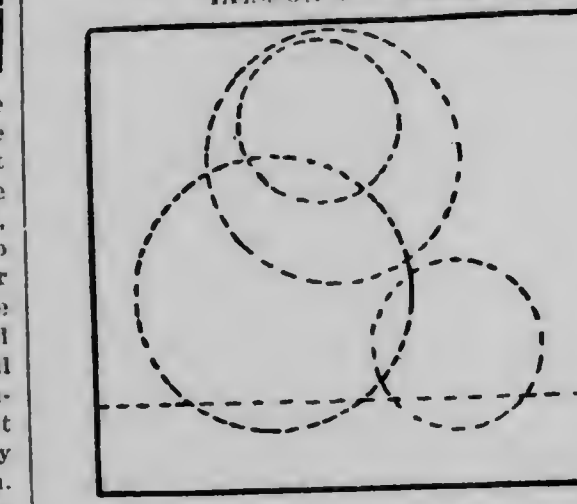

The ingenious mother who planned this playhouse found it served two purposes admirably. First, it gave real joy to her little daughters, who spent many hours daily in it; and second, it afforded a place where they might keep their playthings together and in order. Before having the playhouse their toys and dolls had been scattered about in one room and another, never being kept in any one place.

Helpful Hints For Our Young Artists.

gaged in digging for a rat. He had seen the rat run into the hole and was determined to get it out. So, being so occupied, he did not pay any attention to the big boy when he said: "Well, so long, Puppy. (He had no way of knowing to which of the boys he was speaking.) I hate to leave you here all alone, but mother and I are going away down in the city. And we couldn't take you with us. But mother family are moving into the house tomorrow and I'll allow you to stay and would be glad to have you for keeps. So I'll have to say good-bye, old fellow, and good luck to you. Mother is leaving plenty of food on the back porch for you, and a dish of water is beside the pump. Tomorrow you'll have new friends to look after you." And then the big boy went away after putting Speckles on the head. And all that day Speckles was happy, for he found the food and water in the usual place, and paid no attention to the absence of the big boy and the old lady. And so the night settled down and Speckles slept as usual in the barn in the manger full of soft, warm straw. But when the morning dawned he jumped from bed and ran to the house and barked at the door. Always before when he had barked a good-morning the old lady had opened the door at once and had patted him on the head. And then she had placed his plate of food down to him and he had breakfasted. But this morning he barked and barked, and no one opened the door to him. Then, seeing a window low over the porch open, Speckles jumped through it into the room. He found the place empty and cold, and his long-suffering, bark, bark, bark made no sound. He was lonely and he had loved to romp with the big boy and the old lady. Why, the house was empty! Even the last piece of furniture was gone.

And then, heavy-hearted, Speckles jumped out through the window and stood on the porch, looking around. How different things appeared since the People of the House were gone! Even the big yard in which he had loved to romp the corner of the empty house, making a wall as it entered the open window. If Speckles had only known that a new family was that very minute getting ready to move into the empty house, he would have bided the time and remained where he was. But this he did not know, so he decided to go away from the place where he had been very content. To be sure, he had missed the companionship of children, for the big boy and the old lady could not play with him as children did, although they had always been so kind to him. But he did not mind doing without children's society so long as he had a good home.

But on this morning of which I write Speckles realized that he was now homeless. Poor puppy! Could he only have waited a few hours, he would have seen a very nice family move into the old house. But—perhaps after you have finished this story you will be glad that he did not wait. Well, to hurry through the story, Speckles took paws in hand, so to speak, and trotted away from the place where he had been left alone. He entered a country road which seemed very pleasant, for the snow had been worn away by the many wheels that ran over it, and the sun was unusually bright and warm for a January morning.

So down and up the road he went, over hills and through valleys. And about him stretched meadows of woods and fields. And once he crossed a stream—walking over on the ice. Ah, how cold it was to his little paws!

About 3:30 o'clock he saw some children coming to meet him. They were running and jumping and laughing, and seemed so happy that Speckles became happy, too, and wanted to share in their sport. So, forgetting that he was a stranger, and that he might not be welcomed where he was, he ran down the road as fast as he could, barking a "Howdy-do, Kids," to the group of girls and boys. There were five of them—two boys and three girls—and when they saw Speckles they ran toward him with all their might.

"Oh, a doggie!" cried one little girl. "Oh, what a pretty puppy!" cried one of the boys.

"The one who gets him first may own him," said the oldest boy.

And then the race began, and what do you think? One of the little girls got him. She threw herself on her knees and caught Speckles in her arms just as the other four children reached the spot, all out of breath.

"He's mine!" cried the happy little girl. And what do you suppose Speckles did? He reached up his face and kissed her square on the cheek with his pink tongue. And he wagged his tail till it was in danger of coming out of place. But he was so happy, for he knew the little girl would love him and give him the happiest home he had ever known.

"But what will you do with him at school?" asked one of the other girls. "The teacher won't allow you to keep him in the house."

"I'll ask her to excuse me till I can carry him home," said the happy little girl who now owned Speckles. "And I know she won't refuse when I tell her how we found him—a poor little waif on the road."

And the teacher excused the little girl from school that morning, allowing her to lead Speckles to his future home, which turned out to be the happiest home in the world to him. And ever after that he was a contented puppy.

Tobogganing, that ancient sport of Minnesota, is coming into its own again right here in Duluth. The principal reason for the revival of the hill game is the construction of the big slide at the Duluth Ski club grounds. Hardware and sporting stores of the city have had toboggans in stock for the past five years. They have not been able to sell these flat mediums of slay speed down a hill for the reason that there was no one who cared for the sport. It is quite different. They are taking the flat, runless sleds down from the dusty shelves and are putting them where people coming into the store can see them. The game is becoming popular again, and there is a demand for toboggans. Every afternoon and night, toboggan parties can be found at the Duluth Ski club's slide. Not only here, but upon some of the hills of the city, the sport is becoming popular again. Tobogganing will be immensely popular during the winter.

It is planned to have some toboggan contests on the new slide of the Duluth Ski club. In this way the sport will be given a greater impetus. Tobogganing is one of the most healthful and most fascinating of winter sports. It is one in which women, as well as men, engage. On the slide of the ski club many women can be seen, and as the sport becomes more popular it is believed that more girls and women will take part in it.

CONDITIONS IN THE WEST

Wells Gilbert Talks Entertainingly of Growth of Coast Country.

Dwells on Importance of Campaign for Cheaper Living.

Wells Gilbert, a former well-known resident of Duluth who is now making his home in a suburb of Portland, Ore., was in the city during the past week. He commends Duluth highly for its enterprising campaign for cheaper living and better railroad facilities, and predicts that the steel plant and the industries which will follow in its wake will double the population in five years. Mr. Gilbert is an enthusiastic booster for the West, his new home, and has a thorough knowledge of the conditions leading to its recent development.

His comments on Duluth and the changes he notes here, and also the conditions found in the West, will be of interest.

"It is always a pleasure to visit Duluth," said Mr. Gilbert, "not only to renew old friendships, but to note the substantial improvements being made. I would hardly be considered a flatterer and yet when I came here in '87 there was no pavement in the city and few good business blocks. While the growth in population has not been so fast as many of us expected in these days, still the development has been of the most substantial kind. The early years in the city's history were clouded by serious financial conditions and Duluth has likewise had great physical obstacles to contend with. We on the coast are proud of the Seattle spirit which is removing large hills to make room for business, and in Portland over two blocks are being reclaimed from submerged land about the Willamette river. These, while large enterprises, are mainly the result of hard and earnest work. In Duluth you are literally hearing your city from granite hills. The person who said that man and not God made cities must surely have had Duluth in mind."

The greatest need, Mr. Gilbert said, is the need of more manufacturing and cheaper cost of living.

ing. The new steel works and the plants which will naturally follow ought to double the population in ten years. The plan to encourage gardening is also a move in the right direction. At the same time the interest in parks and home ownership is a beautiful sign and you can hardly have too many. Parks and playgrounds, especially in the thickly settled portions of a city, are recognized as an economy. Just as railroads in these days spare to initial expense in order to secure economy of operation, so can cities reduce the outlay for courts, hospitals and asylums by giving to their citizens these broadening and uplifting influences.

In Portland the importance of these matters was not fully appreciated and it is now greatly enlarging its park system. Though at much heavier cost than would have been required a few years ago. An extensive boulevard and park system is being arranged under the advice of the Olmsteads, and our nation is especially interesting in itself in securing playgrounds in the more densely populated parts of the city. In some instances land has been presented to the city in purely philanthropic spirit or partially with a view to enhancing the values of adjoining property.

While Portland, the larger city, is naturally building big business structures, we are being you in residence building. The beauty and substantial character of your houses would be a credit to any city. While we have many beautiful houses, the majority of wood, largely due to the miller class, are not of the same quality. The reasons are not so hard to understand. We have a wonderfully rich soil, vast timber belts, valuable fisheries and some tremendous mineral sources of wealth practically undeveloped. For thirty years the state has had practically no railroad competition. One line running through the western portion to California and another line running along the northern boundary, both controlled by the Union Pacific. Recently came the most important factor in the growth of Portland, the North Bang line from Spokane, owned by the Northern Pacific and Coast Southern railways. It is said to be, in initial cost, the most expensive road in the country. Following the water grade of the Columbia through the Cascade mountains, it has secured vast additions to the city's traffic, and the large purchases of land for terminals has also stimulated the creation of a new warehouse district. Here, as reported by your paper, the other evening, the Marshall-Wells company is to build large warehouses. This road, now scarcely completed when Hill, searching for suitable feeders threw his men into the Des Chutes canyon, and immediately caused a spectacular struggle with the Union Pacific, or, as we still say, the Harriman forces. With their conflicts partially settled by the courts, the rival lines are pushing southward, having for their Duluth you are literally hearing your city from granite hills. The person who said that man and not God made cities must surely have had Duluth in mind."

What you need of course is more manufacturing and cheaper cost of living. The greatest need, Mr. Gilbert said, is the need of more manufacturing and cheaper cost of living.

mentioning other steam lines as well as 200 miles of suburban electric lines which are breaking up the country around the city into small fruit, vegetable and dairy farms. In short, $25,000,000 are to be expended in the state for steam railroads and at least $4,000,000 for electric lines.

The growth of Portland, increased by the new buildings, increased her bank clearances by $40,000,000, and in November bank deposits were $60,000,000. Prominent among the improvements are Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. buildings, churches and hospitals. While new hard-surface pavements are expected that nearly 100 miles will be laid this year. Some in exceptional cases all previous work is to be abandoned and only hard-surface work done. Large expenditures were made for new parks and a modern system of street lighting is being installed. Within three months all wires in the business district will be underground. There is also a new water drinking water and one of the lowest death rates in the country.

The Swift people have just completed a large packing plant, and a great many other large industries are being established. Additions are being made to the largest in the West. The lumber industry is now first in magnitude in the state, grain is second, while wool, stock, hops, fish and fruit are important.

The Commercial Club of Portland has a splendid new building, and is a live agent, not only for the city but for the whole state. It is a fine thing, literature from other commercial bodies throughout the state. Oregon has variety of climates and products enough to suit all. Easterners think that it rains there the greater part of the year. During the first four months of 1909 the mean temperature was 51 deg., January being lowest, with 32 deg., and August highest, with 65 deg. In Portland the precipitation was 37 inches, or 4 1/2 inches above the average. In December there were only ten rainy days. At the Dalles, ninety miles east, the annual precipitation must be less than 20 inches, and the thermometer ranges from below zero to over 100 deg. above. Yet it is only 100 feet above the water. Fruit matures here earlier than in Western Oregon, and it is known as the "Cherry City."

No Free Timber. Many Easterners, especially from the old timber states, ask if it is possible to still secure good timber claims on the coast. Definitely no. Sometimes you can purchase a relinquishment from a homesteader, but the country has been secured for land by claimants and scrip people, and the vast wilderness into the reserves have left little vacant land in the timber areas. There is, of course, a vast amount of land suitable for farming and grazing, but it can be secured from the government, or companies acting under the Carey act or in a private capacity. Many have been attracted by advertising offering to locate people upon railroad lands now under contract. Inasmuch as the government is contenting that these lands were designed to be sold to actual settlers, it is likely to see how these timber lands can be secured by parties who, at the best, post a notice upon a tree, even if the railroad should lose. It is impossible to homestead much of this land to this land it will probably withdraw it from the market, and if the timber is sold it will be sold to actual settlers. There are still good opportunities to buy timber tracts, large and small, at reasonable prices from original owners.

Probably in these days of "back to the soil," the West has attracted the most attention. The stories of rapid fortunes made thereby. The successful fruit grower's life is an enviable one, but it is the last occupation in the world for a lazy man. It takes at least six years to get an apple orchard upon a paying basis and it means constant spraying, pruning and good hard work between the hands of a cultivator. It is possible to raise berries and vegetables upon the same ground, but the average man who goes into the apple and pear-raising business should have enough to pay for his land and improvements, and by something to live upon or he may come to regret. The best localities suffer at times from damage by frost, though the mature trees seldom lose their crop. Labor is generally scarce during the picking and thinning season, and there are often chances for the beginner can often make a living with his hands and without culture. Eastern men bought lands unsight and have found it miles from even drinking water and. For that matter, many of the people who go to the fruit lands are in raising hay and alfalfa. Some of the people who go to the fruit lands are in raising hay and alfalfa. Some of the people who go to the fruit lands are in raising hay and alfalfa.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The first few days of school following the Christmas vacation seemed like "old times" around the high school. A large number of the alumni were visitors Monday and Tuesday, and seemed as interested in the school affairs as when they were members of the student body.

Mr. Buck says he has learned many new things in connection with high school life since coming to Duluth, but he is also doing his share in gradually introducing into the school new interests for the pupils. The improvement society which is being organized by the school was suggested by Mr. Buck, and is receiving the support of all the classes. A special meeting of each class was held this week to discuss the matter, and each class voted upon the new undertaking. A representative was appointed from each class, and on Wednesday the representatives will meet to discuss further plans. Lola Fee will represent the seniors, Jean Wanless the juniors, Mildred Prudden the sophomores, and Grace Vroman the first year class.

The Zenith board is working hard on the class publication. Lloyd Burg has been appointed to succeed Herbert O'Brien, who resigned as business manager of the Zenith. The members of the class will begin having their class pictures taken Jan. 10.

At the present time the seniors are the only class in school without a class adviser. Miss Wells will advise them, and the rest of the year, and Mr. Sprague will likely be elected to succeed her as the adviser of the class. Miss Hughes is now in charge of Miss Wells' classes.

Yesterday morning in chapel the football sweaters were presented to the thirteen boys who earned their letters last fall. Short speeches were made by Mr. Buck and Mr. Phillips, in which they expressed themselves as well pleased with the showing of the team, and said that the much-coveted "P" is well deserved by those who received them.

about 10 per cent higher than current market rates. Trade with boot and shoe manufacturers continues generally quiet, but as business in footwear showed signs of activity prior to the holidays, and as wholesalers dealers are expected in the Boston market within a week or two, increased trade will soon be in evidence. Leather is quiet, as buyers expected a weaker market in sympathy with the recent declines in hides. The hide market is dull and weak, with transactions light and unimportant.

The junior hon is only two weeks away, Friday, Jan. 21, having been set by the junior class. Jan. 28 was at first decided upon, but the Duluth-Nelson Devery basketball game, scheduled for that date, caused the juniors to change the date, as they did not wish to interfere with the success of the basketball team. Elenor Aske and Asher Taylor were appointed as a committee to make arrangements.

The freshmen elected Walter Lawrence to succeed Herbert Bradbury as sergeant-at-arms of the class, and Mat Brown as basketball captain. Mat Brown made a short speech, in which he expressed himself as well pleased with the showing of the team, and said that the much-coveted "P" is well deserved by those who received them.

A large number of the pupils attended the concert given by the Michigan Glee club at the high school last week under the direction of the alumni association, and all week the songs rendered by the glee club were heard around the school corridors.

The date for the midwinter musical concert has been set for Friday night, Feb. 4. Platten's orchestra will furnish the music.

GIRL HURT ON RAILROAD DIES

Suffers Fatal Injuries When Hurlled From Motor to Escape Train.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Miss Lillian Grange died here today, as the result of a gasoline railroad motor, in which she and Thomas Thompson, her brother-in-law, were riding, being struck by a Valparaiso train yesterday at Orland, a suburb of the city. Thompson was badly bruised. When Thompson saw the train he threw Miss Grange to one side and then jumped the other way. Both of Miss Grange's legs were broken and her head crushed. A train that Miss Grange and Thompson were waiting for at Al-pine was late, and Thompson used a gasoline motor to cover the three miles to Orland.

Sentence Smith on Tuesday. Mankato, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—When asked by County Attorney Plymatt when he would pass sentence upon Frank Smith, convicted of the murder of Holland J. Ledbetter, Judge Pfau stated that he would take up this matter at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Written for The Herald by E. J. Edwards ("Holland")

BEFORE the end of the year upon which we have just entered, we Americans will probably have good reason for recognizing the fact that the greatest financial power ever created in any civilized country is in the hands of those of our fellow countrymen who already are beginning to be called the Big Six of finance. And were it not for the fact that the name of the Big Six, these masters of finance would be called the Big Seven.

You may have heard of the Big Four in politics; that New York state group consisting of ex-Senator Warren Miller, Chauncey M. Depew, ex-Senator Frank B. Rowland and Thomas C. Platt, all of whom had served, or were to serve, in the United States senate, went to the Republican national convention of 1888 expecting to nominate Chauncey M. Depew for president. The Big Four was not powerful enough to elect to present the nomination of Senator Allison of Iowa, and the nomination of Benjamin Harrison, who was elected.

It used to be said in Boston that the seven great men of American literature who were the leaders of the movement thought were Emerson, Lowell, Longfellow, Whittier, Hawthorne, Holmes, and Thoreau. These were the Big Seven of American literature. But the Big Four in politics and the Big Seven of literature had their brief day, and then their power passed away. Now we are to see whether the stupendous financial power of the Big Six is to be exercised for the welfare of the American people, and not with intent to increase the personal fortunes of the members of the group, or whether this group is to arrogate to itself supreme financial power for its own private ends. At all events, the formation of this group, perhaps the most important financial event of its kind since the year 1800, and what it is to do with its gigantic power is to be the great question of the year 1910.

The New Who Compose the Group.
Of course, the names of two members of this group would come to your lips if anyone were to ask you if you could guess who composed the group, and these two are J. Pierpont Morgan and William Rockefeller. But would you guess the other four members of the Big Six are G. Reid and George F. Baker? Yet these are the men who with Mr. Morgan and Mr. Rockefeller constitute a new group, whose financial power is in excess of that of the Rothschilds, and who have resources at almost instant command that are greater than the aggregate national debt of the United States.

A fairly accurate estimate of the resources controlled by these men when acting together fixes the amount at somewhere between seven hundred million and eight hundred million dollars. In addition to that, by reason of their allies the great bankers in other parts of the country who are in operation with them the Big Six probably carry in the aggregate at least one thousand millions of dollars. All told, then, their financial resources fall only about two hundred million short of two billion dollars.

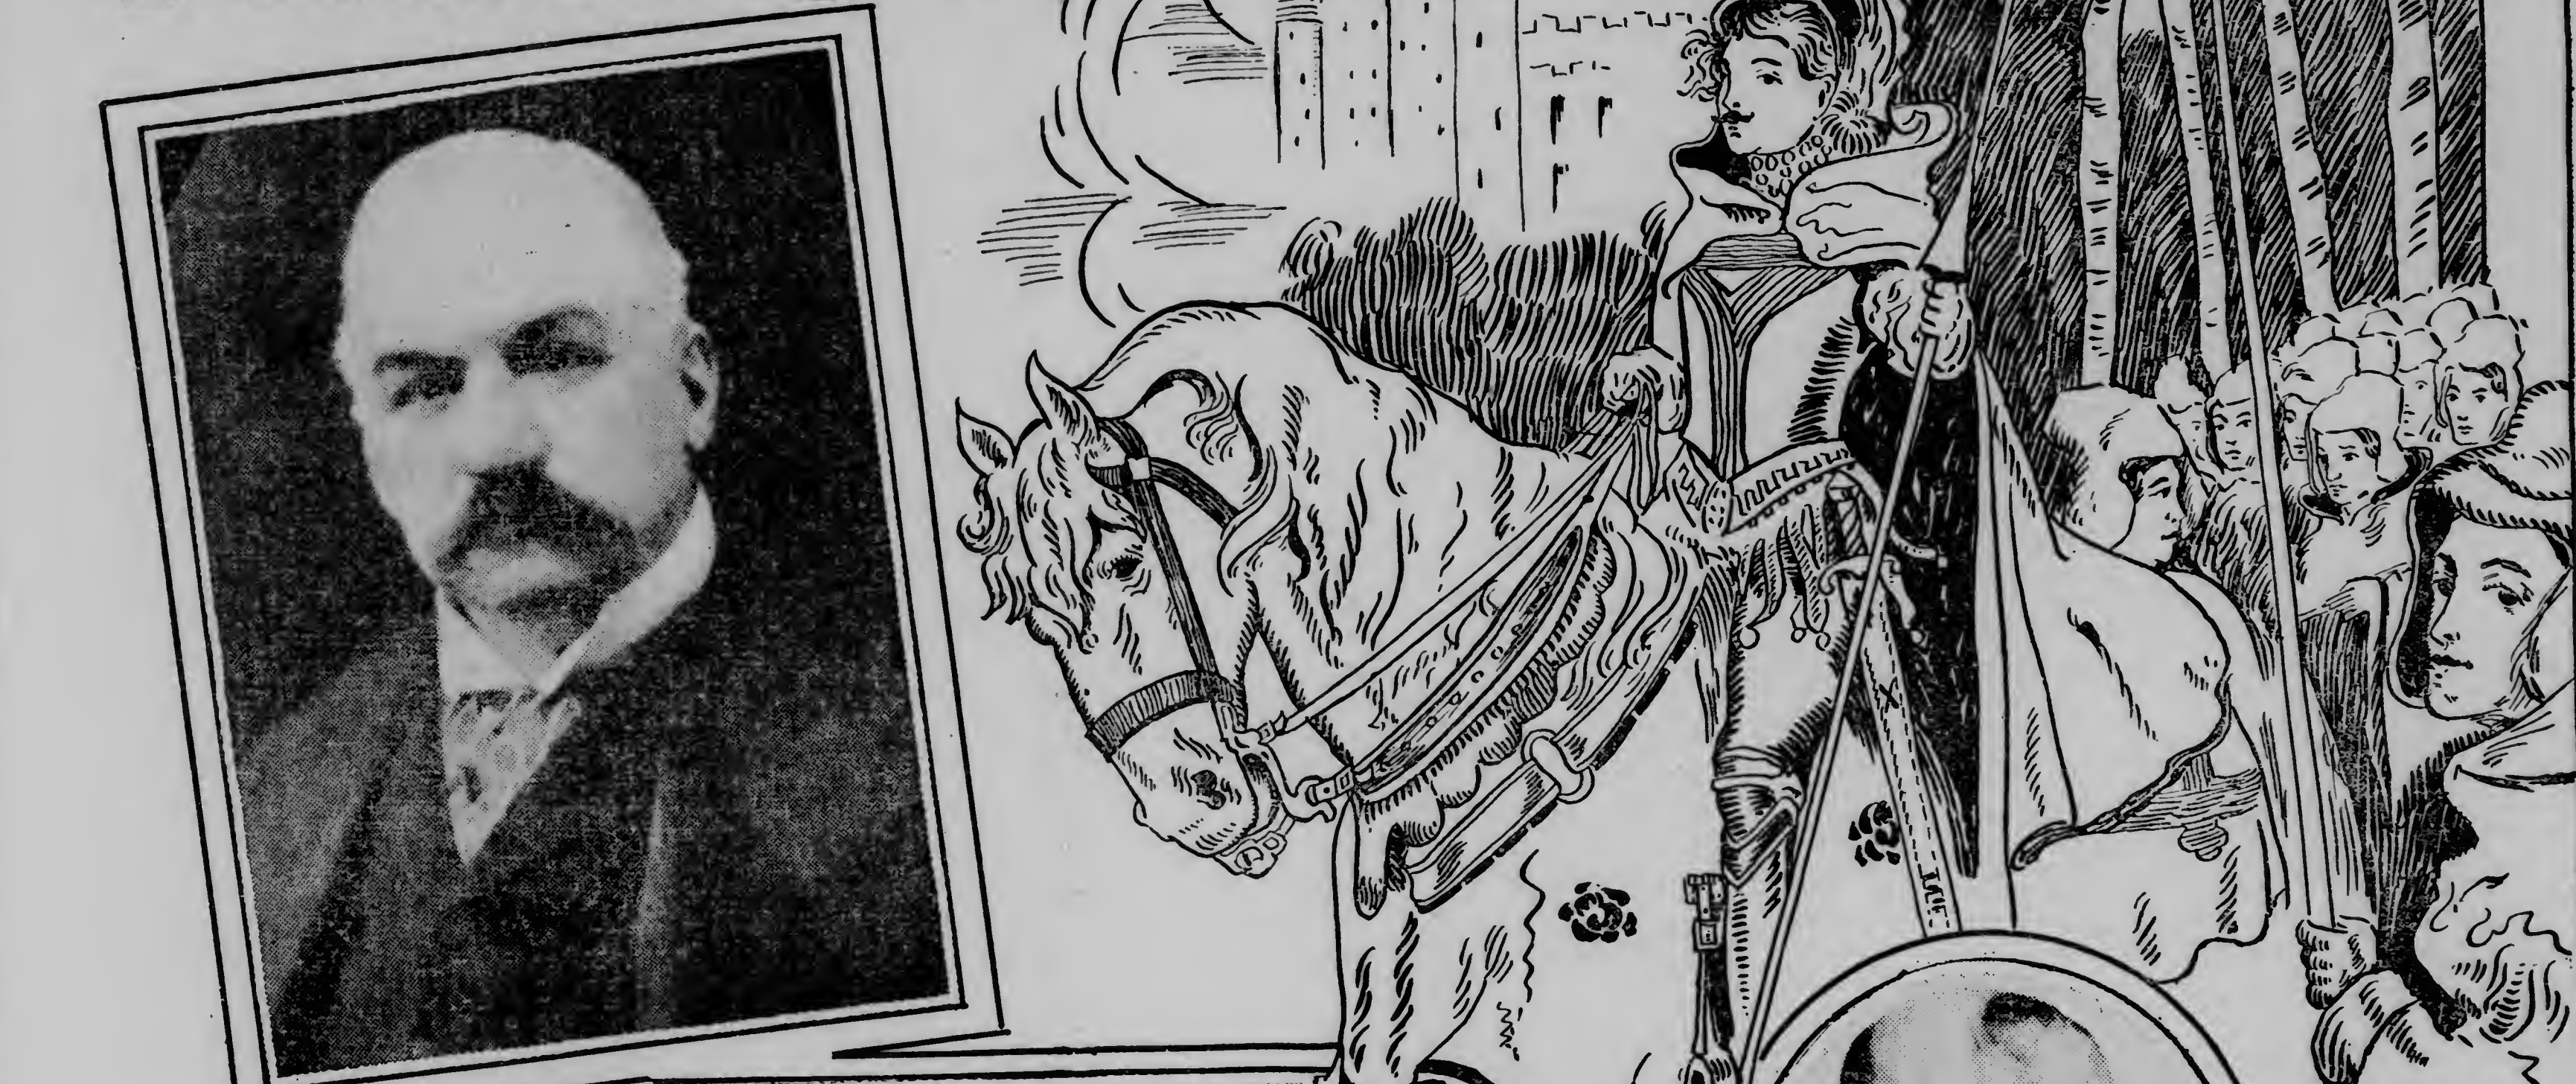

You will say that this is gigantic power. Somebody recently told Senator Aldrich, when he was advocating the adoption of a great central national bank, "We already have practically a central bank. It is the allied financial institutions controlled by the Big Six." To this the reply was made that if six men in the United States are able actually to manage the resources of seven hundred millions, and receive deposits of a billion, it is high time that the people, through the government, organize a great central bank so that it will be able to act as a check to the power of this group. And in reply to this recent statement of the treasury under President Roosevelt asserted that a central national bank would immediately pass into the control of the Standard Oil group, or the United States Steel group, or the control of both acting together. No well posted American has to be told that of the Big Six, Mr. Morgan is the great authority of the steel corporation, and that Mr. Rockefeller is a powerful voice in Standard Oil activities of all kinds.

A Self-Made Member of the Big Six.
But what American would have dared to predict ten years ago that Daniel G. Reid would have gained such financial power and such control of gigantic American life, and that he would be admitted to full membership with the greatest financial group ever organized in the history of the world? But his admission to this group, and it is an admission that is due entirely to his own achievement.

Daniel G. Reid is almost exactly the age of Theodore Roosevelt; he is the older by only three months. And the careers of these two men strikingly demonstrate the opportunities in American life. One gained the greatest political power held within this generation, and is easily the greatest politician of the higher order, unsurpassed by any American who ever lived. The other, a child of fortune, of cultivated social and family life, whereas the other, at the time he was showing to his playmates in his boyhood home in Richmond, Ind., that he was a trader. He is remembered in his native town as an alert, bright-eyed, quick-stepping youngster who had a faculty of saving his pennies; and he taught himself the lesson that the first step toward fortune and financial power is the practice of saving, no matter how little that saving may be at any given time.

He used to pass by the Second National bank in the town of Richmond, looking in at the windows, and, according to one story, envying the clerks who were employed there. When he thought he was old enough, he made a successful application to be received as a clerk in the bank. Though he was only 16, it was not long before the president discovered that the boy had unusual banking capacity. He was particularly shrewd about credit, and his advice was sought often so that the bank officers might know whether or not to discount a note. He also pointed out ways in which money could be made. Well, a lad of that kind could not be kept long in a subordinate position. He was only 30 when he had accumulated enough of the bank's stock to justify his election as a director, and seven years later he had the satisfaction of knowing that he had been elected vice president of the institution. In the meantime, he had worked his way through all the offices in the bank, as Mr. Reid himself summed up this stage of his career for a biographical reference work, and his friends say that he is really proud of this performance. Then it was that Daniel G. Reid discovered that he was capable of doing things in such a way as to win recognition and advancement, and the inward satisfaction and joy that the personal discovery gave him at the time has never left him, quite.

It was Reid, while working "his way" through all the offices in the bank, that John W. Gates first saw and talked with Mr. Reid. Mr. Gates, you may remember, had been very successful as a salesman and was one of the first to suggest the merger of the steel companies in the country. That was where he got his great start. Probably it is in connection with some business associated with the steel wire industry that Mr. Reid came in contact with Mr. Gates; at any rate, after their meeting, he rarely left Mr. Reid's office. Before long Mr. Reid was one of the great business men of the West. Reid was, in a few years, Mr. Reid's name was on every man's lips in the middle West as one of the big men in the tin plate industry of the country.

A Trust Magnate at 40.
Mr. Reid, who is younger than Mr. Gates, had three sons, and seized his great opportunity in the famous McKinley tariff bill, in the long features of that bill was the protection it accorded the tin plate industry in the country. The bill was passed and signed in 1890; two years later, Mr. Reid had become deeply interested in this then infant industry, and six years later he blossomed out as one of the leading organizers and the president of the tin plate trust. In other words, the American Tin Plate company. That day he was told off as one of the American magnates of the twentieth century. And he was only 40 years of age, at that.

But before he became able to become the dominant figure in the tin plate industry he had his troubles. While owner in his bank he and the late W. B. Leeds, then a railroad employee, organized a tin plate company, Mr. Reid having an idea that the tin plate could be manufactured in this country as well as in England. But the end of the first year of the new enterprise found it a wreck, the imported workmen not being able to accommodate themselves to their new environment.

Mr. Reid and Leeds, still believing that the tin plate could be produced profitably in America, began all over again, this time with American men and machinery. And this time they were successful, so much so that when Mr. Reid conceived the idea of merging all the tin plate factories in order to avoid cut-throat competition, he was able ultimately to bring about the merger on practically his own terms. The year before the merger of the tin plate manufacturing interests with the Steel trust their capitalization was no less than $194,000,000.

Reid Becomes a Power in Steel.
In order the better to illustrate Mr. Reid's business methods, it may be well to tell another anecdote of John W. Gates. He, with Charles M. Schwab, went to Pierpont Morgan some months before the United States Steel corporation was organized. They explained to Mr. Morgan a plan which they had conceived, the Carnegie Steel company the center of a great organization which should include the National Pipe company, the National Wire company, the American Tin Plate company, and the American Steel company. Mr. Morgan, who was then president of the Carnegie Steel company, was organized, and Mr. Schwab became its president, while Mr. Reid became its vice president. When he read the list of proposed officers and directors, and in a few days he had heard of as many as 100 names. There was something about Mr. Gates' business methods that did not appeal very greatly to Mr. Morgan.

On the other hand, when Mr. Morgan and his associates came to examine the American Tin Plate company and discuss its condition with Mr. Reid, they were compelled to admit that Mr. Reid had made a practically perfect organization. He didn't fluster or brag. He simply listened to the proposed terms upon which the tin plate company and its allied steel organizations were to be admitted to the United States Steel corporation, then named its own terms, and an agreement was reached. This resulted, according to Mr. Reid, when he was only in his third year, of a fortune of as many millions as he had years old. And at the same time Mr. Reid became a director and a member of the executive committee of the Steel corporation itself.

The year prior to his becoming a power in the world's greatest trust, from the standpoint of capital, Mr. Reid, in conjunction with Judge William H. Moore, brought about one of the country's spectacular railway deals when they purchased control of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway. Mr. Reid and the judge had been brought into close association in the formation and building of the tin plate trust; at the opening of the tin plate trust, they were possessed of millions and great credit, and when they saw what was like of good money, they promptly availed themselves of it. Now, after nearly ten years, they were in a position to take over the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway. It would seem that Mr. Reid and Judge Moore intend to extend their financial empire to the westward, and in well posted financial circles it is presumed that in the course of this year they and their railway will be found practically the owners of the Lehigh Valley, so that they will be in possession of what is almost a trans-continental route.

THE LAIR OF THE BIG SIX, THE HEART OF WALL STREET, SHOWING TRINITY CHURCH AT ITS HEAD.

Mr. Reid's Personal Side.
Not until after he had his tin plate business in good running order did Mr. Reid forsake the town of his nativity with his household goods and set them up elsewhere. His home choice of residence was Chicago. Here he remained two years, removing to New York city in 1888, in order to be nearer the financial center, his interests by this time having become so great as to require a more metropolitan for a decade, and all that time been growing in financial strength, he is probably less known by sight than almost any other enormously wealthy man in the city. Indeed, he is only a name that seems to crop in the daily news every once in a while in connection with some important transaction on the Stock Exchange or with the Rock Island. And when seen that Judge Moore's name is given preference over that of Daniel G. Reid, Mr. Reid clears the cobwebs of occasionally, and by driving, cycling and automobile; he is very fond of all three sports. He is understood to have the purpose in mind of securing one of the finest private galleries of painting owned by any American, and it is further understood that the making of this collection is now under way. Whether or not Mr. Reid will ever rival another member of the Big Six, Mr. Morgan, as an art devotee who puts millions into the pastime remains to be seen. At all events, Mr. Reid has the millions.

These millions are now estimated to number not far from 100. This is one reason why their owner is included in the group of the Big Six. Then, too, he is the greatest railway systems; he is the authority in several national of all the living organizers of the Big Six is that he is one of the most brilliant, conservative and practical of all the financiers of great capital for industrial, railway and banking purposes. And it is the present day status of the man who began his financial career by sweeping out that bank in Richmond, Ind.

Incidentally, Mr. Reid is the youngest of the Big Six, his years number 35. Mr. Stillman is 53, Mr. Frick, 60, Mr. Rockefeller, 68, Mr. Baker, 69, and Mr. Morgan, 72.

George F. Baker, Great Banker.
It is only within the past ten years also that another most powerful member of the Big Six has revealed himself in all his financial glory. This is George F. Baker of the First National Bank of New York, and the country's first national bank established under the national banking act. In this bank Mr. Baker started as a young man in a humble clerkship; today it is one of the country's most powerful banks because of George F. Baker.

Mr. Baker's boyhood ambition was to become a great banker. He was a school boy in Troy, N. Y., when Rufus Sage was serving in congress in the early fifties. Among his playmates the boy was noted as the best mathematician of the school, no other lad being able to touch him when it came to working out difficult problems in partial payments or in compound interest. This natural ability but whetted his desire to be a banker, and so, when he believed it to be high time to start in life, he went to New York and found employment with the country's first national bank.

low. These were entered upon the books at the purchase price. Gradually they appreciated in value, some of them probably more than 100 per cent. But being carried upon the books at the purchase price, the real assets that were in them were not known to any one except Mr. Baker and one or two of his associates. Finally, when he contemplated increasing the value of the bank by $10,000,000, he was able to market these securities, realizing in the process an extraordinary profit in market value, and with that cash to pay the dividend, and sometimes larger.

For the purposes of this article I asked a nationally famous banker about the source of this great dividend. "No authoritative explanation," he said, "but I have no doubt that I can explain it. Mr. Baker was always an extraordinary accurate estimator of the real value of properties, railroad and others. Therefore, at one time or another, he was able to buy great amounts of securities when the price of them was very

FIRST WEEK OF NEW YEAR BUSY ONE FOR REALTY MEN

Only Difficulty Is in Finding Good Property for Sale.

Acres Movement Has Not Abated—Market Garden Idea Takes Hold.

"December of 1909 was the best December in the history of this office and the first week in January has been a hummer. The business of the week is a start for the year that augurs well for the real estate business during 1910."

The statement by a member of one of Duluth's oldest real estate firms expresses the sentiments of others in the business and indicates just what the situation is at this time.

The year has started out as though promises to continue so. "The trouble with the real estate business in this city at present is that there is no property for sale," said one real estate man. It is a fact that a large number of sales do not alone make a good real estate market. The real estate market, like every other market, is governed by the law of supply and demand. When the supply exceeds the demand, prices go down and it is hard to sell property. When the demand exceeds the supply, prices go up and any piece of property that goes on the market is quickly snapped up, if the price is anywhere near right.

The year has started out as though people are awakening to the possibilities of Duluth real estate. Values are not high when one considers the size of Duluth now and its prospects for the future. The man who buys real estate today in any part of the city, paying a fair going price is making an investment that cannot but give returns. There is no speculation about it. A man buying Duluth property is buying something tangible, his investment backed up by solid facts and sound judgment. The wisest investors of the day are putting their money into real estate. Duluth people do not have to go away from home to find good investments.

People are turning from the stock market to the real estate market, which is a good thing. The stock market has its possibilities, but they are merely possibilities. The element of hazard is ever present. The stock market game is a speculation pure and simple; a gamble. Values are artificial usually and not based on tangible facts.

On the other hand, there is no gamble in real estate. Of course judgment must be used in the buying, but a man with ordinary judgment can estimate the value of any piece of property in Duluth. He has estimates as high as it may within reason be, the returns on his investment are certain to be large and the man going into real estate is taking absolutely no chance, while if he goes into the stock market with the same amount of money, everything is chance.

The acres movement has not abated and sales are being made every day of high-class acres within and near the city limits. Some people are buying for investment with no intention of doing anything at present with their property, others are buying to establish garden spots, others are buying for summer homes and others are buying to plant the land and put it on the market in the future. Whatever the purpose of purchase, acres are moving in the market in the form of five and ten-acre lots for city dwellers who wish to live in the country. The idea is a good one. Near all large cities are colonies of people living on small tracts of land, cultivating the soil and supplying the community with fresh vegetables and garden truck. The same condition is bound to come about in Duluth, and wise investors are looking forward to it.

The sale of low-priced residence lots is still a prominent factor in the realty business. The market is always in a growing city. Additions recently put on the market in the payment plan find ready sale and other additions are planned during the coming year. Workers and salaried men are able to buy the easy payment plan to become owners of their own homes. The plan works out well for all concerned.

MANY LARGE BUILDING PROJECTS IN THE AIR

New Block on West Second Street Will Cost $125,000.

Plans for New Four-Story Structure on East Superior Street.

The end of the first week of the new year finds the architects in the same optimistic frame of mind in which they have dwelt for several weeks past. Architects live in an atmosphere of expectancy. In some manner mysterious to those outside of the profession, the designers of building learn of every building project in the air or in the mind of man, and the statements of Duluth architects at present indicate that there are building projects in the air even though they have not come into the bright light of publicity.

The most important building announcement of the week is that a building is being planned by J. J. Wangenast to be erected in an "L" shape around the property at the southeast corner of Second and Third streets, with a frontage of 100 feet on Second street and sixty-five feet on Third street. The building is to be three stories on the street and four stories on the avenue and the upper floors of the building to be used for light manufacturing purposes.

A UNIVERSAL CLEARING SALE

(Universal in the sense that it includes every department in the store.)

We believe with John Paul Jones, "that decks should be thoroughly cleared for action." The 20th century business catechism commands a universal clearing of the merchandise decks at the beginning of every new year—ousting even a month-old goods—to make room for the new things for Spring, 1910.

In all the years of our retailing, we never offered such desirable merchandise of all kinds at such enormous reductions.

It is the chance of a lifetime to buy quality Silks, fine Dress Stuffs, Women's Select Furnishings, exclusive Suits, Coats, regal Furs, Millinery a la mode, and one hundred and one other things—and then some.

This is not a sale of job lots, manufacturers' cancellations, or goods bought for "Special Sale." Every item, from a paper of pins to a $1,000 Russian Sable Fur Set, represents all that the S. & B. Co. standard demands. We offer nothing but our own high priced stocks.

Silks in the Clearance

Are Sub-divided Into Four Lots

LOT 1 COMPRISES—Plain colored Bombay lining silk, white crepe de chene, Jasper Louise, plain colored messaline silks, shadow striped, colored and white messaline, foulards, plain colored and silk pongee, embossed satin, printed medium, figured crepe de chene, cashmere taffeta, plain colored Louisines, etc.—values to $1.25—29c Clearance.

WANTS LOANS TO THE STATES FOR ROAD WORK.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Representative Sulzer of New York wants the United States to have the finest roads in the world, and he believes it will have them if he passes his bill, which he introduced today providing for a government loan to the different states for that purpose, not exceeding $1,000,000. The bill would be repaid by the states in yearly installments. The postoffice department will be superintendent of the work of building the roads and they will be used when completed by the rural carriers for free delivery of mail.

IS ORDERED DEPORTED

Bail Is Fixed at $1,000 and He Says He Will Appeal.

The government officials did not lose any time in disposing of the case of Chin Sney Cheung or Sul Sin Chung, the Chinaman, who was spirited away from the county jail and off on a South Shore train for the Copper country before his attorney could get to him after the dismissal of the proceedings against him in United States court Friday evening.

Saturday at Hancock, Mich., Sul was ordered deported by United States Commissioner Oliver after a hearing, and he was held with bail fixed at $1,000 pending his deportation. He said after the hearing that he would secure counsel and appeal his case to the United States court.

Some few weeks ago, wholesale agents of Chinamen were made in the Copper country by the United States immigration inspectors, the Chinamen being accused of having gained entrance to this country in defiance of the exclusion laws. Those who were unable to produce their "chickets" or certificates of legal residence were ordered deported and their cases are still pending.

Of the raid, three Chinamen at Laurium were not arrested but were placed under surveillance. One of them, the officers and escaped and he is believed to be Sul Sin Chung. Since the raid on the Copper country laundries, stores and chop suey places, Sul is alleged to have been training a South Shore country hearing three of four aliases. When he was arraigned before the commissioner at Hancock, he disclaimed all of his names except Sul Sin Chung.

Sul was arrested here by United States immigration inspectors on charges against him before United States Commissioner T. H. Pressnell. A postponement was secured, but late Friday afternoon the government proceeded against Sul in Hancock than they could here, so a dismissal of the case here was secured. As soon as Sul was ordered released from the county jail, he was taken in charge and hurried to Superior, where he was placed on the South Shore train. In the meantime, Sul's attorney was looking after him and he was waiting for the arrival of the train there. It is believed that Sul came into this country within the last three years, despite the fact that he speaks fairly good English and has adapted himself to American customs. It is believed that he took pains to progress rapidly in Americanizing himself, in order to throw off suspicion.

According to the report of the proceedings in the Copper country town, Sul exhibited a marvelous memory of events which occurred in his early years. At the age of 5, according to Sul, this proceeds youngster, then residing in San Francisco, asked his mother when and where he was born. His mother told him that he was born in the second story of a five-story building in San Francisco's Chinatown. In the dark of the moon, on the 26th day of September, 1885, all of which Sul remembered. He could not, however, remember the name or residence or occupation of an uncle who, he said, took him from his parents at the age of 5 and took him to Chicago, turning him over to the care of a Chinese grocery store proprietor on South Clark street.

Had Laundry in Illinois. Thereafter, the court, he resided for thirteen years. Later, according to his story, he and his mother, establishing a laundry. He gave the name and precise location of his laundry, and also of a chop suey joint which he claims to have conducted in Minneapolis.

Although the officers claim that Sul was taken from a South Shore train at Duluth, and that his father visited him in the St. Louis county jail there, Sul claims he had no father. He said he was born in the second story of a five-story building in San Francisco's Chinatown. In the dark of the moon, on the 26th day of September, 1885, all of which Sul remembered. He could not, however, remember the name or residence or occupation of an uncle who, he said, took him from his parents at the age of 5 and took him to Chicago, turning him over to the care of a Chinese grocery store proprietor on South Clark street.

FEDERAL COURT TERM TO OPEN

List of Cases for Trial This Month Is Very Light.

The January term of the United States circuit court for the Fifth division of the district of Minnesota opens tomorrow with Judge Morris sitting. The calendar will be called at 10 o'clock.

The term is expected to be short, as there are but twenty-four cases on the calendar and some of them are expected to go over to the next term. The list of matters to come before the federal grand jury is also expected to be light. The prisoners are expected to have their cases ready for trial by 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

INDICTED FOR ISSUING MINERS' CERTIFICATES.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 10.—The grand jury here indicted three members of one of the mine examining boards charged with issuing certificates to miners illegally. President McNulty of District No. 1, United Mine Workers, is the prosecutor. McNulty asserts that the indiscriminate issuance of certificates has caused the employment of many incompetent men in the mines, and by reason of such incompetency the lives of all underground workers are endangered.

North Dakota Has Fuel.
Fargo, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is little alarm felt in North Dakota over the fuel situation, despite the continued cold. The railways are devoting more attention to the fuel supply than anything else and the strike appears to have caused little difficulty. The coal supply is not large in most towns, but the situation has by no means reached the acute stage. Locally there is no cause for alarm.

Everybody Has Been Predicting

That 1910 is to be a banner year. We have seen the first week of it come and go, resulting in a net gain in our sales of 25 per cent over same number of days in 1909.

We hardly think the city of Duluth has gained 25 per cent in population in twelve months, or that the people are 25 per cent richer, per capita, or that they are spending 25 per cent more of their earnings.

But we do know that our gain is a healthy one and it's coming from some source or other.

Our patrons tell us we are always busy—that we have more customers every hour of the day than all the other stores combined. Perhaps our increase is due to the weak, and in some cases antiquated, stocks shown elsewhere.

The following mottoes were established by this house from its infancy and they still stand: Keep abreast of the city and surrounding country's growth. Give the people a store with methods the people can rely on. Make the people feel that this store is their store. Give our customers all the advantages of modern store-keeping. Resort to no trickery in selling our merchandise; it don't wear and won't wash. Do truthful advertising and instruct our salespeople never to misrepresent. And to sell our wares on the small profit system. Enough Said.

The Second Week of Our Annual White Sale

We think will be bigger than the first. Many new lines have been added to take the place of those sold out last week.

HERE IS A REAL DYSPEPSIA CURE

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Headache Five Minutes Later.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapiesin. If your stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak stomachs should take a little Diapiesin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, sour risings, gas on stomach or belching of undigested food, headaches, dizziness or sick stomach and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with noxious odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved in a few minutes after taking a little Diapiesin.

Go to your drugist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

CITY LIBRARIAN HAS RESIGNED

Miss Poirier Will Spend the Winter in California.

Miss Lydia Poirier, for eighteen years in the service of the public library and for nearly eleven years chief librarian, has tendered her resignation to become effective Feb. 1. She will go to California to spend the winter. Her plans for the future are not settled and she may remain on the coast permanently.

Miss Poirier entered the library Jan. 1, 1891, as assistant librarian and also became chief librarian in 1899. Her long connection with the library and her natural ability have made her services very valuable and her resignation is accordingly a serious loss to the library board. Miss Frances Echart, assistant librarian, will probably be Miss Poirier's successor.

WANT LIFE-SAVING SERVICE FIXED UP

New England Members Suggest Basis for Its Reorganization.

Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 10.—Plans to reorganize the life-saving service and increase its efficiency are advocated in a pamphlet which New England coast guards have sent to senators and congressmen representing states bordering on the sea and Great Lakes. The pamphlet states that in the life-saving service there is a lack of uniformity in the organization, and that the service is not as efficient as it should be. It suggests that the service be reorganized on a basis of uniformity and efficiency.

GIVE DENVER SAMPLE OF MEANING OF "DRY."

Denver, Colo., Jan. 10.—Denver was "dry" in the strictest sense of the word yesterday by the voluntary action of saloon keepers. The purchase of a sandwich or a meal Sunday is an excuse to secure liquor, and hotel guests in their rooms will be able to quench their thirst with mountain water. The complete drought, which the police never have been able to secure, marks one of the efforts of the saloon men to counteract the widespread movement to vote absolute prohibition for Denver at the next election. The saloon men say the Sunday drought will be permanent.

As an effort in the same direction, the Business Men's league has advocated restriction of the saloon district and a $1,500 annual license.

BIG TIMBER PURCHASE.

Senator Stephenson Reported to Have Closed a Large Deal.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported here that United States Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin has purchased 7,000 acres of Ontonagon county, Mich., timber land, for about $100,000.

RAGMAN LEAVES FORTUNE OF $60,000 IN SECURITIES.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 10.—A fortune of $60,000 in gilt-edged securities awaits the heirs of Jeremiah Moynihan, an aged miser, who died yesterday. Apparently in destitute circumstances, Moynihan was to have been buried in a potter's field yesterday, but the public executor found a key to a safe deposit vault and found a fortune of $60,000 in securities. Moynihan was 80 years old, lived alone and as far as known had no relatives in this country.

JANESVILLE, WIS., WOMAN AND CHILD BURNED.

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 10.—Mrs. Julius Dutsch and her 2-year-old son were burned to death Sunday. The woman poured kerosene oil on the fire in the kitchen stove to make it burn more rapidly. Then the flames shot out and enveloped her and her child.

WEST END CLEAR FIELD FOR WAGNER

Sixth Ward Insurgents Will Not Have Aldermanic Candidate.

Swedish Republican Club Is Preparing for the Campaign.

Despite the fact that persistent rumors have been circulated that an independent candidate for alderman would be put in the field in the Sixth ward to run against Sands and Wagner, chosen on the Republican ticket at the primaries, it is very unlikely that one will appear, according to information given by those who are supposed to be on the inside.

The Swedish Republican club will hold its first session of the year this evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. The club has been active this winter in securing new members. At the meeting this evening, preparations will be made for the annual banquet of the club which will be given shortly after election. A committee has been appointed to take charge of the arrangements. Invitations will be extended to the governor and a number of prominent state politicians.

BUSY WEEK FOR CHURCH.

Services at Swedish Mission Church
Every Evening.

This will be a busy week at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Tuesday night Mrs. J. J. Daniels, wife of Rev. J. J. Daniels, the pastor, will deliver an address on "The Confessions From the Abyss." Meetings in English and Swedish will be given special music.

Wednesday evening there will be a special sermon on "The Home," by Rev. J. J. Daniels. The following evening he will speak on "The Church." Friday night Rev. Carl O. Nelson of St. Paul, pastor of the West end church, will speak at a rally of the Sunday school workers and the young people's society members.

Rev. Mr. Nelson will speak at the last of the series of the Swedish Mission church Thursday evening and will also occupy the pulpit at the West end church next Sunday evening.

WELDON LEAVES HOSPITAL.

Injured Railroad Conductor Returns to His Home.

James Weldon of 2519 West Second street, the Northern Pacific conductor who was seriously injured in an accident near Staples about six weeks ago, left the Brainerd hospital yesterday and returned to his home in the West end.

Mr. Weldon was sitting in the caboose making out his car reports about 3 miles west of Staples, when he was thrown forward by a sudden lurch of the train. He sustained a severe fracture of the right arm and a dislocation of the right shoulder, sustaining internal injuries.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS.

Graduates of West End Schools to Gather This Week.

Alumni associations of two West end schools will hold meetings this week. The Lincoln graduates will gather at the school building tomorrow evening, while the graduates of the West end high school will meet at the home of Rev. J. J. Daniels, pastor of the West end church, on Tuesday evening.

The Adams School Alumni association will hold another social meeting Wednesday evening at the school. There will be a program of music and entertainment. The features of the evening will be given by the students of the school.

CHURCH FURNACE BUCKS AND SERVICES ARE CALLED OFF.

Because the furnace of the Grace M. E. church bucked yesterday morning, during service, the pastor announced that the evening meeting would be postponed. The furnace will be repaired during the week.

SUPERIOR COUPLE IS WEDDED AT WEST END.

Miss Mary Galvin and Frank Baudin were married Saturday at the St. Jean de Baptiste church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, by Rev. Omar Robillard.

The bride is a Superior girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Galvin of 1715 Houghton avenue and formerly taught in the public schools of the city across the bay. The groom has for some time past been engaged in the lumber business at Orr, Minn. He formerly lived in Superior.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Baudin left for Chicago, where they will spend their honeymoon. The wedding was a complete surprise to the friends and relatives of the young couple. Upon their return from their trip they will reside at the West end.

DIRECTORY OF AMUSEMENTS

WHERE TO GO TONIGHT.

LYCEUM—"The Third Degree." BILBOU—New vaudeville bill.

AUDIENCE IS PLEASED.

Dramatization of "The House of a Thousand Candles" at Lyceum.

The mysterious and absorbing story, "The House of a Thousand Candles," did not suffer by dramatization. A good company interpreted the unusual theme of the "heavy part." Guest artists were at the Lyceum last night to a large and appreciative audience.

The story is that of a man who disappears as completely as if he were dead. He wishes to know how his relatives regard him and he desires a grandson to fall in love with the young woman who is an alternative heir to the estate. After many thrilling happenings, the story ends happily.

Hugo Koch as Bates, the butler, was satisfactory. Edwin Schriber as Arthur Pickering, a lawyer, made much of the "heavy part." Guest artists were at the Lyceum last night to a large and appreciative audience.

Paul Everton.

TOO REALISTIC.

Paul Everton Tells of His First Experience on the Stage.

"My chance to go on the stage came to me while a boy, living at Brooklyn," said Paul Everton of "The Third Degree" company, which opens a week's engagement at the Lyceum tonight. "I was working for a retail clothing company, when one of the clerks in the store, who was a prominent member of a dramatic company, offered me a part in the Amateur Dramatic Club of Brooklyn. They were going to put on Sheridan's 'The Rivals' play. The price, which incidentally was afterward produced by the late Augustin Daly, under the title of 'Tragedy Rehearsed.' I eagerly accepted the offer made to me by my friend, and was cast for 'the beef eater' in this play."

Learning that Robert Hillard and Edith Kingston, now Edith Kingston Gould, had at one time belonged to this dramatic society, I began to tell myself as a star. My part consisted of

CANADA HAS CUSTOMS FRAUDS

Undervaluation and Other Charges Involved in Imports From States.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 10.—Canadian government detectives have been investigating recently alleged irregularities in the customs office here and at points along the boundary line. The report received here confirms their first suspicions that many automobiles imported from the United States come in on undervaluation and their owners are compelled to pay the difference on demand of detectives.

Theatrical posters and other printed matter have been coming in without paying duty and Canada has been losing several thousand dollars yearly. Arrests among minor officials are expected this week, and transfers of others and dismissals of some are expected.

Detectives have gone to a number of manufacturing centers in the United States to continue the investigations. It is said valuable presents have been received by officials from prominent importers.

Former Negronne Lawyer.

Negronne, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bernard Barasa, formerly of this city, is one of the three lawyers defending Francesco Schiavone, his wife and daughter, who are being tried on the charge of having advised Angelina Schiavone, a crippled Italian girl, to steal $85,820 from her father's bank in Chicago, on the promise that they would secure a husband for her.

WANTS $25,000 FROM THE SOO RAILROAD.

Bowbells, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—An action has been commenced in the federal court by Alcoa Artsgard against the Soo railroad for $25,000 for the death of her husband. He was killed in the foundry at Port Huron, where he was employed as a welder. A brick fell from the wall, striking him in the back of the head and killing him.

GREENWAY RETURNS.

John C. Greenway, who left for New York several days ago, after a successor had been appointed as general superintendent of the Oliver Mining company's properties in the Canadian district of the Menzies range, returned to Coleraine yesterday from the East and resumed his duties. He made no statement for publication.

RECIPE FOR CATARRH

The only logical treatment for catarrh is through the blood. A prescription, which has recently proved wonderfully effective in hospital work is the following: Any drugstore has the ingredients or will quickly get them for you. Any one can mix them.

One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint first-class whiskey. These to be mixed by shaking well in a bottle, and used in tablespoon doses before each meal and at bedtime. This cured many people here last winter.

HOW THE GREEK LABORER IS BEING EXPLOITED HERE

Pays Half of His First Month's Salary for Job.

Interpreters' Fees, Railroad Fares and Incidentals Take Most of Balance.

"For an iron-clad agreement, this is double riveted, with the cracks and edges cemented," said a man who was looking over an "agreement" which employment agents give to applicants for positions to sign.

Although most of the familiar positions from accountant and advertising salesman to stenographer, superintendent and systematizer are enumerated, the banks are seldom used except for common labor. It is doubtful if any of the local labor agencies ever supply high-class workmen for anybody. Now and then one may slip in, but such a happening is the exception.

Suppose you go into a Duluth office building and take an elevator to an upper floor. You go into a room. You want a job and say so. You are handed a folder to sign. Here are some of the questions: Can you accept a position immediately? Location preferred? Other localities you would consider? Salary expected? Least salary you consider at start? Age? Date of birth? Place of birth? Nationality? Height? Weight?
Physical defects, if any? Married? Are you a church member? What denomination? Can you invest money? How much? Under what conditions? Do you own real estate? Where? City or town?
Can you furnish bond? Ever been bonded? Schools attended and years?
Colleges attended and years? You then give the names of your former employers and references. After you have indicated where and for whom you worked, the position you occupied, the size of your "monthly insult," and whether you left of your own accord or were asked to, you are given a fair sketch of about all that might be interesting in your life except when you had the measles or fell down the stairs while trying to see where the hole stopped at the experimental age

"We shall not approach your present employment unless a name is given below, under heading, 'References,'" says the circular. An entire blank sheet is for you to indicate your business acquaintance and what you think you can do, and how well you can do it.

The Agreement.
But that agreement, listen: "The undersigned hereby solicits the service of the Blank Employment Bureau, in an effort to obtain a suitable position, and agrees to pay a retaining fee of (usually $2) for three months' service, consisting of entering the applicant's name, address and statement of his qualifications upon its records and placing among its files his or her references, recommendations, and from time to time keep him or her informed and in touch with the employers requiring his or her services. Provided the applicant obtains a position through the efforts or by the assistance, or information from the Blank Employment Bureau, upon acceptance of such position, an amount equal to 50 per cent of his first month's salary or compensation, without rebate of any kind.

"In event of such position being temporary, and understood by both parties, he or she agrees to pay a sum equal to 10 per cent of the amount earned. The minimum charge shall be $5. And further, if he or she receives an offer of a position through the Blank Employment Bureau, and his present employer increases his salary because of said offer, he or she agrees to pay the Blank Employment Bureau a sum equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the increase on year's salary.
The applicant further agrees to consider all information received as strictly confidential, and to use and to notify the Blank Employment Bureau promptly upon the acceptance of a position and report the result of all interviews, and at all times keep the Blank Employment Bureau informed as to his or her address.

"In consideration of this application and the payment of the retaining fee herein provided for the Blank Employment Bureau agrees that upon acceptance of the services stated, that while it does not guarantee the applicant a position it promises him or her every effort made to put him or her in touch with an acceptable position in which he or she is adapted. It being understood, however, that if the Blank Employment Bureau act only as an agent and as such may also make a charge to the employer filling the position, securing and furnishing applicants, information, bond, etc.

The agreement is still so exceptional because of said offer, that it is doubtful if any intelligent person would sign it.
Its ambiguity would baffle any lawyer or any judge that tried to dissect it and explain it.

For Per Cent of All "Rates."
For instance, the placing of just one little apostrophe puts the Greek press job seeker in hot water if he signs at Duluth. He is to receive 50 per cent of the increase on "years" salary.
The apostrophe in the agreement is after the "s," making the word plural, which would mean all years to be increased.

These agreements are signed mostly by railroad laborers who do not know anything about employment bureaus, and cannot speak the English language intelligently and who know the law about the legal mysteries and the binding effect of a signature.
Take this case for example:
I am a railroad laborer and a Greek.
I came to Minneapolis, Minn., from Chicago. I paid $10 for my job, which is at Seattle. The interpreter told me
I was for a ticket to Minneapolis and

$1 was for his fee. Perhaps I marvelled at his kindness in getting me a job for $1 until I learned that the Burlington and Great Northern are practically under one management and, as I was to work for the Great Northern, I came over the Burlington on a pass. If I take that Seattle job, I agree to pay probably the sum of $2 a month to a man I never saw, or want to see for "interpreter's fees." Then the railroad company takes out $3 or $5 now and then for board, although I board myself. Sometimes I find that a few dollars have been deducted for some favorite some one who is in on all the graft under the guise of being an interpreter or labor agent. I stand on this until the railroad takes $5 from my check and the agent tells me it is for "general principles." I am a Greek laborer, and over in my country I didn't know any big army men, and I am not on speaking terms with Gen.
Principles here, so I quit.

"It is likely that I come to Duluth, and it is probable that I seek out the Blank Employment Bureau. I pay down $2 for the pleasure of writing my own signature on a ledger.
A logging concern has put in an order for twenty men, and I am given an opportunity to be one of the gang. I do not know, neither do I care, if the logging agency has or will pay the employment agent a fee. Perhaps I do not know much about the ways of the country and I and nineteen other Greeks hire out to the logging concern situated in an interior, a fellow countryman who makes the deal through the labor agent, or directly with the logging concern. I don't care about little initial fees or who gets them. What I want is a job, and I want that job like I never wanted a job before, perhaps, because I have a wife and two or three children, say, in the oil country, and this job must buy food for all of us.

"I haven't read the agreement I signed because I can't read the English language. My interpreter or the labor agent tells me it is all right and I take his word for it. I am in a hurry to get to that job. I am to be paid $26 a month and my board. At the end of the first month I get a check or a due bill or some sort of paper worth $12. I protest, but vainly, because I am informed that the agreement I signed pledged me to pay 50 per cent of my first month's salary to the employment agent. If the logging company likes my work and makes me foreman at $40 a month I must pay a sum equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the increase on year's salary. I cannot make out what that means and so I tell the agency to go to a place that would make my sunny Greece look like a winter land, and the employment agency doesn't dare start anything because it knows that I have been here long enough now to realize the value of a lawyer. I would get a lawyer and heat the tar out of that employment agent.

I compromised with an agent by giving him $12, 10 per cent of my yearly income in salary that I got when I obtained me a job with another party," said a chap.
"What did you say when you handed over the $12?"
"I said I was sorry it wasn't more."

HARVARD IS LONG ON BRAIN FREAKS

Has Four Intellectual Prodigies of 15 Years or Less in Its Enrollment.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 10.—Present-day child prodigies—as represented in a group of four students at Harvard University whose ages range from 11 to 15 years—promise to maintain greater Boston's appellation of "The Hub" of the intellectual universe.

Included in this quartet of phenomenally developed child mentalities are the youngest known person to attain the degree of bachelor of arts, Robert Wolner, aged 15 years, a graduate of Tufts college and at present a student in the Harvard graduate class; and the youngest and most intellectual first-year student in the history of Harvard university, William J. Stiles of Brooklyn, 11 years old, a marvelously precocious juggler in the most advanced mathematical problems.

Brother and Sister.
The two other abnormally educated children completing this unique group are less widely known. They are a brother and a sister—Lina W. Berle, 15 years old, and Adolph A. Berle, 14 years old, members of the freshman classes of Radcliffe and Harvard colleges respectively. They are children of Rev.
A. A. Berle, pastor of the Shawmut Congregational church in this city. They have spent little of their time in the public schools. Their father early taught them several languages, reversing the usual order of instruction, teaching them mathematics later.

Less than a month after entering Harvard, young Berle had an article accepted by the Lampton, a college magazine, in which he considered the president of the college "from a physiological, zoological and English standpoint, in a manner most interesting."

For Constipation
A Medicine that Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Gives Satisfactory Relief.

If you suffer from constipation in any form whatever, acute or chronic, we will guarantee to supply you with medicine that we honestly believe will effect permanent relief if taken with regularity and according to directions for a reasonable length of time.
Should the medicine fail to benefit you to your entire satisfaction we promise that it shall cost you nothing.

No other remedy can be compared with Rexall Orderlies for the easy, pleasant and successful treatment of constipation. The active medicinal ingredients of this remedy, which is odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other valuable ingredients, it forms a preparation which is incomparable as a perfect bowel regulator. Intestinal irritation and stenographer, Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, and are notable for their gentle and agreeable action. They do not cause grip-ing or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience, and may be taken at any time, day or night.

We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children and for delicate or aged persons, because they do not contain anything injurious. Unlike other preparations, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics, and harsh physic, and remove the causes of constipation or irregular bowel action that are not of surgical nature.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. We know of nothing that will do you so much good. They are prepared in tablet form in two sizes:
36 tablets in 25c and 12 tablets in 10c. Remember you can obtain Rexall Orderlies in Duluth only at our store—The Rexall Store—E. M. Tred-way, 108 West Superior street.

MANY HURT ON COASTING HILLS

Twenty-Five Are Injured in Three Cities as Result of Accidents.

Alton, Ill., Jan. 10.—Fifteen persons were hurt, six of them seriously, in two coasting accidents here Sunday afternoon.

A bobsled carrying eight persons collided with an ambulance en route to the home of a suicide, and the horses fell on the sled. James Coleman, 15 years old, was scalped and every other passenger suffered minor injuries.

An hour later, on the same hill, another sled collided with an automobile, injuring five of the seven passengers on the sled. Edward Hackett, the driver, was seriously crushed. Miss Emma Horn suffered a broken leg and internal injuries and Miss Bertha Luer and Gertrude and Bertha Horn sustained serious internal hurts.
There have been fifteen accidents on this hill in the past week. One of the injured, a 6-year-old girl, was killed.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

"BIG SIX" MATHEWSON MAY BECOME ANOTHER "CY" YOUNG; THE MAINSTAY OF THE GIANTS

Will He Be Right This Season? Time for the Oarsmen to Begin Training.

(BY BRUCE)

What will Christy Mathewson do the coming season? Go ask the marines. McGraw doesn't know neither do any of the rest of us. The big buckler boy has been going on now for the past seven years, experiencing but one off year in that time. Will he be the great pitcher the coming season he has been in the past?

Upon the form shown by "Big Six" will depend in large measure the showing of the Giants. Take Mathewson away from the team and the Giants would seem as out of place as a meddler without a strong part for virtue. Last season the big college man had one of the best seasons in his long career. He did one thing that he was never able to accomplish before—he beat Murr Brown, the three-fingered wonder of the Cubs. In fact, Mathewson twice defeated Brown, and added the last feather to his glory hat.

Fans were wont to argue as to the superior abilities of Brown and Mathewson. Those who backed three-fingered Brown for the high pedestal position were in the habit of shouting out loud and clear that as a test of the abilities of the two men it might be stated that every time Brown and Christy had opposed each other the man from Chicago had won the game.

They are still arguing over the merits of the two great slayers. But the old argument about Mathewson never having beaten Brown has been thrown in the discard.

The fine looking big twiler is one of the greatest boxers who ever awaited a catcher's signal. He has everything that goes to make up the successful pitcher. He has physique to stand work, and he has that valuable asset, control. He has speed and a good curve. His fadeaway ball is one of the hardest in the world to catch.

If Mathewson has another good season the coming baseball year, and Murr Brown succeeds in laying his hands on the players he is after, the giants may be in the race from the beginning of the season.

But if McGraw should get two or three star pitchers and some of the best outfielders in the world and Mathewson should have a season like the little hope of the New York Nationals missing in front of the procession, it has been Christy who has been the star in the race ever since he has been with the club.

Not since the old days when the clubs carried but one star pitcher, has modern baseball furnished an example of a man being depended upon by his team in the way Mathewson has been depended upon by the New York Nationals.

The only example of one man doing as great a service for his team in the annals of modern baseball, is the case of big Ed Walsh of the Chicago Americans. These two men stand far above the others and it will be found, year in and year out, Mathewson has been the most useful pitcher to his team.

Is it any wonder then that the fans of Gotham are naturally wondering if Christy will get away to a good showing the coming season? Is it any wonder that McGraw is just naturally wondering if the big pitcher will be as good as he has been in former seasons? It is not.

Mathewson should go on for many years. He has everything in his favor. He is a man of exemplary habits, and youth and strength in his favor. He is a chap who has never dissipated and he is a man who has used his head as well as his arm, out there in the box. He might develop into another "Cy Young" if he keeps on.

"Big Six" is one of the cards of the game. He has his admirers in every city on the National circuit. It might be mentioned, as only an incident, you understand, that the fans are very partial to Christy, big and strong as he is. Christy makes a lot of others look like a bunch of dubs.

If baseball will see Mathewson many more seasons. He is a chap who has a head for business and his money-making powers are not confined to baseball. It is profitable only to find that they were not in any shape for use.

If Mathewson can win this season at Kenner, some new material will have to be taken immediately by the club.

A good start in rowing means a lot.

the big alien at the Illinois Athletic club.

Herman has matched Zyzsko with Tom Jenkins, the man from whom Frank Gotch really won the championship of the world.

Frank Gotch, the man from whom Tom Jenkins won the championship, is now in Cleveland, Ohio, Thursday night of the 10th, to meet Zyzsko.

Frank Gotch found himself in a tight place at once that if Mahmout's manager was sincere in that statement the match would be taken immediately by the Pole.

This further complicates matters, as the claim is made here that the men already are matched for Jan. 25. This Mahmout's people deny and point to the fact that the Turk's forfeit of $500 is still unpaid and uncovered by the Zyzsko end. Until the money is covered there will be no signing of articles, they claim.

Probably nothing will be done in the matter until after Zyzsko's arrival in this city.

 COLLEGES PLANNING WITH ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL. *****

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Coach Stagg of the University of Chicago has received a request from Columbia university of New York for a non-scholastic football game and he has replied to the Eastern school that such a game will be played. The date has not been agreed upon, but Coach Stagg has issued a call for players of association football at the Chicago school.

 CHAMPION GOTCH TO WRESTLE HERE. *****

Frank A. Gotch and Raoul de Rouen, champion of France, will wrestle a finish match in this city March 16.

Arrangements for the match have been practically completed. The Frenchman is one of the strongest and toughest wrestlers in the world. He stands over six feet and weighs 250 pounds. In addition to his ability as a great grappler, he is known as one of the roughest wrestlers in the game.

This may be the last opportunity of seeing Champion Gotch in this city. The present season may be the last of his career. He meets Zyzsko for the championship title in Chicago some time in April, and if he is to say goodbye to the mat.

Zyzsko will meet Chris Person in a finish match here. If the proper arrangements can be made for an amateur match, arrangements may be completed today for the match.

Being considered for the match, which if it is held here, will be wrestled some time next month. The Gordon-Person match has been set for Jan. 18. This will be a straight match and to a finish. Gordon will outweigh Person by some twenty pounds.

In the city and the slide at the club in being used every day by a large number of club members.

The following tournaments have already been arranged for, with the probability that the Stillwater date will be changed so as to allow Duluth to possess a tournament here Feb. 12, when the Soe excursion will be run to Duluth.

Jan. 15—Duluth, Minn.
Jan. 21—Cameron, Wis.
Jan. 22—Hudson, Wis.
Jan. 23—Chippewa Falls, Wis.
Jan. 25—Colfax, Wis.
Jan. 30—Superior, Wis., and Minneapolis, Minn.

The 6 or 12—Duluth, Minn., interstate tournament.
Feb. 13—Hibbing, Minn., and Red Wing, Minn.
Feb. 18 and 20—Coleraine, Minn., national tournament.
Feb. 22—Islepeing, Mich.

SUPERIOR TAKES SECOND MATCH

Honors Are Evened in the Manley-McLennan Trophy Series.

The Duluth curlers were walloped at Superior Saturday night.

After partaking of a hearty meal at the expense of the Wisconsin men, perhaps the jolly Scots from Duluth could not find it in their hearts to take the second series of games. At any rate they went on the ice and were soundly beaten. The deciding games will be played at the rink of the Duluth club this evening and the possession of the Manley-McLennan trophy, which has been held by the local club for some ten years, will be settled.

The total scores of the contests played at Superior were: Superior 44; Duluth 24. The winners of the contests tonight will play off with four rinks from West Duluth.

The contest is not decided by the total number of scores, as many because of the unevenness of the ice. The scores made at Superior follow:

 STILL THEY COME. *****

Clyde Rich, a pitcher, and Char. Miller, an outfielder, have been signed by Duluth.

Rich comes from the Ohio State League, while Miller is new to Duluth. Both of the players are said to be fine, and will be given a thorough tryout in the spring.

 DULUTH HEIGHTS WINS FAST HOCKEY GAME. *****

The Duluth Heights hockey team defeated the Fairmounts yesterday on the former team's rink by the score of 1 to 0.

The game was fast and spectacular. The only goal of the game was made near the close of the second half, when Christenson carried the puck from near his own goal to the length of the rink.

A large crowd witnessed the game. It was clearly contested and for this early in the season a very fast game.

HIBBING EASY FOR CENTRAL

Range Basket Ball Team Defeated By Score of 44 to 14.

The crack Central basket ball team had little trouble in defeating the Hibbing high school at Hibbing Saturday by the one-sided score of 44 to 14. It was the first time the Hibbing team has ever been defeated in its own gymnasium. The result of the game was a great surprise to the followers of the range five.

Every member of the Duluth team played a star game. According to reports the score would have been even larger, were it not for the small gymnasium in which the contest was played, and the further fact that the Hibbing team played with a degree of teamwork in long passing.

Waidron, the star of the Hibbing team, threw eight baskets and also four from fouls. Capt. Boyle got four into the basket and Solheim made one. The game Saturday was the first one on the regular schedule of Central. Negotiations are on for a game with Two Harbors.

If the game is scheduled it will be played at the Duluth Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Central is believed to have one of the fastest and best basket ball teams in the history of the school. If the season is as successful as present indications promise, it is probable that an attempt will be made to schedule a game with the best high school basket ball team in the Twin Cities.

It is believed that Central has a very good chance for the interscholastic championship, and if no defeat is sustained in this part of the state, the management of the team may look for more victories to come.

The lineup and score of Saturday's game follows:

Centrals. Position. Hibbing. Waidron 25. Writing Harris 5. Sherman Johnson 2. Harriet Solheim 4. Adams Stevens 1. Hooker Summary: Score—Duluth, 44; Hibbing, 14. Baskets—Waidron, 8; Harris, 8; Boyle, 4; Solheim, 1; Writing, 3; Cobb, 2. Baskets from fouls—Harris, 4; Cobb, 2.

TWENTY-SIX .300 HITTERS

Some Remarkable Batting Was Done in the Western League.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—The Western league produced twenty-six .300 hitters during the season of 1909, according to the official figures issued by President Norris L. O'Neill here today.

Welch, the hard-hitting outfielder of Omaha, led in batting with an average of .372 for 121 games. He made 156 hits for a total of 288 bases. Miller of Pueblo was second, with .367 for 87 games and 160 bases. De Moines was third with .362 for 14 games.

St. Louis City led in the team batting with the remarkable average of .353. The Des Moines team, which won the championship by the narrow margin of two points, was tied for sixth, with Wichita in the twelfth, at .350.

Omaha led in team fielding with .948. The champion Des Moines team was fourth with .948.

Miller of Omaha led the pitchers in percentage of victories, with seven games won and two lost for .37. Onstad of Denver is the real leader, with twenty-four games won and eight lost for .350. Lange of Des Moines won twenty-nine games and lost twelve for .707.

 Coke Concern Is Employing More Men Than in Three Years Past. *****

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 10.—The H. C. Frick Coke company is the first of the big industrial plants in this section to restore the wages that were cut as result of the business depression of 1907.

This morning a notice was posted in all the coke plants announcing that the higher scale of wages will go into effect Jan. 16. This step is in line with the promise of President Thomas Lynch to restore the cut when the business would warrant it.

More men are at work in the Connellsville coke region at present than there has been in three years and the notice of the advance in wages will come as a surprise to the workmen, and some of the companies are being built.

Many new coke ovens are being built. It is believed that other coke companies will follow this step and that there will be a general restoration of the wage scale of 1907 in the Connellsville coke region.

 Big Deal Completed. *****

Uniontown, Pa., Jan. 10.—The Clairton iron company has sold to the H. C. Frick Coke company 2,644 acres of coking coal and 256 acres of surface land in this county for $2,884,418 cash. It has been learned, $30 an acre for the coal land and $125 an acre for the surface land was paid, which is a record price for coal lands in this section.

RAILROADS ALL TRAINS ARE DELAYED

Railroad Tracks in Bad Condition on Account of Weather.

Difficulty in Maintaining Service Is Not Confined to the West.

That the railroad tracks of the country are at the present time in a wretched state is announced in a general report that reaches the local office of the Omaha road today.

For the past week the Omaha train from Chicago has been delayed daily from two to seven hours. According to the report received today at the Omaha office, the Omaha between Duluth and Chicago is faring no worse than the other lines between St. Paul and Chicago.

The report states that delays on the St. Paul-Chicago line have been frequent in some instances the delays being greater than the worst delay of Omaha between here and the Windy City.

Not only this, but at the present time trains between Western points and St. Paul, on the Pacific coast line, are practically at a standstill. Snow storms have tied up passenger and freight traffic in all directions, according to the report, and there is no depending upon regularity in train service between St. Paul and Western points on the Pacific coast line.

The West is not the only section of the country to suffer from storms and drifting snow. The Twentieth Century Limited, one of the fastest trains in the world, and a train that is seldom held up, was delayed in New York and Chicago the day before yesterday.

This fact was reported by a commercial man who reached the city today, and he gave some additional information upon the conditions of the service in the East at the present time.

Snow through some portions of Illinois is on a level of over three feet, and the train proceeded the snow, and this, freezing with the dropping of the thermometer, has resulted in the placing of the tracks of all the roads between here and Chicago in a very bad condition.

A. M. Fenton, district freight and passenger agent for the Omaha, stated today that the railroad were fortunate in being able to operate passenger trains at all points between Duluth and Chicago. According to Mr. Fenton's statement, at different places between Duluth and Chicago the tracks were in very bad condition, and it was unsafe to run the trains with any degree of speed.

Passengers at the Spalding this morning who had come in the train from Chicago stated that the cars rocked like a ship, so uneven were the tracks. In some places the snow worked under the trucks and impeded progress.

HEAVY PASSENGER TRAVEL.
Eastern Traffic Men Are Preparing for a Prosperous Season.

After looking over the Eastern passenger situation, Mart Adson, general passenger agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, is of the opinion that the coming season will see the heaviest travel in the East ever in the United States.

Mr. Adson returned Saturday from New York, while in the East he had opportunity to learn the view there of the passenger outlook. Adson returns with a rosy view of the situation. Passenger men in the East, according to Mr. Adson, look for an extraordinarily heavy tourist travel and heavy travel from Europe to the United States this season.

Outlook Is Bright.
W. L. Hathaway, district passenger agent of the Rock Island, is in the city today. There is little traveling in the East, but the outlook for the coming season is bright, with the best of indications, however, for a big passenger business later on, according to Mr. Hathaway.

Situation Improved.
K. M. Nicoles, superintendent of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific railroad, returned Saturday from St. Paul. While in St. Paul, Mr. Nicoles had an opportunity to become acquainted with the strike situation.

According to Mr. Nicoles some of the old men are returning to work, and there is little change in the local situation, with none of the switchmen returning to work, according to Mr. Nicoles, who says that the railroads have all the switchmen they need here at the present time.

Taft Calls Him Into Consultation as to Laws on Conservation.

Washington, Jan. 10.—President Taft will begin work some time this week on his special message to congress dealing with the conservation of natural resources. He had a consultation of half an hour or more on this subject this morning with Secretary Ballinger, who had drawn up a number of laws which will serve as the framework for the much needed new legislation dealing with the public lands and resources.

The president also had a conference today with Secretary of Agriculture Wilson regarding the reorganization of the forestry bureau, recently headed by Gifford Pinchot.

TO SELECT SECRETARY

Committee From Associated Charities Will Visit New York Soon.

Classification of Subjects May Be Dropped in Duluth.

Fourteen different charitable societies were represented this morning at the meeting of the Associated Charities, held in the county board room at the courthouse.

Edward Silberstein, Bishop McGrick and Mrs. O. C. Hartman will in all probability compose the committee to visit New York in the very near future, to select an experienced man to accept the position of secretary of the Duluth organization.

The matter of a secretary is a difficult problem to solve. In Duluth there are certain conditions that are not found in other parts of the country. That no mistake might be made, the matter has been given careful consideration. It was finally decided to send the committee to New York. There are several applicants for the position and the committee will select the best one.

The subject of drunkenness came up for discussion. Several local men as well as the best means of helping the family. The plan being worked out in Minneapolis and other cities were explained. No action was taken to be taken in Duluth.

"Worthy" and "Unworthy." A discussion of the words "worthy" and "unworthy" took place. It was agreed that they should not be used. There are worthy things about most people, although there are also unworthy things. It was agreed that there was usually enough worthy things about most people so that they could be helped.

SOME PULPIT EDITORIALS

Rev. D. G. Cole Discusses the Important Events of the Week.

The Death of D. O. Mills and the Discharge of Pinchot.

Rev. D. G. Cole, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street, yesterday gave an interesting and timely editorial, the second of the series which he delivers every Sunday preceding his sermon.

Rev. Mr. Cole takes two or three items of general news interest during the week past for his topic. Yesterday he gave a pulpit editorial on the death of D. O. Mills of New York. He said in part:

"The death of D. O. Mills, famous humanitarian and financier, reminds us of his greatness. He was an educated, public-spirited man, whose education, his wealth and his blessing count for nothing.

"I spent a week at Mills Hotel No. 1, and while there I saw some of the most distinguished characters. Among them was George Francis Train and my devoted friend, Rev. Dr. Jeffrey, who did so much good in New York and Paris.

"D. O. Mills improved upon his subsequent Mills hotels. In his first one he found himself beset by nearly every evil and vampire of the world, and he was obliged to buy the privileges of one of the little rooms. It was his intention to benefit the world by his example, and he was to be a model for the world to follow.

"Notable among his many benefactions was a training school for male nurses. Speaking of Cardinal Sattoli, the clergyman said: 'Cardinal Sattoli was a man of tremendous influence, a great force for good. His aristocratic lineage was no bar to his rising in the world, as has been the case with aristocratic young men of my acquaintance.'

"About the possibility of the cigarette being a bad habit, he said: 'I have been a member of the Y. M. C. A. for many years, and I have seen many of the young men who are addicted to this habit. It is a terrible thing, and it is a terrible thing to see a young man who is so addicted to this habit that he cannot do his duty to his country or his church.'

"The danger of the cigarette is a terrible thing, and it is a terrible thing to see a young man who is so addicted to this habit that he cannot do his duty to his country or his church. The cigarette is a terrible thing, and it is a terrible thing to see a young man who is so addicted to this habit that he cannot do his duty to his country or his church.

MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Wheat Has Many Fluctuations, But Strengthens Toward Close.

The Bulls Are in Complete Control of the Flax Market.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 10.—Wheat was a very proposition today. The trend was narrow and the market was somewhat heavy early in the day, but strengthened toward the close. There were frequent bulges, but the advances failed of maintenance. Considerable long wheat was fed out on the up turns, which the market absorbed easily. Trade was moderate. May opened at $1.13 1/2 and closed $1.13 3/4. The high point of the day was $1.14 1/4-1/2.

The cash situation was strong, being 3c over May. Millers are heavy buyers of spot and a majority of the mills are bullish on wheat. The flour demand last week was good and the prospects for this week are excellent. Receipts in the Northwest over Sunday show an increase, although the movement is by no means as heavy as the large supplies in the country would seem to warrant. The Northwest received 235 cars over the holiday, compared with 235 last year. Minneapolis got 365 against 242, Duluth 32 against 38, and Winnipeg 124 against 61. These increased receipts have not caused any cause of apprehension regarding the strength of spot, but the demand was so good that fears were groundless. Primary receipts of wheat were nearly 250,000 bu greater than for the same period last year.

On the other hand, the figures regarding the full visible supply were unusually bullish, the figures for the week being 3,077,000 bu, compared with 3,047,000 bu last year and 2,739,000 bu a week before last. In the United States the figures were not so favorable to the bulls, wheat decreased the 60,000 bu compared with 1,280,000 bu a year ago. In comparison with week before last, the increase was 276,000 bu.

The export trade was good today with wheat slightly lower. Cables were somewhat reduced. Liverpool closed 3 3/4-5d lower. The Argentine situation is a sort of temper in a teapot. Australian shipments last week, incidentally, were the largest on record, 1,618,000 bu compared with 326,000 bu a year ago.

The flax market was feverish, opening on a parity with Saturday, and quickly jumping to $2.25. The action happened in less than half an hour and at the time the market was there were offerings at $2.25. Some buyers wanted to make a price and the market was critically put at the figure named. A quick slump occurred as there was no support for the market at that quotation. The decline carried May to $2.25 and then to $2.22.

The flax market is in a strained condition. The bulls are in complete control, being aided by practically every condition affecting the market. Flax supplies here show a decrease last week. Supply aggregate 235,078 bu, a decrease of 8,011 bu. All of the flax in store here has been ordered out for shipment to Minneapolis or Chicago as soon as possible. Cables from Minneapolis holding 2c over Duluth. May tends to divert shipments to that market.

The crushers bought moderately today and the steady and active market had caused a rise in the price of a gallon. The quotation on oil has been quoted 2c since the last week. Durum was 3c off on Saturday. Oats, rye and barley were unchanged, and cash sold at a premium of 3c over May.

Car receipts at Duluth were 32, against 35 last year and 24 last year. At Winnipeg, 126, against 61 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 252, against 32 last year. Chicago received 10 cars, against 12 last year. Kansas City received 18, against 11 last year, and shipped 68, against 26 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 150,000 bu, last year, 125,000 bu; clearances, 75,000 bu; flour, 42,000 bu; wheat and flour, 24,000 bu. Primary receipts of corn were 545,000 bu, last year, 375,000 bu; clearances, 68,000 bu.

Brooklyn cable from Liverpool—"Total world's shipments of breadstuffs last week, 3,077,000 bu, previous week, 3,047,000 bu, 1909, 2,739,000 bu. Corn last week, 3,000,000 bu; previous week, 2,980,000 bu. At the start the wheat market was steady and 3d lower, but the decline in America on Saturday being generally offset by the firmer la. Flax prices were held higher and the continued unfavorable from advices from that country. During the early morning the market advanced 3d and with the market light and shorts nervous. Later and just before mid-day some selling pressure developed and values fell back to the early morning advance on the large world's shipments for the week and the fact that the United Kingdom took 5,500,000 bu against 4,400,000 bu last week. This created a smaller demand for both parcels and cargoes. At this time the market was still steady and 1/2c lower. Later prices declined 3/4d due to some realizing on the larger American shipments to Liverpool. American shipped to Liverpool, 485,000 bu.

"Our Argentine cable says general rains have fallen which have been beneficial for the growing crop of corn and it is expected that the corn crop will be a large one."

Bright-Patterson wire—"Cables on wheat 3d higher to 3d lower and corn 1/2c lower. Cold weather prevails which will prevent a large opening of wheat at primary markets and the market will be in a holding state until the mood until the railroads can operate under normal conditions and we can ascertain with certainty as to how free the wheat will move. Receipts of corn over the estimate. One of two firms here are reporting large sales of corn

HARD CONTEST FOR HONORS OF THE AIR IS BEGUN BY AVIATORS

Americans Are Eager to Wrest Laurels From Paulhan at Los Angeles.

Frenchman Performs Feat That Startles Crowd at Meeting.

Curtis and Willard Among Those Who Hope to Excel His Work.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 11.—Louis Paulhan's debut in the air yesterday has stirred the rival American aviators to a determination to out him today from the position he snatched suddenly from them when he swooped from behind his airplane and flew over the huge grandstand, dangerously close to the heads of the cheering thousands of spectators.

It is now a contest between America and France, and this is the first day on which flights will count for the prizes. Willard and Hamilton, who no less than their chief—Curtis—are determined to eclipse the performance of the Frenchman, spent hours early today getting ready for their tests.

Curtis in a French. Making a sudden and dramatic appearance while the 2,000 spectators were watching the slow flight of two dirigible balloons yesterday afternoon, Paulhan threw the throng into a frenzy of excitement by spectacular flights in a Farman biplane.

It was the first day of the aviation meet and was given over to preliminary trials and flights to give spectators a chance to shake down their machines. Curtis had given an exhibition in a new and tried machine in which he later defeated Hamilton in some short flights. He also had made a successful flight, several times Roy Kinnel-Smith, who had been expected to fly in two small dirigibles and maneuvered craft, but (Continued on page 4, first column.)

DANCES IN STREET WITH WIFE'S BODY

Negro Acts Like Madman in His Grief Over the Woman's Death.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 11.—The gruesome sight of a Negro singing and dancing down the street with a corpse of a colored woman in his arms, startled Cincinnati, McCorkill and Kennedy early today. The body later proved to be that of the negro's wife, Harvey. He was held for safe keeping. It was learned that Harvey, gripped by grief, had been in the street since the afternoon and did not return until midnight, when the undertakers were in the house preparing the body for burial. According to the police, Harvey acted like a madman. Grasping a piece of wood from the kitchen, he drove over and over the body. Then he placed a cigarette in the dead woman's mouth, and taking the body to his home, he carried it to the house and put the corpse in the front doorway. He returned to the house and procured a bottle of whiskey. He tried to force some of it down the dead woman's throat, and failing to do this, again picked up the body and started dancing down the street with it.

OBJECT TO NEW COURT

Livestock Men Oppose Taft's Plan for Traffic Tribunal.

Also Will Demand That the Duty on Hides Be Restored.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 11.—Opposition to President Taft's proposed interstate commerce court was voiced by many delegates to the American National Livestock association convention, which opened here today. Members see the hand of the railroads behind the proposition, they assert. Many delegates favor making the interstate commerce commission the court of last resort in cases where contention is allowed in which they claim the federal aid only is concerned. Among the topics that will occupy the attention of the convention is the demand that the duty of 15 cents on hides be removed at the extra session of congress be restored. Today it seemed probable that (Continued on page 7, sixth column.)

Philadelphia Heiress and the Waiter Located and Arrested.

Cohen Will Have to Face Charge of Abducting the Girl.

Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—Various views as to which is the guilty party in the disappearance of Roberta E. De Janon, the 17-year-old heiress, and Frederick Cohen, the married waiter of the Bellevue-Stratford, which terminated yesterday in Chicago, are held by the city's grand jury. Robert Blust, the millionaire, and Mrs. Cohen, the wife who was deserted when the couple fled from this city in Dec. 20. Mr. Blust declares his granddaughter did not realize what she was doing, and was the victim of a cunning adventurer. Having as father and daughter, Robert and Cohen were found and arrested in Chicago yesterday. They were discovered by detectives in a rooming house on the North side of the city. When police entered the house, Miss De Janon was playing with her pet dog, which she took with her in her sensational flight with Cohen. (Continued on page 7, fifth column.)

KAISER WOULD FAVOR FARMERS

Wants Laws to Counteract Removals From Farming Districts.

Berlin, Jan. 11.—Emperor William opened the Prussian diet today. The proposed legislation outlined in the speech from the throne includes a bill for the reform of the election law and another to counteract the tendency of the laboring classes to desert the farming districts. The speech foreshadowed a considerable deficit in the forthcoming budget, notwithstanding the increased receipts through improved conditions of trade. The deficit is due chiefly to an increase of $50,000,000 in the salaries of government employees. The Reichstag reconvened today.

NEW STATUE IS UNVEILED

That of Lew Wallace Is Placed in Statuary Hall at Washington.

Shares Indiana's Place With That of Governor Morton of War Times.

Washington, Jan. 11.—In commemoration of his great services to his state and country, a statue of Gen. Lew Wallace, soldier, author and diplomat, was today placed in the capitol, thus making another notable addition to the gallery of great Americans whose effigies adorn Statuary hall. Oliver P. Morton, war governor of Indiana, is the other citizen who has been honored by the Hoosier State in the same manner. The unveiling today was made the occasion of an imposing ceremony. Capt. John P. McGraw, who served as an officer in Gen. Wallace's command in the Civil war, and president of the Lew Wallace statue commission, presided, the figure being unveiled by Gen. Wallace, Jr., grandson of the general. Governor Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana accepted the statue on behalf of his state from the commission, which had charge of its preparation. Others who delivered eulogies were Senator Beveridge, A. Ruston Boy (Continued on page 7, fifth column.)

FOUR WOULD BE MAYOR OF BOSTON

First Election Under New Charter Is Being Held at the Hub.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 11.—Boston today is holding its first election under the new city charter, one of the features of which is an attempt to exclude party considerations from the filling of municipal offices. Instead of being the choice of conventions, the candidates for mayor are before the electors on nomination papers. They are four in number, their names and party affiliations being: James J. Storrow, Republican; ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Democrat; Mayor George A. Hibbard, Republican; and Nathaniel B. Taylor, Republican. The early voting showed that the almost continuous urging of the drawn-out campaign had not fallen on heedless ears.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE FROM FORMER PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS RECEIVED BY MRS. JOHN A. JOHNSON AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald).—Mrs. John A. Johnson, widow of the late governor of Minnesota, has received a letter from former President Roosevelt, in which the writer expresses appreciation of Governor Johnson and sympathy with Mrs. Johnson in her bereavement. The letter, written in pencil, bears evidence of the wild surroundings in which it was written. As the writer did not know Mrs. Johnson's permanent address, the letter was sent in the care of John C. Greenway, a personal friend of Col. Roosevelt, and through him forwarded to Mrs. Johnson from Duluth. The letter reads as follows:

"On Safari, Near Mt. Elgon, Central Africa, Nov. 15, 1909. —My Dear Mrs. Johnson: While out here far from all chance of hearing news with any speed, I have just learned of the death of your honored and distinguished husband. I trust you will not think me intrusive if I write a word of respectful sympathy. I greatly admired your husband as an upright and honorable public servant, and as one of those Americans who we like to believe are typical of our people as a whole. He is a loss to us all; a loss to good citizenship. "With assurance of my profound sympathy and regret, believe me, very sincerely yours, "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

CAPITALIST PASSES AWAY

Hamilton McKown Twombly Succumbs After Long Illness. Has Record of Active Work in Vanderbilt Railway Affairs.

New York, Jan. 11.—Hamilton McKown Twombly, the capitalist and widely-known railroad man, died today at his home in Madison, N. J., after a long illness. Mr. Twombly married Adele Vanderbilt, the daughter of William H. Vanderbilt, and for many years was an active figure in the direction of the Vanderbilt railroad interests. Mr. Twombly was a director in about forty railroad and other corporations.

VILLALOBAR TO NEW POST

Spanish Minister at Washington Suddenly Changed to Lisbon.

Diplomat Expresses Surprise at Action Reported From Madrid.

Madrid, Jan. 11.—The Marquis de Villalobar, Spanish minister to Washington, has been transferred to Lisbon.

Marquis Is Surprised. Washington, Jan. 11.—Marquis de Villalobar, the Spanish minister, was greatly surprised when informed by the Associated Press that he had been transferred.

You certainly surprise me," he said. "I do not understand it at all and there must be some mistake. Don't you think it likely that your correspondent at Madrid is in error?" Assured that the news apparently was authentic, he continued: "About a month and a half ago my government asked me if I would go to Lisbon and take up a number of very important matters between Spain and Portugal. I replied that I preferred to remain as minister to the United States. While I would be very glad to go, if my government required it, I informed the king I had been very happy here and every relation with this government was most pleasant. Since that time I have heard nothing further in the matter and supposed that it had been dropped. The minister was asked if anything had occurred here which might have led to his transfer. In reply Marquis de Villalobar declared he absolutely trusted a story published yesterday to the effect that he had been the leading figure in an unpleasant episode at the recent diplomatic reception at the White House. On this occasion, in the story ran, the Spanish minister was separated with other ministers from the foreign ambassadors, and presented this classification.

Deadwood, S. D., Jan. 11.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, who is now in the eastern part of this state, is expected to arrive here within a few days. She has written that she has long desired to visit "the city of sin," and wishes to give a talk on the subject of some of the state's statutes that are being violated. So far as known, no plans for her stay here have been made by any society or organization.

BOY OF 14 IS FIVE TIMES HERO

Has Remarkable Record for Saving Others From Drowning.

Biloxi, Miss., Jan. 11.—Harry Hilden, 14 years old, is believed to come near holding the record for one of his age as a lifesaver. When young Hilden yesterday went to the rescue of Theodore Ryan, aged 12, after the latter had twice sunk beneath the waters of Biloxi bay, it was the fifth time that he had saved a person from drowning.

Spot Holders Not Drawn In. Southern buyers indicated that primary holders of spot cotton were not following the decline in futures. This feature of the situation, combined with the better showing of the Liverpool market, was an encouragement to re-maturing bulls.

After the first burst of forced liquidation the market rallied on covering and a renewal of bull support, with March selling at 15.50 and May at 15.52 or about a bale from the lowest.

INCOME TAX LAW TEST IS STARTED

Ohio Man Begins Suit on the Ground That It Is Unconstitutional.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 11.—Suit to test the constitutionality of the federal income tax upon corporations was begun in United States circuit court yesterday by Lewis W. Jarch of Chicago. Jarch, who is a stockholder in the American Multiplex company, a $5,000,000 concern, and directs his petition against the company itself.

CLASH OVER THE MILITIA FUNDS

Republicans and Democrats in Contest During Debate on Army Bill.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Terminating the approved policy of economy of the Taft administration as a "political exigency" which would not prove to be an economy in the long run, one topic of interest that brought about much discussion was that of catarrh, its rapid increase and results.

Now You Need Not Suffer From Catarrh

(From Vienna Abendpost.) At the recent convention held by the Physicians and Surgeons of Vienna, many present being men well known in the profession, one topic of interest that brought about much discussion was that of catarrh, its rapid increase and results.

Prof. Herman Von Scheit, a well known general practitioner, surprised those present with his experience with the disease, for a disease it is. He stated that in the past two years he has been able, through the use of a simple drug called vintox, to treat successfully almost every case that came under his care.

It seems that the vintox, according to Prof. Von Scheit, has already found its way to America and can be bought in any drug store.

Mr. Hay said the administration did not really mean to reduce its expenditures permanently, but that if it did the economy would not be a citizen's duty, upon whom the country would have to rely if it got into trouble. An amendment by Representative Mann of Illinois reduced the bill. The result of the vote was 110-100, in the interest of economy. It was opposed by Representatives Knapp of New York, Prince of Illinois, Kahn of California, Craig of Alabama and Sulzer of New York.

Representative Sherley of Kentucky favored the reduction, declaring that the millions could get better and cheaper instruction in the art of war by having them taught by regulars. The vote was 110-100, in the interest of economy. It was opposed by Representatives Knapp of New York, Prince of Illinois, Kahn of California, Craig of Alabama and Sulzer of New York.

THREE KILLED AND TWO HURT IN AUTO WRECK.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 11.—Three men were killed and two others injured, one seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a street car here yesterday. The automobile was wrecked and the street car badly damaged. The dead are William Garner, 21; Frank George, 21; Harold E. George, 19.

W. P. George, father of the dead brothers, and an automobile dealer, were slightly injured and P. S. Gable, the driver, was seriously injured.

IN PETROSINO MURDER.

Police Make Murder Charge Against Alleged Counterfeiter.

New York, Jan. 11.—Giuseppe Lapo, "The Wolf," and Giuseppe Morello, who, the police say, were the brains of the plot that ended in the assassination of Police Lieut. Petrosino in Palermo, Italy, were arraigned in the United States district court yesterday by fourteen alleged confederates, charged with wholesale counterfeiting.

"Within six months the gang, has turned out $500,000 in spurious Italian money," said Assistant District Attorney Smith. "This is the biggest round-up of counterfeiters in the history of the country."

Four men have been convicted of murder in Italy and sentenced to eighteen years there. He is a fugitive from justice. Morello has been convicted of forgery in Italy and sentenced there for five years. He is a habitual criminal.

Judge Hough fixed bail for the principals at $15,000 each and their alleged accomplices at $5,000 each. The men in the minor prisoners succeeded in finding $5,000 bail and were released. The others spent the night in the toms.

KLEIN PLAY AT LYCEUM

"The Third Degree" Pleases First Night Audience in Duluth.

Strong Drama, Exposing Police Methods, Opens Week's Engagement.

Charles Klein has written three successful dramas, each more intense than the last—"The Lion and the Mouse," "The Music Master" and "The Third Degree." Until last night "The Lion and the Mouse" was the only one of the trio that Duluth had seen.

The audience left no doubt as to its approval of every act and action in Klein's tense drama, and of Miss Fernanda Eliseu's intelligent impersonation of the crude, but appealing, Annie. The Klein play is one of the most

The statue was the work of Andrew O'Connor of Paris. It is seven feet in height. The figure is clad in the uniform of a major general of the United States.

Governor Marshall paid a glowing tribute to Gen. Wallace. In the course of his speech Governor Marshall declared the apparent passing of patriotism among Americans.

The earlier history of the republic, he said, "brought wars so closely together as to keep alive the flaming spirit of patriotism. But time has elapsed since '61, and stories which thrilled our fathers, as told by the lips of participants, have now, for the most part, been replaced by the dry, cold facts of history. And yet there remains, as a hopeful sign of the age, the fact that a nation is not lost in the spirit of commercialism so long as the people do not forget the great admiration men whose sole claim to greatness has been their fidelity to the selling and the getting of gain into themselves."

No Comment for Fortunes. The governor drew attention to the fact that the statue was erected by an admiring people to men who had amassed great fortunes by their claims to greatness by their exercise of great financial sense.

hen, who is 42 years old and a married man, Cohen was seated in an adjoining room reading. All three were taken to the Chicago avenue police station—the frightened girl, her dog and an officer.

Admits Her Identity. The writer at first protested against arrest. He soon admitted his identity, however, and Miss De Janon, sobbing bitterly, pleaded with the authorities to restore her to her parents.

Defendants were on their way to Chicago today to return the girl to her grandfather and to bring Cohen here to face a charge of abduction.

According to Mr. Buist's attorney the prosecution will provide a severe penalty for the girl's taking away of another person for the purpose of profit or any personal motive. Counsel declared today that Cohen, he held under the law, even if he is able to prove that the girl consented to accompany him, because of his undue influence over her and the great disparity in their ages.

Mrs. Cohen says she will stick to her husband. She says she has no sympathy for the girl, but she says she wanted an escapee and chose her husband to accompany her.

Will Stick to Him. "He was a loving and faithful husband," said the girl today, "and I am going to stick to him till death do us part."

She refused to say whether she will remain with the husband, but she said she would not leave him.

Mr. Buist and Miss De Janon for the alienation of her husband's affections for which she engaged counsel last week.

When they arrived in Chicago, according to the girl's statement, they had only $100 between them and she gave Cohen the money to pay for a ticket to get money on which they could live. They discovered the publication of their pictures in the papers. The girl said she had been in the city for a long time.

Miss De Janon admits that she will be glad when the Philadelphia authorities arrive to take her back home. She says she is perfectly willing to return to her home, and go back to school.

It is likely the girl will leave for Philadelphia tomorrow. Word was received by the police that detectives will arrive in Philadelphia and probably will arrive here tonight.

The girl said today that if court proceedings were begun against Cohen, that she would be his chief defender. She was emphatic in her declarations that the elopement was in no way to blame.

If they start court action against Fred, I'll certainly go to his defense. He has done nothing amiss. I will always defend Fred," she said.

Wants to Give Him Money. Miss De Janon declared that her chief desire was to eliminate future trouble and return to her grandfather. To Inspector Wheeler she related the story of her travels, reiterating that her relations with Cohen had never been otherwise than those between father and daughter.

I will promise never to have anything more to do with Mr. Cohen," said Miss De Janon. "I will try to give him some money if my grandparents will allow it. Mr. Cohen told me that he had given his wife $200 before we started on our trip. I would like to see his wife well provided for."

Has Aged Before. This is not the first time I have run away from home. When I was 12 years old, and living with my mother at Clinton, N. Y., I ran away to go to my father, who was in New York city. I only reached Utica, when I was caught and sent back home.

A man who gave his name as W. J. Burns called on Miss De Janon and said he was representing her grandfather, Robert Buist. He was with her for some time.

Charge d'affaires of the Turkish embassy, and W. H. Andrews, delegate from New Mexico.

The statue was the work of Andrew O'Connor of Paris. It is seven feet in height. The figure is clad in the uniform of a major general of the United States.

Governor Marshall paid a glowing tribute to Gen. Wallace. In the course of his speech Governor Marshall declared the apparent passing of patriotism among Americans.

The earlier history of the republic, he said, "brought wars so closely together as to keep alive the flaming spirit of patriotism. But time has elapsed since '61, and stories which thrilled our fathers, as told by the lips of participants, have now, for the most part, been replaced by the dry, cold facts of history. And yet there remains, as a hopeful sign of the age, the fact that a nation is not lost in the spirit of commercialism so long as the people do not forget the great admiration men whose sole claim to greatness has been their fidelity to the selling and the getting of gain into themselves."

No Comment for Fortunes. The governor drew attention to the fact that the statue was erected by an admiring people to men who had amassed great fortunes by their claims to greatness by their exercise of great financial sense.

hen, who is 42 years old and a married man, Cohen was seated in an adjoining room reading. All three were taken to the Chicago avenue police station—the frightened girl, her dog and an officer.

Admits Her Identity. The writer at first protested against arrest. He soon admitted his identity, however, and Miss De Janon, sobbing bitterly, pleaded with the authorities to restore her to her parents.

Defendants were on their way to Chicago today to return the girl to her grandfather and to bring Cohen here to face a charge of abduction.

According to Mr. Buist's attorney the prosecution will provide a severe penalty for the girl's taking away of another person for the purpose of profit or any personal motive. Counsel declared today that Cohen, he held under the law, even if he is able to prove that the girl consented to accompany him, because of his undue influence over her and the great disparity in their ages.

Mrs. Cohen says she will stick to her husband. She says she has no sympathy for the girl, but she says she wanted an escapee and chose her husband to accompany her.

Will Stick to Him. "He was a loving and faithful husband," said the girl today, "and I am going to stick to him till death do us part."

She refused to say whether she will remain with the husband, but she said she would not leave him.

Mr. Buist and Miss De Janon for the alienation of her husband's affections for which she engaged counsel last week.

When they arrived in Chicago, according to the girl's statement, they had only $100 between them and she gave Cohen the money to pay for a ticket to get money on which they could live. They discovered the publication of their pictures in the papers. The girl said she had been in the city for a long time.

Miss De Janon admits that she will be glad when the Philadelphia authorities arrive to take her back home. She says she is perfectly willing to return to her home, and go back to school.

It is likely the girl will leave for Philadelphia tomorrow. Word was received by the police that detectives will arrive in Philadelphia and probably will arrive here tonight.

The girl said today that if court proceedings were begun against Cohen, that she would be his chief defender. She was emphatic in her declarations that the elopement was in no way to blame.

If they start court action against Fred, I'll certainly go to his defense. He has done nothing amiss. I will always defend Fred," she said.

Wants to Give Him Money. Miss De Janon declared that her chief desire was to eliminate future trouble and return to her grandfather. To Inspector Wheeler she related the story of her travels, reiterating that her relations with Cohen had never been otherwise than those between father and daughter.

I will promise never to have anything more to do with Mr. Cohen," said Miss De Janon. "I will try to give him some money if my grandparents will allow it. Mr. Cohen told me that he had given his wife $200 before we started on our trip. I would like to see his wife well provided for."

Has Aged Before. This is not the first time I have run away from home. When I was 12 years old, and living with my mother at Clinton, N. Y., I ran away to go to my father, who was in New York city. I only reached Utica, when I was caught and sent back home.

A man who gave his name as W. J. Burns called on Miss De Janon and said he was representing her grandfather, Robert Buist. He was with her for some time.

Announcement

To Our Friends and Patrons:

We wish to express thanks to former pupils and friends for the very liberal patronage they have extended in the past, and to respectfully announce the opening of the winter term Monday evening, Jan. 10th, at 8 p. m.

OUR METHOD Our method is so scientific, yet simple, that we can positively guarantee to teach all to dance who may enter our classes or money refunded.

REVERSE AND GLIDE WALTZ Teaching the waltz with the reverse is our specialty. If you have tried to learn from other teachers without success, come to us; with our system, we assure our pupils that they will learn to waltz, and become graceful dancers, as our methods are practical.

All class instruction will embrace preparatory exercises conducive to health, etiquette and grace, such as are essential to graceful dancing and fitting the pupils for a successful debut in fashionable society.

Juvenile Class Opening, Saturday, Jan. 22

at 3 o'clock p. m. It is of the greatest importance that parents send their children to a dancing academy, where they can begin with an experienced teacher, one who has had the necessary schooling for the discharge of the important duties, which are demanded of an instructor of today.

All young people when entering society, are more or less subject to embarrassment, and without preparatory instructions, have an indefinable sense of awkwardness. Only practice will give that confidence and health, which are necessary to a graceful and easy entrance. We look with much pride upon the fact that not a single pupil has ever left or been withdrawn by reason of dissatisfaction.

APPLICATION Pupils may enter at any time. Applications for membership should be made previously to commencement of admission, and must be shown to the doorkeeper each time of attendance, and will only admit to the class for which it is issued. Visitors not admitted to adult classes, other than parents. Parents are invited to attend all classes of which their children are members.

PRIVATE LESSONS For those desiring to learn dancing in the shortest time possible, we advise private lessons. Appointments may be made afternoon or evening.

ADVANCED CLASS Will be formed Tuesday evening, Jan. 18, at 8 p. m. Special rates for this class upon application.

TUITION For ten days only, twelve class lessons for $5.00. Special attention to out-of-town pupils.

cial mention of the Pinchot case would not be made in any of the resolutions to come before the association, in his annual address.

"Just Police Stealing." "The great system of making a tariff bill is a game of police theft," declared H. A. Jastro, retiring president of the association, in his annual address.

"The representatives of one interest assure the representatives of other interests that if you will let us have our way in the way of duties we will treat you likewise. The only science of method involved is to get all they want."

"The widespread dissatisfaction with the farcical revision of the tariff last summer," continued Mr. Jastro, "the well-grounded and growing belief on the part of the consuming public that the favor of the protective system were unequally distributed and were in many instances fostering gigantic monopolies has, we believe, inspired new life into the proposition to have our tariff laws and duties investigated by a non-partisan commission."

Tariff and Cost of Living. "The American people are looking to the tariff as one of the potent causes of the increased cost of living. They do not believe that a great many of the well-grounded and growing belief on the part of the consuming public that the favor of the protective system were unequally distributed and were in many instances fostering gigantic monopolies has, we believe, inspired new life into the proposition to have our tariff laws and duties investigated by a non-partisan commission."

MORE TIME AND MORE FACTS WANTED BY COMMITTEE

All Favor Plans for Suburban Road But Want Further Statistics.

"Should Be Everybody's Fight Not One Committee's," Says J. L. Washburn.

"The time has passed when you can incorporate rainbows in Duluth," said J. L. Washburn to the members of the public affairs committee, last evening, during a discussion of the plans of the Duluth Garden company. "I can remember the time when if you started a rumor that two Chinamen were going to open a clothesline factory to employ two men and three girls, it would increase the value of the land around it, $100 an acre. But those days are past, and if you are going to raise $200,000 in these days, you have to show the people the facts. I am not satisfied with the way you have left this matter."

Mr. Washburn's speech came just as the meeting was about to adjourn, and after the committee, following an informal discussion of the favorable report of the sub-committee on the plans of the company suggested by John G. Williams, had approved the report and left it up to the chairman of the committee to appoint a sub-committee to assist in selling stock in the proposed corporation.

On a motion by Mr. Washburn the committee reconsidered its action, continued the sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. E. J. Hawkes and George E. Hawkes, instructed it to get further facts regarding the cost of construction, operation and maintenance of the proposed suburban road, instructed John G. Williams to secure an extension of the option on the land it is proposed to buy, and instructed the sub-committee to report back once more to the general committee, giving detailed facts and statistics prepared by an expert if necessary, when a number of the committee will be appointed to actively push the sale of the stock.

Sentimental Favorite.
The sentiment at the meeting last evening was wholly favorable and the only dispute was regarding the best method of carrying out the plans. After a long and somewhat futile discussion, which involved almost every feature of the subject from the kind of rails to the question of running the cars over the lines of the Duluth Street railway, the motion to endorse the plan, and appoint a committee to assist in selling stock was carried. Then Mr. Washburn's little speech.

"I don't like the way you are leaving it," said Mr. Washburn. "You are shifting the entire burden on the shoulders of one little committee, when we ought to have a committee of facts and statistics, and all make it our fight. If you can't carry it with one-half the zeal the Y. M. C. A. did, your stock will be overvalued."

Mr. Washburn's sentiments were expressed earlier in the evening by Henry N. Nott.

"I believe the plan is a good one," said Mr. Nott, "but the bulk of your money will have to come from the bank and file, and they will have to be shown."

Mr. Williams explained the purchase of the so-called "More tract" of land, which the Jean Du Luth company is holding at $50 an acre. He stated that it was the best tract of land within twenty miles of Duluth. He said that he could not secure an option on it for the proposed company, and the only possible sale was to buy it, the lowest price at which it could be secured, being $50 an acre. The company does not have to take it, said Mr. Williams. "The Jean Du Luth company is willing to take it at that price. There is not a better tract of land anywhere about Duluth than the More tract."

The report of the sub-committee was as follows:
To the Chairman and Members of the Public Affairs Committee—Your committee to whom was assigned the duty of investigating the proposed plan to purchase a tract of land, clear and prepare the same for market, gardening, furnishing transportation by means of electric or other railway, bog leave to submit the following report:

"We believe that the recent discussion of the proposed plan for market gardens and the fitness of our soil, climate, etc., have made the subject so plain as to require no comment from us."

"We are aware that any proposition of this kind, involving the investment of a large sum of money contributed by citizens primarily for the general good of the community, is often open to the criticism that other and private interests, in this case the owners of adjacent lands, may be benefited without adequate contribution to the risk and expense involved."

The suggestion made by us hereafter, in this report should disarm such criticism and practically put all interests on an equitable basis.

"The lands offered are in sections 25 and 26, 51-11, and sections 19 and 20, 51-12, comprising about 500 acres inside and about 1,200 acres outside the city limits. These lands seem to us desirable for the purpose. They are far enough away from Lake Superior to be sheltered from the cold winds, thus insuring early spring opening, and near enough to be well within the local rain belt caused by that body of water. The soil is excellent and free from stone. This is probably the only region near Duluth where so large a solid body of land suitable for the purpose can be obtained."

"Valuation put upon these lands by the committee of appraisers of the Duluth real estate board, at our request, is:

400 acres in section 25, 51-14 at $20,000
800 acres in sections 19 and 20, 51-12 at $27,000 or an average of about $50 an acre.
"They are offered to us at:
500 acres inside city limits at $30
1,300 acres outside city limits at $50 or an average price of about $40 per acre.
"The cost of fitting this land for gardening is as follows:
Cost of raw land, per acre $60
Cost of preparation $10
Excess of interest, per acre 15
Cost of roads, taxes, general expenses, etc., 50
Total cost, land operations, acre $175
"We believe the item of $50 per acre for preparation of the land and $15 per acre for excess of interest paid over that received from sales contracts, to be outside figures and we feel sure that the item of $50 per acre for all other expenses, outside of building the railway, has a good margin of safety."

From best sources of information, we estimate the cost of the suburban railway, about seven and one-half miles, with gasoline equipment to be $200,000. It would cost about $20,000 additional to electrify it.
"We believe that these lands fitted for gardening, with necessary roads and lines and the suburban railway in operation, can be sold to average $300 per acre.
"Allowing 100 acres for waste land, of which there is very little in this tract, and for waste in roads, etc., the company could sell:
1,700 acres at $200 $340,000.00
Deduct cost, 1,800 acres at $175 $315,000.00
Leaving profit on land operations $25,000.00
"Deducting from this the cost of the railway, $30,000, would leave an expected profit of $15,000 in cash, besides the railway.
"There are about 1,050 acres of adjoining lands whose owners are willing to sell to the proposed company at the same prices as the proposed purchase, taking their pay entirely in stock at par. Should these lands be included, the profit would be proportionately larger.
"On some of the proposed lands there is timber, which, rightly handled, should produce considerable revenue. Your committee has chosen to disregard this, partly because they lack estimates, but mainly because they prefer to lean to the side of safety.
"As to the earnings and cost of operation of proposed railway, your committee has no data on which to base estimates. There will be a small amount of business from the start, and the growth of this will depend entirely upon the progress made by the proposed company and other land owners in disposing of their lands.
"We, therefore, for the purpose of eliminating this uncertainty and for the further purpose of having all lands benefited by the proposed enterprise, make equitable contribution thereto, recommend that it be made a condition of this proposition that the owners of such lands to be so benefited, guarantee to make up annually, for the period of five years from the completion of the proposed railway, any deficiency that may exist between the gross earnings and the cost of operation and maintenance and interest on the cost of construction and equipment.
"With the adoption of our last suggestion, and because of the absolute necessity that the cost of living in Duluth must be reduced, and as we believe this proposition is at least a step in the right direction, we have no hesitancy in recommending to the general committee that it use its best influence in furthering the same. Submitted,
"E. J. HAWKES,
"GEORGE E. HAWKES,
"Committee."

A Sprained Ankle.
As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches in two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is often two or three months before he is fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, as by applying Chamberlain's Liniment, as directed, a cure may as a rule be effected in less than one week's time, and in many cases within three days. Sold by all druggists.

WOMAN PASSES FOR MAN FOR THIRTY-FIVE YEARS.
Montreal, Jan. 11.—The warden of the jail has discovered that a person committed last week under the name William Dubois, 55 years old, is a woman. She admitted having masqueraded as a man for thirty-five years, most of time gaining her living as a deckhand on lumber barges. "William" is now in the infirmary of the jail, wearing a skirt, which she finds most awkward.

IS TRYING TO GET HER HUSBAND OUT OF PRISON.
New York, Jan. 11.—"I will devote my entire time to freeing my husband," Mrs. Charles W. Morse declared today. Mrs. Morse is back at her home on Fifth avenue from a visit to her husband, who is in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. She intends, she says, to invoke every possible legal means to secure the former banker's release.
"It is known, of course, that a petition will be made for executive clemency if all other means fail," said Mrs. Morse, "but there are other legal methods to be tried to get Mr. Morse free, and I want to consult Mr. Morse's attorney, Martin W. Littleton, about them."

Mr. Littleton has been out of town for several days on professional business, but is expected to return soon to consult with Mrs. Morse as to the next steps to be taken in the fight for Morse's freedom.

CONCEALING WOMAN.

If you had been born in Roumania and your name was Fernand Eliscu and you had made a success on the American stage, wouldn't you consider that you had a right to be very temperamental?

It seems almost too bad that with such a good start Fernand Eliscu, who is attracting most interested attention by her acting in "The Third Degree," should be so unaffectedly natural and direct. She is a most interesting looking young person. Although born in Roumania, she calls herself an American, having lived here since she was eight years old, and she has not returned since her first coming to this country. She has the dark eyes and the intense black hair and the skin that would mark her as from Southern Europe. Her hair was dressed in a low, broad style that was quite individual and her collarless gown was of a deep red. In the dusk of the sparring parlor she talked in an interested manner as if she didn't want to hurry to her dinner and prepare for her evening performance of "The Third Degree."

Miss Eliscu began her interview with a geography lesson. She undertook to tell where Roumania was and also is.
"Up here," she said, marking it off on her dull red map with the hotel key,
"is Russia. Down here you have Germany and Austria. And over there is France. Then here you have little Serbia and here is Roumania. It is best shaped, too, like Italy. On this side is the Black Sea."
Now, why can't educators be reasonable and make geography simple and interesting like this?

If you could talk Italian and French together, at one and the same time, that would sound something like Roumanian. Although, of course, it wouldn't be. It would just sound like it. There are more Roumans in Rou-mania than there are in America, said Miss Eliscu, in the purest kind of English, in spite of her cautious eyes, com-punctuous black hair and interesting face.

Psychology interests Miss Eliscu, as she could tell her interest her after playing "The Third Degree."
"You know," she said, "that my sister says that all the wickedness, or what people call wickedness, is simply mis-directed energy. The energy is there, impulse within them and no way of finding expression so they simply do something, and often it may be something that society frowns upon. But really, it is simply the human demand for expression. Why, I know," said Miss Eliscu, warning to her subject, "one year I was playing a one-act play, a part that I loved to play. I would save myself out of it. I was waiting for the performance, and when I came to let myself out I had so much to say that I got rid of the energy I had stored up."

Street. New officers will be elected and the program for next year will be discussed. An attendance of all the members is desired.

MISS LAURA FRANKFIELD.

Miss Laura Frankfield has returned to Duluth and is the guest of her parents at 205 East Third street for a time. Miss Frankfield resigned from the support of Daniel Sully and closed her engagement with him Saturday last week. Mr. Sully has this year been playing "The Game" and in his support, Miss Frankfield has received the most favorable press notice. The Brooklyn Daily Eagle wrote of her performance: "Laura Frankfield, who enacts the role of the dissipated wife, has a hard part which she plays skillfully."
The Providence Evening Tribune said: "Miss Sully receives good support from Laura Frankfield as Louise Mayo. Miss Frankfield in the final act gives a vivid impersonation of a fallen woman who returns to her old home to be forgiven. Her rapid changes from the repentant mother to the debauched woman under the stress of emotion reveal her excellent dramatic capabilities."
Miss Frankfield will rest for the remainder of the season. Her plans are almost complete for next season, when she will head an Ibsen company under an Eastern manager. Miss Frankfield is intensely interested in the work of Ibsen and has been appearing in his plays in the work of the modern dramatist. A company in which Miss Frankfield played Mrs.
Alving in "Ghosts," held the record for American performances. Last year she played Ase with Louis James in "Peer Gynt." She will play in stock in Brooklyn next season.

The idea of a double wedding had arisen with Melinda when she received a letter from her approaching marriage to Frank Bacon on the 25th of the following month.
"Why, Joe and I are to be married on the 25th," screamed Melinda, ecstatically. "Why not have a double wedding? Twin brides in twin costumes—and the bridegroom in a double suit."
So Melinda sat right down and wrote Melinda and Melinda wrote back to Bacon, and the girls' eyes were bright. If all the parties thereto had known the trouble, the double wedding would have been a disaster.
It had been arranged that not only was there to be a double wedding, but a double, or joint, honeymoon. The two young couples were to go away together and skim the cream of the joy life.

THEIR MIXED HONEYMOON
By W. G. Perly.
(Copyrighted. All rights reserved.)
The trouble began the moment of the wedding ceremony. The brides were so near alike that a buzz of surprise went up from the assembled guests as the wedding party entered.
To be sure, everybody knew they were twins, but they had not lived together since their parents separated earnestly upon the ears and further reproved, thusly:

"Mr. Persons, you brute, how dare you? I shall tell Mrs. Persons of your conduct."

Poor Persons fled, only to run right into Bacon, who, flushed and excited, asked him to follow him to the bar, where he ordered a highball and said:
"I owe you an apology, old man. I just run into your wife down in the rustic seat, and, confound it, I thought it was Melinda, and I leaned over the back of the seat and kissed her. She is crazy about it, and threatens to have you shoot me on sight. Confound it, old man, the two girls look so internally alike—from a distance, of course, that I reckon you will understand."

"Yes, I understand," replied Persons, looking green. "In fact, I just—well, never mind, it's all right, old man, no offense."
These occurrences multiplied until the two men grew to wear a hunted look and to await always for their wives to take the initiative.
All might have gone well, however, had not a fire broken out in the hotel, which necessitated their changing their quarters. This happened while the gentlemen were off on a trip to Buffalo, and of which they did not learn until they returned late at night.
They were told by the clerk and the keys of the new rooms assigned them, and they sat staring blankly at each other, and then, as they entered their rooms, were thrown down in front of them with that splendid careles-ness characteristic of his master of the hotel counter. Oh, hotel clerk, hotel clerk, the tragedies and horrors and embarrassments that are caused by thy unthinking blunders.

The two gentlemen went to their darkened rooms, which were at opposite ends of the hall on the same floor.
Some minutes passed, when the door of 483 opened and Persons, in dis-happily, shot out of the door carrying a very necessary garment or two, and followed by a volley of shrieks. As he dashed madly down the hall he ran plump into Bacon clad similarly, and he also was hurled as many garments and of the same description.
The shock threw both to the floor, and they sat staring blankly at each other other there was waiting for their ears systolic shriek from opposite ends of the hall.
"What is the matter?" asked Persons, rubbing his head.
"Four hundred and five," replied Bacon, savagely. "Four hundred and five."
"Four hundred and eighty-three."
They sneaked softly to the respective rooms and all slept long there was a buzz of low but earnest conversation at the two ends of the hall on the fourth floor.
But that settled it.
"I go home today," said Persons, setting his teeth in the manner which means his own mind. "I am going when they say it. The women hold the key to the situation in such a manner that it is impossible."
"We leave today, too," replied Bacon, with an expression which always made judges on the bench listen to his arguments. "I tag my wife and go home. And after I get home I am going to have her tattooed."

They parted, each with friends and hushed at the complications as a good joke, and promised to visit each other husbands, however, with a mental reservation.
In it, it is, however, now and then, Persons in Omaha and Bacon in St. Paul, will pause, look out of the window with a faraway expression, and wonder.

to Form a Big Combination.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 11.—Thomas W.
Lawson of Boston, who came here to outline a plan to the Burley Tobacco society by which he and his associates would handle the 1909 pooled crop of tobacco, left here today for Boston.
The Burley society officials expected the financier to purchase the crop outright, but he said he and his associates had his plan for forming a great combination in hand and drop in opposition to the American Tobacco company.

It won't cost you as much to buy a really good piano as to buy a cheaply made, stenciled brand—if you go to the right place to buy it. We can save you from $125 to $175 on a reliable piano.

French & Bassett DULUTH, MINN.

This is Your Chance To Buy a Piano at a Bargain

We have several splendid piano bargains left from the dozens that were sold just before Christmas. Some of these arrived here too late to go into this sale—we are able to offer these now at special bargain prices—we want to move them before inventory time and the prices will certainly do it. These are genuine bargains in pianos—you can't touch them anywhere else in the city.
Come in and see for yourself—it will pay you to buy now if you want a piano. Just look this list over:

A $350 Piano for $195

This is a bona fide price reduction. You couldn't buy this piano in any store ordinarily for less than $350. It has a handsome walnut case—very massive—finely finished. Has a good tone and action, and would be a snap at even $250. We will sell it for $195. Easy terms if you like—ten dollars cash and six dollars a month. It won't take long to pay for it. Guaranteed for ten years.

$500 Mahogany Cased Piano for $325

This is a beauty—handsomely figured polished mahogany case—Empire style top—very massive and will make a strikingly handsome addition to any room. Full tone, very fine action. Guaranteed for ten years. By buying this piano now you can save $175. Fifteen dollars cash—eight dollars a month.

$450 Fully Guaranteed Piano for $290

Large mahogany cased piano that is certainly a bargain. This instrument has a fine tone and action, is fully guaranteed. Case made of selected, finely grained wood. Every part fully up to standard.
You can pay ten dollars cash and we will send it to your home—balance $8.00 a month.

$400 Used Piano—Special at $175

This piano was used about a year—taken in exchange for a mahogany-cased instrument. This one has walnut case, in good condition, easily worth $225 as a bargain, but it goes on sale at only $175 certainly a snap for some one. Ten dollars cash and five dollars a month.

$225 Oak Cased Piano for Only $100

No greater piano bargain could be found. This instrument is in good condition—it has been used a year—has good tone and action.
We are glad to have you compare it with much higher-priced pianos.
Ten dollars cash and five dollars a month buys it.

Regular $375 Piano for $240

This piano is guaranteed for ten years. Large, very handsome walnut case, beautifully finished—the entire instrument in good construction, exquisite in tone and fine action. Here is a bargain piano, one you surely don't want to miss. Ten dollars in cash puts it in your home. Balance $8 a month.

$250 Walnut Cased Piano $125

A piano at half price. It is a medium-sized piano, well finished and well made—good tone and action and a snap at $125. Easy terms gladly arranged.

Have you adequate telephone facilities?

The value of telephone service is represented by what is accomplished. It is good business policy to provide lines enough and telephones enough to accommodate your business. A switchboard, even in a small office, generally requires no additional office force. Clerks who answer the telephone on the wall can do this even more conveniently at the small switchboards, which are placed on an ordinary desk. We suggest you look into your telephone requirements. See whether you cannot save money and make money by installing more lines and facilities adequate to your business. Extension telephones and additional lines cost but a trifle compared with their value. Can you afford not to put telephones on the desks of employees who use the service when the cost is less than three cents a day?

Bonspiel Will Be the Best Ever, Says J. H. Blackwood.

J. H. Blackwood, manager of the Northwestern curling club, believes that the competition that will begin tomorrow morning will furnish some of the best curling that has ever been witnessed in the Northwest.

An especially strong representation will come down from Winnipeg. The Cassidy rink of the Thistle Curling club, one of the strongest organizations in Canada, and known as the "Kid rink," will be seen here. All the members of the club are young fellows, yet the Cassidy rink is considered one of the strongest rinks in Western Canada.

The Granite Curling club will send a very strong rink down from Winnipeg, according to the information given Mr. Blackwood. The Assiniboine Curling club will also be represented by a strong rink. Falso and McDermid of the Stratford-Free Press will be here. Ruchon of the Leland hotel is considered one of the best curlers in the Northwest, will probably be seen here, although definite word has not been received from Mr. Ruchon.

The Winnipeg players will arrive in Duluth tomorrow morning. Mr. Blackwood says Winnipeg will have one of the strongest representations that the Canadian metropolis has ever sent to a bonspiel that was held outside of Winnipeg.

In addition to the rinks coming from Winnipeg, Raby River, Ont., will send Arthur, who will have two or three rinks. Arthur will have two or three rinks. Phillips, Wis., will also send a rink. Information received from the Twin Cities says St. Paul will have four rinks in the play here and Minneapolis at least three rinks. The famous Bob Dunbar of St. Paul, without whom no bonspiel would seem complete, will be here.

TRUNK SEWER NEARLY FINISHED

Within a week work on the laying of the main trunk of the Polk street sanitary sewer will have been completed, leaving only the branch sewer, extending south across Raleigh street to the Northern Pacific right-of-way and then in a westerly direction following the Northern Pacific tracks as far as Sixty-third avenue west, to be finished. The branch sewer will start from Fifty-seventh alley and Polk street.

The concrete work of the Polk street sewer has been completed. From the bay front at the foot of Main street to Fifty-seventh alley, following Polk street, the sewer is constructed of a 20-inch concrete pipe. From Fifty-seventh alley the sewer extends on to the intersection of Sixty-third avenue and west and Grand streets. Polk street is laid with an 18-inch pipe.

When the other sewer is built some time during the spring, the specifications call for a 15-inch outlet sewer. Many West Duluth people have complained that the outlet sewer is too small and will be entirely inadequate to be used for a storm sewer. Alderman W. B. Getchell, who has been the council member in charge of the sewer, has ordered it that a sanitary sewer was all that could be authorized without a petition from the property holders.

In case there is a storm sewer needed in that section of the city, said Alderman Getchell, "it will have to be separate from the sanitary sewer now in construction, because the outlet is altogether too small for the purpose." At the time that the sewer was ordered, it was impossible to get a petition signed by the property holders for a storm sewer.

The contract for the construction of the sewer was let to George T. King, who is now working on it. It is thought that the sewer will be completed some time during the early summer.

Joint Installation. West Duluth Court No. 177 and Court of the nearest York No. 225 of the Independent Order of Foresters held a joint installation last evening. The installation was held at the home of the high chief ranger, who was assisted by Supreme Deputy McLean.

The officers installed were: West chief ranger, John Peterson, vice chief ranger, A. A. Campbell, recording secretary, Louis Christensen, financial secretary, W. J. Brown, treasurer, H. C. Brown, orator, Charles Zell, senior woodward, Ben. Groshock, senior woodward, J. E. Brotherton, junior woodward, Wm. Groshock, junior woodward, Graham, physician, C. J. Petruschko and John Nelson, court clerk.

After the installation the members of the lodges enjoyed the exact number of the lodge. The lodge was held at the home of the high chief ranger, who was assisted by Supreme Deputy McLean.

With the Curlers. Three games were curled last evening at the Western Curling club rink in the event for the Duluth curling club cup. Miller, detaching himself by a score of 10 to 5, McLean, detaching himself by a score of 10 to 5, and Wade putting it over on Hollander.

There will be a number of practice games this evening to prepare for the bonspiel. At least six rinks from the West Duluth club will be represented in the game. The game will be held at the home of the high chief ranger, who was assisted by Supreme Deputy McLean.

PERSONAL

D. O'Leary, a former resident of Duluth, last night of St. Paul, was in the city yesterday.

Arthur Herrick of 2905 Minnesota avenue is ill at St. Luke's hospital. W. J. O'Leary, a former resident of Duluth, last night of St. Paul, was in the city yesterday.

"Do It for Duluth." Mr. George A. Ingram, who for a number of years has been the advertising manager of the Duluth Herald, has accepted a position on the staff of the Mackintosh Advertising agency, who are located in the Torrey building.

This agency since its commencement, some seven months ago, has progressed wonderfully, owing to the quality of service which has been rendered. The agency is thoroughly equipped to handle the writing of all kinds of newspaper copy, the writing of attractive and successful booklets, and also exceptional facilities for the placing of national and local advertising.

They now have under way a number of highly successful campaigns, remarkable for freshness and vitality. The agency is now in the process of preparing a list of the names of the city's leading business men, who are to be the subject of a series of advertisements.

This Duluth Advertising agency is furnishing service in every way as good as can be procured, while the rates offered by it are in many cases lower than those of other agencies.

The law is in protection for producers and for himself or others. The machine determines the percentage of butter fat in the milk. The examinations will be continued tomorrow.

Opening Gun. The Democrats will fire the opening gun of the city campaign with a general open meeting at Sloan's hall in the West-end this evening. A call has been issued by C. E. Dief, president of the city Democratic club, to perfect an organization and to discuss the method of procedure.

Mrs. S. F. Boyce died this morning at her home, Sixteenth avenue east and London road, of Bright's disease. She has been ill a long time. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock from the Lester Park Methodist church. Interment will be at Elk River, Minn.

Mock Trial at High School. The Forum Debating society, has charge of a mock trial, which is being conducted at the high school. The first session was held yesterday afternoon and part of the trial was closed. Herbert Anderson is the defendant, charged with stealing articles from the public garden, and he is being tried by a jury. The following are the court officers: Gilbert Bates, attorney for the defense; Lloyd Green, sheriff; Royce, clerk; Ben Nelson, Abraham, deputy sheriff; Ben Nelson, the jurors are: George King, D. C. Phillips, Miss Patterson, J. Brackett, T. F. Phillips, J. C. Phillips, and Miss Bessie Shearer. The court will sit again tomorrow.

Bullock for Pinchot's Job? Washington, Jan. 11.—In casting about for a successor to Gifford Pinchot to head the forestry service, it was reported today that President Taft might offer the place to Seth Bullock, United States marshal for South Dakota. At the present time Albert F. Potter, designated as the acting head of the service, seems to be the leading candidate, but there are persistent rumors that the president may decide that an entirely new man might better reorganize the service.

Bullock is in many respects as close a friend of President Roosevelt as Mr. Pinchot. He was once the chief of the forest rangers in the Black Hills, and he is thoroughly familiar with the whole subject of forestry.

The political situation in South Dakota has been giving the president some concern of late, and Senators Crawford and Gamble have been frequent callers at the White House. Bullock has been designated for reappointment as marshal for South Dakota. His term expires this month.

Gets Thirty Days. John Manninen, arrested yesterday morning by Detectives Irvine and Secretary Fred Johnson, after an exciting chase from Lake avenue to the lake shore, got 30 days and costs of thirty days jail, in police court this morning. He was charged with vagrancy and had previously been given an opportunity to get out of town under suspension of sentence. He was paddling a piece of paper bearing the inscription in red ink that he was suffering from a bleeding lung and only wanted assistance until he could get work. He can't talk a word of English. Charles Miller, another "vag," got 30 days and costs of thirty days, with an opportunity to leave town before night. He is a young man who refuses to go to work.

Cattle Rustler Shot Dead. Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 11.—In a duel with the Canadian mounted police, south of Moose Jaw, today, Dutch Henry, a notorious cattle rustler, was shot dead. He has been a source of great trouble to the border officials for years, and his principal occupation, according to the officials, was running cattle across the border.

Fatal Fire in Atlanta. Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 11.—One man is dead and two others injured in a fire which is destroying the warehouse of the Georgia Railway & Electric company, near the union station here. Several other people are reported missing. A general alarm has been sounded and considerable railroad property is threatened in the heart of the city.

PROSECUTION IS ABOUT THROUGH

Defense to Have Inning During Afternoon in Jones Case.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prosecution in the case of the Jones bank wrecking case will probably rest this afternoon. Only witness left to be examined is Special Government Examiner Proctor, who has been investigating the situation at Rugby for some months.

The attorney for the defense is expected to attack the validity of the indictment the first thing after the prosecution rests and technical points will be raised in an effort to knock out the cases against Jones.

This forenoon was devoted almost exclusively to the cross-examination of Assistant Cashier Elstad of the First National Bank of Rugby. The attorney for the defense could not materially change his testimony. He has been on the stand for brief periods almost since the trial opened, and much of his testimony was in the form of an identification of the different notes.

CLAIM FURLONG HAS GAINED

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The delegates to the fifty-first annual meeting of the Minnesota Agricultural society, which began this morning in the house chamber at the capitol, will appoint their own credential committee.

This takes the 20-year-old power out of the hands of President E. F. Nelson, and is declared by certain delegates to be a victory for J. J. Furlong, who is contending with J. M. Underwood for the presidency of the society. The decision was reached after a spirited clash between the Furlong and Underwood forces.

TELLS LEGISLATURE TO FIND OUT WHY COST OF LIVING IS SO HIGH

State and Federal Laws Put in Question By Governor Harmon.

Buckeye State Lawmakers Are Directed to Find the Real Reason.

Joint Committee to Make the Investigation Is Suggested.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 12.—Governor Harmon sent to the legislature today a notable message concerning the high price of foodstuffs. He suggested that laws enacted by congress may be responsible in a measure for the trouble, and asks an investigation. The message follows:

HELD AWHILE AT CHICAGO

Roberta and "Fred" Will Be Transferred to Philadelphia Later.

Grandfather of Heiress Is Bitter Against the Elopement Waiter.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The departure of Roberta De Janon, the Philadelphia heiress, and Frederick Cohen, the waiter with whom she eloped, has been postponed until tomorrow, according to information given out by Detective Sergeant A. J. Egan, and James Scanlon of Philadelphia. It had been the intention of the detectives to leave here today, but they said that telegrams from Philadelphia had caused delay.

Desire of Miss De Janon's relatives to avoid a sensational reception of the elopers at Philadelphia is believed to be the reason for the delay. Sergeant Egan said:

"Mr. Bulst, Miss De Janon's grandfather, is bitter toward Cohen. The grandfather feels that Cohen is responsible for the girl's running away. Mr. Bulst has said he will spare no effort in prosecuting Cohen."

NINTH DISTRICT MAN WANTS TO BE AUDITOR

ROBERT J. WELLS.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert J. Wells of Breckenridge, a member of the Minnesota house of representatives since 1897 and one of the leaders of that body, today formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for state auditor. His home is in the Ninth district.

FIND "WHITE SLAVE" MART

Place Conducted for Regular Traffic Is Unearthed in New York.

Girls Are Said to Have Been Shipped Thence to Other Cities.

New York, Jan. 12.—A "white slave" market has been discovered as a result of the investigation by the grand jury of which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is the foreman.

Girls of tender age, it is alleged, are lured to a selling place on West Twenty-ninth street in this city and then shipped to Boston, Chicago and other cities. The district attorney is searching for the man who has controlled the market. George Kluge Turner, the magazine writer, gave Mr. Rockefeller the information on the question asked by Mr. Rockefeller whether there is a syndicate of girls in New York.

Statements of several girls have been taken and will be part of the grand jury's records. The police has taken into custody Paul Drinke, a waiter, and charged him with being a white slave agent. A 17-year-old girl furnished the complaint against him.

MILLER GETS MEN NAMED

He Declares Postoffice Department Has Changed Attitude Toward Him.

House Refuses to Concur in Senate's Land Office Resolution.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The ban placed on Representative Miller's postmaster recommendations has been lifted. This morning he received notice of the selection of three of his men for positions. They are: Andrew Kaiter, at Opstead; Charles J. Anderson at Keysey, and W. N. Canfield at Mesa.

The notification received by Mr. Miller of the postmaster general's purpose to accept the recommendations was most courteous in tone. Mr. Miller is at a loss to explain the changed attitude of the postoffice department authorities toward him, as he is still insisting. He accepts the situation and hopefully awaits a generous treatment.

The house today refused to concur in the senate amendments to the so-called Finchot-Bullinger resolution. The speaker named the following conferees: Representatives Baile, Pennsylvania, Smith, Iowa, and Fitzgerald, New York. The senate joint resolution is a compromise measure, the basis of which was the Jones-Humphrey resolution.

A portion of the resolution reported from the house committee on rules was incorporated in the measure, and this included all of that part which provided for the compulsory attendance of witnesses and the punishment of those who refused to obey the orders of the investigating committee. The resolution provides for the election of

CROOKSTON MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Superintendent Robertson of School of Agriculture Expires on Train.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. William Robertson, aged 50 years, head of the Crookston branch agricultural school and superintendent of the state experiment station, was found dead in his berth on a Great Northern train when it arrived in Minneapolis today.

Prof. Robertson was on his way to St. Paul to attend the meeting of the state agricultural society, and when he retired last night he spoke to friends who were with him of feeling unusually well. When the porter attempted to awaken him this morning the train had started for St. Paul and the body was taken from the train here. Coroner Armstrong viewed the body and announced that heart failure was the cause.

Prof. Robertson was widely known as an authority on agricultural matters. His brother, Edward Robertson, is president of the Wesleyan college in Grand Forks, N. D.

FIRST GAMES BEING PLAYED IN DULUTH'S ANNUAL BONSPIEL

Ice and Weather Are Perfect for the Opening Contests.

Morning Spent in Registering Rinks and Making the Laws.

Many Rinks Late in Arriving—"Bob" Dunbar Not Coming.

On ten of the most beautiful curling ice ever made at the Head of the Lakes and with weather conditions almost ideal, the seventeenth Annual Northwestern Curling bonspiel opened this morning at the rink of the Duluth Curling club.

Actual play began this afternoon, in the Duluth Curling club event. The morning was fully occupied in making the first draw and setting things in working order generally. E. G. Gridley of Duluth is playing A. F. Shirley of Minneapolis. E. Zant of West Duluth meets Donald Morrison of Winnipeg. R. McNeil of Duluth is trying to down G. B. Recal of Phillips, Wis. Alex McNeil of Duluth and Dr. G. Neil of Winnipeg and S. W. Richardson of Duluth are both after the first game. The other games being played in the evening committee of West Duluth vs. A. K. Smith of Superior. Roy Smith vs. E. Holland. W. G. Hall vs. E. N. Whyte.

The draw for tonight will be made late this afternoon.

Weather Warm. The weather is just a trifle warm. About 10 deg. colder would help wonderfully. Many men would repeat the trick played on the curlers during their last appearance in Zenith City. The ice just at present is in great shape. There are ten sheets in all, and Coroner Johnson is very proud of them. Additional lines have been added to the heads and a most artistic little hog den in red decorates the real hog line.

SAY FITZGERALD WAS DEFEATED

Storror's Managers Demand Recount in Election in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 12.—John F. Fitzgerald, electing to the majority is challenged today in petitions calling for a recount. The petitions are being circulated in all the twenty-five wards of the city. Storror's campaign manager asserts that when the several hundred votes that were challenged are passed upon, and that when alleged errors in tabulating are corrected, Storror will cut down his lead materially and may prove to be the winner.

Storror's managers assert that their figures show Fitzgerald's lead to be 189 instead of 191 votes. The recount probably will be held next week.

DENY HARRIS HAS QUIT BURLINGTON

Officials of Railroad Say Report Has No Truth in It.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Reports from Denver that President George B. Harris of the Burlington railroad had resigned and would be succeeded by Darius Miller, first vice president, were emphatically denied today by both President Harris and Vice President Miller.

"There is absolutely no truth in the report," said Mr. Miller. The resignation of Vice President Willard a short time ago possibly inspired the report.

AFTER KING MANUEL. Portuguese Police Say They Have Unearthed Big Plot.

Lisbon, Jan. 12.—In connection with the firing by sentries upon a group of men who were prowling around the Necessidades palace two nights ago and the arrest of a number of them, the police announce that they have discovered a widespread revolutionary conspiracy. Additional arrests have been made of the men supposed to be the ringleaders, and the police have seized large quantities of explosives, arms, masks and complete disguises.

Several of those in the hands of the authorities have confessed that they are members of secret societies banded together in a plot to overturn the government. Their exact plans have not been revealed, but the Lisbon newspapers declare that these included the assassination of King Manuel.

HENEY OPENS STATE'S CASE

Trial of Binger Hermann on Land Fraud Charges Is Begun.

Five Farmers Are Among the Jurors Selected at Portland.

Portland, Or., Jan. 12.—Francis J. Heney, in opening the prosecution of Former Congressman Binger Hermann, today spoke in part as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: We expect to prove that in 1901 it was known in Oregon that timber speculators were taking advantage of the creation of forest reserves by securing advance information as to what land would be included in the reserves, and by thereupon procuring a large number of patents to make applications for the school lands lying within the reserve and convey the aforesaid school lands to the speculators for small sums of money."

"At early as July, 1901, the time at which Binger Hermann became congressman of the general land office at Washington, Oregon newspapers published sensational articles explaining these frauds."

Conspiracy Is Charged. "In September, 1901, Hermann officially directed Ormsby, superintendent of forest reserves in Oregon, to investigate and make report upon the matter and send him the petitions secured by May and Ormsby."

Ormsby recommended the creation of a reserve to include 43,680 acres of (Continued on page 14, 7th column.)

Diplomats of Other Nations Recognize Value of Knox's Scheme.

Virtual Substitute for Hague Prize Court Has Great Advantages.

Washington, Jan. 12.—State department officials have received with much satisfaction during the last few days tidings leading them to believe that several of the principal powers of Europe are considering favorably Secretary Knox's proposal to the nations, looking for the establishment of a permanent international court of arbitration justice or court of peace. Although no formal or definite answers have been received to the joint note, diplomats here and abroad recognize the great importance of the proposition from an international peace standpoint.

In discussing the scope and jurisdiction of the proposed court, a state department official familiar with the plan explained today that it was not the intention to supplant the international prize court, established (Continued on page 14, fourth column.)

THE AGENTS' SIDE OF IT

Employment Men Say They Are Confused With Itinerant Interpreters.

Claim to Have No Connection With Exploitation of Greeks.

That an injustice has been done reputable employment agents by the assertions of some laborers that they have been exploited, is the assertion of George S. Richards, manager of the National Employment Agency. Mr. Richards, in discussing the situation, said today that for ten years he had had a standing reward of $50 for evidence of any illegal transaction, and that he would also pay the costs of prosecution.

"If any labor agency has been guilty of violating the city ordinance, which is extremely strict," said Mr. Richards, "I will see that its license is revoked. I think the reputable labor agent has been confounded with the itinerant interpreter and the shark labor agent who does business without a license."

The assertion that labor agents know foremen, and have a 'stand-in' with them, is ludicrous to one who understands the business. Managers of labor agencies have no time to go about the country looking up foremen. They do their job and seldom see the heads of the companies with whom they supply with labor.

Discussing the situation in general, Mr. Richards said: "It is a well-established fact that the employment office is a great convenience, both to the employer of labor and to the man seeking work; and at times when there is a heavy demand for labor, it becomes a necessity to both parties. For the employer, as it enables him to obtain what men he may need for his particular kind of work without the trouble and expense of going to labor centers, picking his men up one by one and sending them to work as he can get them. He can send his order to some reliable agency, which will get the men together and forward them to the work in a body, thus securing a full crew, ready for work without loss of time. For the employer, because when there is any work to be had, he can go to any responsible agency and, for a small fee, select such work as he may desire, and forward it to said work with a guarantee that the job is ready for him, at stated wages and under stated conditions, saving him the time and expense of traveling from place to place looking for work, with no certainty of getting it. In a great many instances, if he is short of money for the payment of his fare, the agency will advance same, he being charged with the work, thus enabling him to get to his work when otherwise he could not do so."

"Under the present law the employment agency pays an annual license of $100 and gives a surety bond of $2,000 for the proper and lawful management of his business. This bond is to protect both the employer and the employee against fraud or trickery on the part of the agent, such as misrepresentation of orders, charging excessive fees or sending applicants where no work is to be had. In all of which cases the injured party has recourse to the employment agency for execution of his orders, guaranteeing to the employer that the work will be done, on account of lack of consideration, consequently no responsibility for the protection of either the employer or employee."

In this class are other lines of business mistakes will happen and misunderstandings will arise, the effect of which, until they have been investigated, would lead one to think that the agent was a scoundrel. "In some instances when an employer has left an order in good faith, which the agent has filled in exactly good faith and sent the men to the work, they have found on their arrival that the camp is full, the camp foreman having hired sufficient men to do the work. Some of these men do not even have their tickets, but come back to the agent with the claim for return of the employment fee, which is very seldom refused, and also the amount of their fares and wages for the time they were gone. In other cases men go to the work, but for some reason, such as not being satisfied with the foreman, the food or the sleeping quarters or thinking the work to be too great a distance, they will stay a short time and come back, making some claim as the men who failed to find work. Men have been known to come back grossly incompetent to perform the work for which they are hired, although representing to the employer as first-class, experienced men for the position, and as the agent cannot be supposed to know personally all the men with whom he comes in contact, he must in most cases take the applicant's word as to his qualifications. The last named men will also frequently come back with all manner of claims which sound, until the matter has been investigated, as if the men had been grossly wronged, when the fact, in many instances, they have caused the employer considerable damage by reason of delay, at times stopping the work of whole crews."

Before an agent is condemned, each case should be thoroughly investigated, each side allowed to present its case, and the blame then placed where it justly belongs, as it seems hardly fair to take one side of the story and hold the agent as a thief and a trickster without a hearing.

The work of the employment offices has made Duluth the great labor center of the Northwest, attracting here a considerable army of working men who spend their money in the city, and making it necessary for a considerable number of the large employers of labor to come here for the transaction of business and in many instances to establish headquarters.

VERDICT FOR UNCLE SAM.

Joseph H. Newton Must Pay $479.20 for Timber Trespass.

When the case of the United States vs. Joseph H. Newton was called for federal court this morning, neither Mr. Newton nor his attorney was present. A jury was called, District Attorney C. C. Hought submitted his case and a verdict was returned in favor of the government, judgment being for $479.20. Newton's attorney, in a brief, moved for a new trial, on the ground that the jury had been tampered with by the defendant's attorney, who had been cut by him on Indian land near Roosevelt in that section. The interest was a big item, amounting to $22.50.

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Former Assistant Postmaster at Sandstone Accused of Embezzlement.

George Holm Said to Have Been $171 Short in His Accounts.

The federal grand jury this morning returned a partial report containing several indictments in offenses against the government. Only one of those indicted was arranged this morning, and that indictment was the only one made public.

George Thorwald Holm, formerly assistant postmaster at Sandstone, was indicted on a charge of embezzlement. It is claimed by the district attorney that when Holm's accounts were examined he was found to be $171 short. He was arrested and held to the grand jury. On his arraignment this morning he pleaded not guilty to the charge, and this afternoon his trial will begin.

It is expected that the grand jury will make a final report this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

The suit of the United States against Joseph H. Newton was the only one tried this morning. The next civil action on call is that of Arthur Niemi against the Buffalo & Squeakanna.

THE POLICE COURT GRIST

Vags are getting a short shift in the police court these days. If they will not get out of town or go to work, they get a stiff dose in the county jail. Three were arraigned this morning, and after entering pleas of guilty, were fined $50 and costs each or forty days in the jail over the hill.

Emil G. Hamer, a workman, waived examination on a warrant charging him with abusing Martha, a girl under 15 years of age. He has been boarding at the girl's home. He stated that he was not guilty. Bail was fixed at $150.

Thomas Smith and Emma Holmberg were arrested on Garfield avenue at 3:30 o'clock this morning, charged with a statutory crime. The woman's husband refused to swear out a complaint as required under the state laws in order to prosecute, and they were released.

Dan Halpin got up days straight to sober him up and Joseph Dineau, an old-timer, got $10 for his liberty, despite an eloquent plea for his liberty.

NO EVIDENCE TO WARRANT ARREST.

Frank Dryzarr, a laborer, caused Olaf Overby, a cook, to be brought to police headquarters this morning, claiming that he had robbed him of $100. Dryzarr stated that he fell asleep in a saloon at Grand Rapids, and Overby says that when he came into the place, the bartender and another man told him not to wake Dryzarr. The latter had his money in his trousers' pocket at that time, he told the police. When he got to Duluth he spent the remainder of his stake, about $20, for a good time and then went to the police with his claim. Overby was released.

Robert Ferguson, Sunday school, W. A. Pryor, publicity, Norman D. McCoud, evangelistic, Judge Edson, missionary, J. B. Curry.

Incidentally, he told an exceptional story of good treatment on the part of a man who had hired him to cook for him. Two brothers ran a camp, and both knew a cook was needed. By a coincidence, both hired Overby. When Overby reached the camp the other cook was on the job. Instead of firing Overby, however, they gave him $10 to pay his expenses back to this city.

Brotherhood Meets.
The Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church met last evening at the church parlors for an informal banquet and business meeting. Fifty members were present. The meeting was in charge of K. C. Hoxie, vice president in the absence of F. E. House, president of the Brotherhood. The following chairman of committees were appointed: Membership, T. F. Upham; program, G. H. Winchester; social, George Wilson; finance, George W. Buck; church services, Thomas Thorburn; visiting,

PREScription FOR KIDNEYS
The following prescription is the best obtainable for weak or deranged kidneys and bladder: "One-half ounce Murex compound, one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu, six ounces good pure gin." Take one to two tea-spoonfuls three times a day after meals. Any good druggist will furnish or mix these ingredients.

Pains in the back, rheumatic pains in joints, soreness in hips or groin, frequent or highly colored urination, dizziness, puffiness under the eyes, all indicate kidney and bladder trouble and should be promptly attended to, as dreaded Bright's disease or diabetes will surely follow.

The Greatest Economy Event of the Year!

The time when everybody may benefit by special price reductions. The time of the year when we are getting ready for the tremendous task of inventory taking. We want to reduce this great stock as much as possible—in order to do it we are offering you big price reductions, which mean actual savings of many dollars for you. Do your buying now—it's the time of the whole year to make big savings and to furnish your home with the very best.

Many New Things Put on at Half-Price A New Lot of Rare Bargains

The colors of some of the discount tags have changed from blue and yellow to white. This means things that were at thirty and forty off have been put on at half price. We intend to close out all odd pieces and discontinued patterns—they must be sold.

It will pay you to keep your eye on these changes—because they will be made as the closing days of the sale approach on things that we do not wish to carry over, broken sets, odd pieces, etc. Two big windows full of half-price things; many more inside. Look them over.

Every Home Should Profit By This Great Opportunity

It Pays to Buy at This Sale.

From such a wonderfully complete stock as this, it's an easy matter to select just what you want for your home—whether one piece or a hundred. Everything is reduced in price. What you buy here you are sure is of the very best.

We own our own store building. You'll find our regular prices are lower by quite a bit—than in stores where you are helping pay a big rent. When you get price reductions from originally low prices, it means more than price reductions where prices are high in the first place.

This store has a wide reputation for selling only the very best—you may choose from the newest, latest, finest made goods in the country. This is not a sale of cheap department store or catalogue house furniture.

Easy Terms During This Sale

You don't need to pay the full amount of your purchase in cash. By making a part cash payment down at time of purchase we will arrange easy terms for the balance of the amount. You can save the discounts just the same.

The Store Noted for Selling Only the Very Best

Most people realize that quality, workmanship and durable finish go a long way toward making up the things that always give best satisfaction. This store has long held the reputation for furnishing only the very best goods.

You can find in any ordinary furniture store the cheaply-made, poorly-finished things marked at what seem like bargain prices. They are not bargains, as those who buy them soon learn.

This great sale offers you your choice of the best made, highest grade lines of home furnishings on the market today. Price reductions all through this great stock. The discounts do not merely apply to a few pieces with special tags hung on. This is your opportunity. Buy your furniture now.

OBITUARY

Hiram Hubbard Rose, founder and president of the Colonial Trust & Savings bank, died in Chicago, Jan. 11. Mr. Rose was born in La Porte, Ind., in 1856, and was graduated from Harvard in 1879.

Gen. Rufus N. Rhodes, president and editor of the Birmingham, Ala., News, and a director of the Associated Press, died at his home in Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 12, from Bright's disease and arterial trouble.

Chief Charlot, aged 82, one of the hereditary chieftains of the Flathead nation, died at his private home near St. Ignace mission, Missoula, Mont., Monday. Charlot was, without doubt, the oldest living Flathead. He was for many years one of the advisers and directors of the destinies of the nation, and his wisdom as a ruler earned for him a wide reputation. To the efforts of the Flathead Indians under Charlot, more than to any other influence, Christianity owes its introduction into Montana. These Indians, in early days, hearing of the religion of the white man, sent a delegation of five to St. Louis to bring Jesuits to the state to teach them Christianity. It was through Charlot that the Flatheads were induced to give attention to farming.

LADIES' AUXILIARY OF HIBERNIANS INSTALL.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held its installation of officers last evening at the cathedral hall with Miss May Ham-mill, county president, as installing officer.

The officers installed were as follows: President, Sarah Murphy; vice president, Mrs. William McGraw; secretaries, Mrs. Mary McRae and Miss M. Eva McNaughton; treasurer, Miss Katherine Driscoll; mistress-at-arms, Miss Mary Garvey; sentinel, Miss Catherine Cosgrove; chairman of the standing committee, Mrs. E. Gallagher; members of the standing committee, Mrs. J. J. Kelly, Mrs. Nellie Sullivan and Mrs. Perry.

Bishop McGillicuddy gave a short, interesting talk on Irish history and Miss May Ham-mill read a chapter of Irish history.

"Wearers of the Green" was sung by a chorus.

Two vocal solos were given by Miss Clara Malley, accompanied by Miss Alice Burns.

The program closed with a piano solo, "Come Back to Erin," by Miss Katherine Sullivan.

CONSERVATION MESSAGE FRIDAY.

Washington, Jan. 12. President Taft's special message dealing with the conservation of natural resources has been completed and will be sent forward Friday noon. The president expects that the much-needed conservation legislation will be enacted at this session. Many public lands have been withdrawn, and are now under from entry without actual warrant of law. Some approved method of dealing with these lands is immediately needed.

Callers at the White House today reported President Taft to be growing somewhat impatient with the progress thus far made by congress in carrying forward the legislative program. "The president, it is said, feels that too much time is being spent in the skirmishes that thus far have marked the session."

By the way, the president today passed the Bennett-Sabath "white slave bill."

FIREMAN IS CRUSHED UNDER LOCOMOTIVE

Rear End Collision at Short-line Park Had Fatal Outcome.

In a rear end collision last evening between two light engines on the main line of the Northern Pacific at Short-line Park, about three miles out of West Duluth, Maurice Hedberg, a fireman, was killed and Joseph Lampert, another fireman, seriously though not fatally injured.

The accident happened about 11:30 o'clock, when Engine No. 2344, in charge of Peter Schliman, engineer, and Joseph Lampert, fireman, collided with Engine No. 1414, which was standing in front of the Shortline Park station. Engineer Kearn's was in charge of the locomotive which was not in motion and Hedberg was his fireman. Engineer Kearn's is understood to have been in the cab of the engine at the time of the accident, but had stepped into the station, as well as heard the engine ahead before it struck the tender and jumped. Although there were no eye witnesses to the affair, it is thought that he caught his foot and fell under the wheels. His body was horribly mangled.

The responsibility for the accident has not yet been placed on any one of the trainmen, according to Supt. Nicholas of the Northern Pacific, but it has been intimated that it rests with one of four of five members of the engine crew.

It is rumored that the light on the rear of the tender of Engine No. 1414 was out, and that for this reason the engine on the second locomotive could not see the engine ahead until it was too late. The collision took place the tender of the first locomotive was badly smashed, and the nose of the second one, Supt. Nicholas said if any of the lights were out, the next would come out in the investigation which is being conducted this afternoon.

The mangled body of Hedberg was taken to the undertaking parlors of Olson & Crawford, undertakers at 2014

THE CURLERS ARE WELCOME.

The members of the Northwestern Curling association have been entertained in Duluth before, so perhaps it is hardly necessary to state that they are very welcome indeed, that Duluth is glad they are here, and that everybody hopes they will have so glorious a time that they will again approve this as the permanent location of the annual bonspiel. And yet it is necessary, too, for the welcome of last time will not do for this time because the oftener the curlers come the more gladly is their return engagement hailed by the people of Duluth.

As the Herald said the other day, curling is such a good, clean, honest sport, and attracts such a fine class of players, the very bone and sinew of the communities in which they live, that it is an unusual honor for a city to be host for a bonspiel. That being made clear, it is hoped, here's good health and good spirits to the visitors; may the ice be clean and snappy and the weather fine; may their brooms be nimble and effective, and may their stances seem to be the thing to get in touch of Scots inflection somewhere when talking about cur-r-r-in—land in winning positions now and hereafter.

THE CASE OF OLEO.

There seems to be a good deal of stir in agricultural sections over the reported attempt of the manufacturers of imitation butter to get the tax on colored imitations cut from 10 cents to 2 cents per pound.

There is a particularly active flurry in Congressman Tawney's district, because Mr. Tawney has posed as the champion of the dairyman, and Mr. Tawney is in danger of defeat for re-election. It is impossible to say in his behalf that he represents the people, or that he stands for a self-governing house of representatives; so his advocates talk very loudly about the danger of oleomargarine competition, and say that it is necessary to keep Mr. Tawney in congress to resist the encroachments of the oleo makers.

Some of the imitation butters are good to eat. It is said for them that they contain about as much nourishment as butter, and that if they are colored as butter is colored few could tell the difference. These facts make imitation butter a legitimate commodity. The really important thing about it is that it mustn't be possible for anybody to sell the stuff for butter. But if hard-pressed consumers, afflicted by the present cost of butter, choose to use oleo on their tables, they have a right to do so.

The law taxing oleomargarine, when it is colored, 10 cents a pound, is supposed to be a revenue law. That it isn't exactly that is made clear by the assertion that at 2 cents a pound oleo would bring in more revenue than it does at 10 cents a pound, because more people would use it.

Whether the tax is to be maintained at 10 cents a pound or reduced to 2 cents is a fair subject for debate. With butter at 40 cents a pound, or thereabouts, it is a good deal more timely than it would be if butter were 10 or 15 cents a pound cheaper.

If the tax is to be kept where it is, there should be no misunderstanding about it. It is not a revenue measure, or a measure to protect the consumer. A lower tax would produce a greater revenue, and the consumer could be protected against having imitation butter palmed off on him for real butter without any tax at all. Not being a revenue measure or a measure to protect the consumer, there is just one other thing it can be, and that is a protective tax in the interest of the dairyman.

That is exactly what it is, and any discussion about it should be in the light of that fact. The size of the tax makes it practically prohibitive, because it makes imitation butter sell about as high as real butter. Therefore it is parallel with a prohibitive tariff on any other manufactured product.

Morally, any measure which taxes all of the people for the benefit of some of the people is wrong. Therefore the protective tax on imitation butter morally is wrong. Yet this country is maintaining a good many things of that nature that are morally wrong, and the farmer and dairyman has as good a right as anybody to get his share of them. But if the high tax on imitation butter is continued, it should be in the light of a clear understanding of its nature.

Maybe President Taft thinks Seth Bullock is qualified for the forestry service because he used to make law-breakers take to the tall timber while he was a sheriff in Montana.

DON'T FORGET DULUTH.

In a recent conversation speech by Governor Eberhart he said: "Our chief distributing point, the Twin Cities, has a jobbing business of $500,000,000 and bank clearings of $1,500,000,000 annually, and these cities rank in commercial importance with Boston, St. Louis and Pittsburgh, while our Head of the Lakes port, Duluth, clears the greatest freight tonnage of any shipping point in America."

While Duluth is properly grateful to the governor for this mention, we would suggest that he should not overlook the fact that not only is Duluth one of the world's greatest ports, but that it is fast getting to be one of the greatest wholesale distributing points, and soon will be one of the great manufacturing centers. It will be clear to the governor on a moment's reflection that something must happen to the vast quantities of goods shipped into the port of Duluth. A very great part of them is handled by Duluth wholesale houses, which have an advantage in having the docks at their doors that is not possessed by Twin City houses which must pay rail freight on their goods before they reach their warehouses. We would ask the governor to take note that Duluth is a part of Minnesota, and that it is a part that refuses to take a back seat even for the admirable Twin Cities whose wealth he boasts.

Also, the governor said in that same speech: "We are looking forward to the day when the great Father of Waters shall be the connecting navigable highway uniting the ports of the Great Lakes and the Gulf, for the general industrial development of the greatest agricultural empire in the world, embracing the twenty-two states of the great Mississippi valley that extends from the Rockies to the Alleghenies and from Canada to the Gulf." The governor said this, and his description of the empire for which he speaks is apt and accurate. But the governor should not overlook the fact that it is of far greater importance to the greater part of that magnificent empire, and particularly of that part in which Minnesota lies, that the water highway from Duluth to Lake Erie should be kept at a maximum state of efficiency than it is that Chicago should have an outlet to the Gulf that cannot benefit Minnesota or any part of the Northwest between Lake Superior and the Rockies and between Canada and Kansas.

For instance, this port supplies the coal used in the greater part of this empire, except in regions where it is mined locally. The cost of that coal to the consumer depends largely upon the cost of transportation. When there was a draft of eleven feet at the Sault, the lake freight on coal was $2 a ton. Now, with twenty feet of water at the Sault, the freight rate is 30 cents.

So vitally important to the empire of which Governor Eberhart spoke is the waterway over which its coal and many other supplies are received and over which its grain and many other products are marketed, that it is somewhat astonishing to find the governor of the state chiefly concerned talking of a waterway from Chicago to the Gulf, and saying nothing of the waterway which immediately concerns the state.

In two years Chicago will have a Great Lakes highway twenty-two feet deep at low water. Duluth will have only nineteen or twenty feet. The government is building at the Sault a lock that will accommodate vessels drawing twenty-five feet. That will be completed in four years. Work would have to begin at once to have the channels adjoining that lock deepened to twenty-five feet by the time the lock is ready. At the best, Chicago will have two feet advantage—and that means a lot in freight rates—for two years. Yet the governor of Minnesota has no word to say for the needs of his home state, and has proposed no action on that subject by the conservation convention he is arranging to be held in St. Paul.

Look to the lakes!

BOSTON'S EXPERIMENT.

The result of Boston's first city election under its new charter, which is a step toward the commission form of government and toward the achievement of the "shorter ballot" idea, is not encouraging. Though there were four candidates in the field, including George A. Hibbard, the present mayor, the fight was really between two—John F. Fitzgerald, a former mayor whose administration reeked with extravagance and corruption, and James J. Storrow, an eminently respectable candidate of the ideal kind which reformers and business men in politics always hope to see elected—and a kind that seldom is elected in a large city. The issue could hardly have been more clearly made between good government and bad, between honest idealism and practical corruption—and practical corruption won. "Honey Fitz" is elected by a plurality of 1,494 in a record total vote of 93,125. George A. Hibbard, the present mayor, who was elected two years ago with 38,000 votes, got only 1,783 votes yesterday, and N. H. Taylor, the fourth man, got 629 votes.

Though both Fitzgerald and Storrow nominally are Democrats, and Hibbard and Taylor are Republicans, under the new charter the names of all candidates went on the ballot without party designation, and each candidate had to get petitions signed by 5,000 voters as an essential to having his name placed upon the ballot. Fitzgerald went out of office thoroughly discredited, and he made his campaign on an appeal for "vindication"; on that and on an exceedingly vigorous and crafty campaign of the kind for which he is locally famous. "Honey Fitz" is a very smooth article, adept in the arts of politics, and he opposed a man who, though he is a banker, eminent citizen, former president of the chamber of commerce and chairman of the school board, and though he was backed by all the respectable forces in the community including all of the newspapers, is a tyro in politics. Boston has no need of being proud of the result; but nobody who is familiar with political conditions in large cities will be surprised at it.

Fitzgerald is elected for four years, though Storrow's campaign manager asserts that his plurality is only 291 instead of 1,494, and promises a recount. He has his "vindication", but of course if he wishes a real vindication he will have to win it by the character of his administration. In two years, under the new charter, there will be an automatic "recall." The voters will be asked to pass on the question "Shall the mayor be recalled?" and if they vote in the affirmative a new election will be necessary. Fitzgerald's real vindication, if he is to get it, will come then; also, the reform movement will then have another chance at testing Boston's political spirit.

When hogs sold at $9 a hundred pounds in Chicago the other day they evidently forgot that "the increase in the cost of living is due to the greater extravagance of the people."

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 100 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

MUNICIPAL COLLECTION OF GARBAGE FAVORED.

To the Editor of The Herald: I don't care whether Dr. Patton slams the city controller or not, that's his business. I believe the municipal collection of garbage is a good thing and should be extended to other parts of the city as rapidly as the treasury will allow. I am confident that the operation on a larger scale will not only save money to those getting the city service, but may be made to earn money for the city at the same time. I live on the central part of the city, and as I am a woman, I am not supposed to know a lot about balances and dividends. But I know that the service given by the health department was efficient, at least in my neighborhood. Before we had a great deal of trouble getting garbage hauled away. The garbage men would promise to call on a certain day. But it was only promised, and several days before they came in an appearance. And in the hot days of summer past, before we had a great deal of trouble getting garbage hauled away. Of course the city man would not have a sufficient serious drawback to make me want the service. I had to get out and get the council proceedings last evening and using divided wagons, with one compartment for ashes and another for garbage, and the matter to the attention of several other women and children. Why Does Not The Stomach Digest Itself

There seems to be no logical reason why the stomach should not digest itself when we consider the fact that it secretes digestive fluids and acids which are powerful enough to disintegrate and digest meats, eggs, fruits, cereals, vegetables and other forms of food taken into it.

In animals which were killed while in full digestion the stomach has undergone complete self-digestion after death, when the body was kept warm, and in human beings who have died suddenly while digestion was going on, it was found at the autopsy that not only had the stomach been digested, but also the liver, pancreas, spleen, and portions of the intestines. The question naturally presents itself, "What protects the stomach from self-digestion during life?" Dr. Hunter declared that the "principle of life" in living things protected this organ from being digested by its own fluids, but Dr. Barrois successfully demonstrated that the hind legs of a living frog, when introduced through a fistula or artificial opening into the stomach of a dog, undergoes complete digestion, and Dr. Pavy, through similar experiment, found that the same was true of a rabbit's ear.

While the normal stomach is immune from self-digestion, there are many cases on record, however, in which a long-standing gastritis, and perverted digestion, has completely digested or eaten away the mucous membrane lining of the stomach, and in some instances has engendered gastric ulcer, which ate its way clear through the stomach wall, and caused a fatal peritonitis.

In all cases of perverted function of the stomach, which manifests itself by the numerous well-known symptoms of indigestion and dyspepsia, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act as a corrective, restoring it to a normal condition, toning up the secretory glands, as well as the lactical glands, which absorb the food, and at the same time assisting the stomach in the process of digestion, and preventing all possibility of such conditions arising as will cause perverted function, gastritis, gastric ulcers, or the eating away of the mucous membrane of the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are exceedingly powerful digestives, a single grain being sufficient to digest 3,000 grains of food, including meats, vegetables, cereals, etc. They digest albuminous and starchy foods equally well. Whenever the stomach is in a weakened condition, and so lacking in tone, that it furnishes an insufficient amount of gastric juice, such symptoms as heartburn, biliousness, headache, belching of gas and sour eructations are sure to appear, and make one feel generally miserable.

Such symptoms can, however, be overcome and done away with at once. Simply take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and forget all about your digestive troubles. They do their work promptly and thoroughly, every particle of food being completely digested, and fermentation, decomposition, and flatulence and heartburn, headache, biliousness, indigestion, relieved and cured. Purchase a box from your druggist today, please 50 cents. Also send your name and address for free sample. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

COOK COUNTY ORE LANDS MAY YET PROVE OF VALUE

Eastern Men Have Been Quietly Picking Up Options on Land.

Believed That Ore Can Be Handled By Modern Methods.

With the millions of tons of lean ore in Cook county become of commercial value in the near future as the result of recent discoveries of new methods of removing the sulphur and titanium?

That is the question which many Duluthians are asking, and certain indications point to the reawakening of interest of mining men in the iron deposits along the north shore.

One party of Eastern capitalists is known to have been quietly buying up land in Cook county containing traces of ore, or where ore may be found, and there is one lawyer in Duluth who has done little for the past year but perfect titles on these lands. The title to many of the claims was clouded, and they have all been registered under the Torrens system. This party of Eastern men is said to have secured close to 20,000 acres of lands in Cook county.

There are two reasons for the revival of interest in Cook county iron lands. One is the belief that new methods of treating the ore will make it possible to successfully handle ore containing titanium and sulphur, and the other is the belief that the ore in Cook county is really richer than many have imagined, and contains a smaller percentage of sulphur and titanium than many imagined. An Eastern man who has been in the furnace business for twenty years, and who has made a study of the handling of ores, was in the city last week. He was loath to talk of the Cook county situation, and refused to have his name connected with an interview, but he finally admitted that he was interested in some Cook county lands, and expected that they would produce marketable ore.

A Good Speculation. "The ore lands in Cook county are at present nothing more than a legitimate speculation. I do not anticipate that any great mines will ever be opened there. The formation does not hold out much hope of this. But I do think it possible that bodies of marketable ore will be uncovered in Cook county."

The ore does not contain as much titanium as many believe. Any ore containing one per cent of titanium cannot be handled to good advantage, but I have seen samples of ore from there that run far less than 1 per cent.

"Then there is no doubt but that with the electric furnace, the titanium can be removed. I do not think that there is any doubt but that the ore of Cook county, where it is found in large quantities to warrant mining, can be used, and used to good advantage. With modern methods of smelting there is no reason whatever why the Cook county ore will not make a good furnace product."

One great trouble with the land there is its inaccessibility. I doubt if a railroad will be built in there for years to come, unless it is an extension of the Duluth & Northern Pacific. The ore deposits found so far have not been such as to warrant it. The ore will probably be shipped to Two Harbors.

The Ardis Furnace. One of the new methods of treating ore, which it is claimed will be successful on the Cook county ore, is the Ardis furnace, which is being tested at Iron Mountain. This furnace is said to be proving a success. Several Duluth men are interested in it, but they refuse to give out the results of the experiments, as yet. Many difficulties have been encountered and one or two have been made during the month of December is said to have proved very successful. If this is the case, it will solve the problem of handling the lean ore of Cook county.

The largest deposits yet shown up in Cook county are in the neighborhood of Gunflint lake, near the border. Large sums of money were spent in developing these, but the work was abandoned many years ago. During the last few prospectors were at work back of Grand Marais, and large tracts of land there have been optioned. Some drilling was done, and it is stated that during the coming spring the drilling operations will be much more active.

The men who are at work there are keeping very quiet about, and refuse to disclose the results of their explorations. There are several Duluth men heavily interested, and it is stated they are even in the city, and they stand in a fair way to make immense fortunes during the next two or three years.

GOT $25,000, BUT NOT IN REAL MONEY

Miss Olive Capron was awarded $25,000 damages for breach of promise against Walter Elston, a prominent member of the Park Point improvement club at Mission hall, at Twenty-eighth street, last night. George Lindberg and Harry Harrington acted as examiners for the plaintiff, and Curtis Pillsbury and J. Hultquist for the defense. W. H. Harter presided as judge.

Lake Superior Corporation Not in Proposed Canadian Combine.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 12.—A Canadian company, the Lake Superior Corporation, with its big plant in the Canadian Soo, was to be included in a proposed merger of the steel industry of the United States.

"We do not contemplate entering any merger or combination of steel industries either in Canada or the United States," he said. "If ever Lake Superior corporation enters a combination with its own making, not of any other."

The merger is said to be on a gigantic scale with a capitalization of $500,000,000.

LOOPHOLE IN LAWS

Makes Residence in Kansas Unnecessary to Secure Divorce.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 12.—A loophole in the new Kansas divorce law makes it possible for non residents to secure legal separation in Kansas without establishing a residence.

The closing paragraph of the law reads: "Unless the action is brought in the county where the defendant resides or may be summoned."

The words "or may be summoned" make the loophole.

Either the husband or wife may come to Kansas and file suit, alleging that the defendant could be reached by a summons and then the defendant could make it convenient to be in the state within reach of summons. After the summons is served both parties have standing in court and may return to their native state and wait until the date set by the court for the calling of the case.

Paris, Jan. 12.—The government has decided upon measures to meet the war proclaimed by the Episcopate against the public schools and Minister of Education Doumergue will announce the following decisions during the forthcoming debate on the school question in the chamber of deputies.

1. A modification of the bill recently introduced to enable the government to clothe the public authorities with full power to meet the situation at every point.

2. The submission of a bill introducing state control in Catholic or so-called private schools.

3. The substitution of the state as the defendant for teachers in suits brought against them by Catholic parents' associations.

The Hancock team is coming to the Iron country on Friday, playing Negauee on Friday evening and Ishpeming Saturday evening. Both teams will then be given return games at Hancock. Last year the Hibernians and the Negauee city team broke even. The Hancock bunch lost by a score of 7 to 4 here and won at Hancock, 1 to 0.

POOR PITTSBURG!
Weather Bureau Man Now Tells Tales of City's Health.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 12.—Harry Penny Witt, the weather forecaster here, not only dispenses forecasts, but accompanies them with health hints. He has come out now with a new and rather startling one to the effect that Pittsburg air is supercharged with "pogonip," and he urged that people out of doors should hang over their mouths and nostrils a little apron of cheesecloth.

"Pogonip," he explained, "is Indian for 'white death,' and is caused by inhaling fog which has congealed into spicula of ice." He first learned of the disease when stationed on the Utah and Nevada plateaus where the Indians dread it fearfully. It develops a form of pneumonia which is usually fatal. This was the first announcement of the new plague in Pittsburg.

S.S.S.

CURES OLD SORES

"I CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY S.S.S. IS A CERTAIN CURE FOR OLD SORES, BECAUSE IT CURED ME OF A BAD ULCER, ON WHICH OTHER TREATMENTS HAD NO EFFECT."

This extract from the testimonial we publish below, will receive the endorsement of thousands of other persons who have used S. S. S. for sores and ulcers.

Every old sore comes from some kind of impurity in the blood. S. S. S. cures on the simple principle of removing the cause of the sore or ulcer and allowing nature to heal the place. When we think for a moment we realize that every portion of the body and system is dependent on the blood; that it is the circulation which nourishes all flesh tissues, and preserves their natural health. Thus we can readily understand why impurities or poisons in this vital fluid will infect and disease the flesh at some particular spot, and by continually discharging impurities into it, keep the place open, raw or inflamed. It would be against every law of reason to expect the sore to heal while the blood constantly deposits into it the infectious matter with which it is contaminated.

There is a simple way to cure old sores, and it is the only way—remove the cause from the circulation. External applications of liniments, plasters, lotions, salves, etc., can never produce a cure, because such treatment does not reach the blood, where the cause is located.

S. S. S. heals old sores because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the circulation and removes the cause from the blood. When the blood has been purified there is no longer any inflammatory impurity or infectious matter to irritate the place, and nature causes the natural and certain healing of the ulcer. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and the place is once more well, it is not a surface cure, every vestige of the old cause has been driven out and the place is solidly and firmly healed from the bottom to the surface. S. S. S. is made entirely of healing, cleansing roots, herbs and barks, and contains no trace of mineral. It is a medicine adapted to persons of any age, and is just as effective with the old as with the young or middle aged.

Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been weakened by the drain of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. If you wish to know anything specially about your case write us. We will answer you fully, and will also send our book on Sores and Ulcers—no charge for either book or advice.

WEST END TO ESTABLISH NEW PLANT

Branch of Minneapolis Concern Will Open in West End.

Company Has Patent on New Process of Welding Metals.

A new process of welding metals, which is rapidly becoming recognized in scientific circles as the most perfect welding process known, will be demonstrated at a new manufacturing and repair plant which is promised for Duluth this year. The promoters of the plant intend that the factory will be established either at the West end or West Duluth.

With the exception of one which was established about two weeks ago at Minneapolis, there will be no other complete plant of its kind in the North-west, and it will also be one of the first in the country. The promoters of the Duluth concern are in Minneapolis this week securing the right to establish a plant in the Zenith City. By the methods, which will be employed at the Duluth plant, broken parts of machinery of all descriptions can be so welded that the old break cannot be detected, yet the metal will retain all its original tensile strength. This is not only true of wrought iron, but also of aluminum, cast iron, steel, bronze, brass, copper, German silver or nickel, some of which have heretofore been considered as non-weldable. The kind, quality and texture of the metal matters little, for under the new process the broken parts can be so perfectly welded that the break cannot be discerned. Aluminum gear cases of automobiles, crank shafts, cast iron cylinders, gas engines, pumps and, in fact, everything from a small needle to a five-ton flywheel can be repaired.

This is accomplished by the ingenious use of the oxy-acetylene welding process, the expense being small, and usually about one-fourth of the cost of a new part. The method is rapid and reliable and entirely different from the old process of brazing.

In making a weld by the autogenous process, nothing but heat is used. It is obtained by means of chemical oxygen and acetylene gas combined in a torch of an ingenious design, the patent of which is held by the French inventor. The flame from the torch produces the remarkable temperature of 6,000 deg. Fahrenheit.

With the cutting torch the heat is so intense that it will crumble granite blocks like a piece of chalk. It is claimed for it that it will cut through the steel bars of a ship's hull in less than thirty minutes. It cuts the largest steel bars with as much ease as one can cut a soft plank with a sharp saw.

The two pieces to be welded, with no flux or special preparation, are simply laid together. The jet of oxygen and acetylene gas is directed along the joint and the heat generated causes the metals to flow together and the weld is complete. For the heavy pieces that cannot be easily removed, the company will have a portable welding apparatus, which can be taken anywhere.

The process was discovered and perfected about five years ago in France, where it is now used successfully on a large scale. About two years ago the Davis Bournville company of New York introduced it in this country and since that time it has been put through every test known.

A successful application of this process requires a large equipment of expensive apparatus and the services of skilled workmen. The Minneapolis concern, which has just organized as the Northern Welding & Manufacturing company, has just installed its plant. According to a West end man, who is a brother of the promoters of the Minneapolis concern, which holds the patent, the factory will be established here before spring.

The plant in Duluth will probably manufacture oxygen and acetylene gas, which is compressed and sent into tanks under a pressure of 150 pounds. It is used for medicinal purposes also.

BOTH PARTIES HAVE RALLIES

Democrats and Republicans Hold Meetings Under the Same Roof.

Under the same roof, but in different parts of the building, the Democrats and the Republicans of the West end held political meetings last evening at Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

In the Republican ranks in the Sixty-third ward there have been two factions and threats of a split at the city election. The factions were divided on the aldermanic question in the primaries, but last evening Sands Van Wagner, candidate for alderman, as well as Mayor Nelson, have been endorsed by the members present.

J. W. Allen, who was chosen ward chairman, presided over the meeting. He appointed two chairmen from each of the precincts to assist him in his work. They were: Andrew Ruden and S. M. Rude, First precinct; Walter Primes and Andrew Hornegren, Second; Peter Olson and Joseph Twaddle, Third; George M. Jensen and Roy Hood, Fourth; Roy Cole and William Dahlin, Fifth.

At the Democratic meeting, Dr. M. B. Cullum gave a short address in which he outlined his plan of administration. He said he had no particular platform, but every assurance of a clean administration. Others who made short speeches were: Aldermen Hogan, McDonald, Hector, Jordan, Long and Getchell; W. L. Bernard, W. E. McEwen, C. E. Dice, Charles Mork, Louis Larson and Hector McLean.

WILL CALL J. J. HILL.
Railroad Magnate to Testify at Express Rate Hearing.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill, Louis W. Hill, J. M. Gruber, Edward Sawyer, W. W. Broughton, R. I. Farrington and Howard Elliott, forming one of the most important groups of railroad executive officers in the country, will appear in Minneapolis next Monday, to give testimony in an inquiry into the Great Northern express business.

Franklin K. Lathrop, the former San Francisco judge, who is now considered the traffic expert of the interstate commerce personnel, Commissioner James S. Harlan, and probably Charles A. Frosty as a third commissioner, will be on the bench.

Edward Sundberg, a son of Senator B. F. Sundberg, who appears as the complainant, served the summons on James J. Hill late Monday as the latter, returning from the Minnesota club, was about to enter the Great Northern general office building. Mr. Hill was visibly surprised, but not in the least disconcerted.

"Very well," he said, and passed into his office.

The complainants in the proceedings allege that the rates that the Great Northern Express company charges to Duluth, St. Cloud, Willmar, Granite Falls, Pipestone, Appleton, Graceville, Alexandria, Breckenridge, Moorhead, Crookston and Kennedy and other points in Minnesota, from the Twin Cities or other points, are exorbitant.

Railroad Magnate to Testify at Express Rate Hearing.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill, Louis W. Hill, J. M. Gruber, Edward Sawyer, W. W. Broughton, R. I. Farrington and Howard Elliott, forming one of the most important groups of railroad executive officers in the country, will appear in Minneapolis next Monday, to give testimony in an inquiry into the Great Northern express business.

Franklin K. Lathrop, the former San Francisco judge, who is now considered the traffic expert of the interstate commerce personnel, Commissioner James S. Harlan, and probably Charles A. Frosty as a third commissioner, will be on the bench.

Edward Sundberg, a son of Senator B. F. Sundberg, who appears as the complainant, served the summons on James J. Hill late Monday as the latter, returning from the Minnesota club, was about to enter the Great Northern general office building. Mr. Hill was visibly surprised, but not in the least disconcerted.

"Very well," he said, and passed into his office.

Grader Than Ever.
New York, Jan. 12.—Insanity is increasing in New York state at the rate of 1,000 persons a year, according to a statement made by Miss Mary Add Clark, in addressing the State Charities Aid association, of which she is the assistant secretary.

In 1899, says Miss Clark, there were 30,489 insane patients in fifteen state hospitals.

OZOMULSION

The Distinguishing Feature of Ozomulsion is its CURATIVE QUALITY, Which All Other emulsions Lack.

THE DANGER POINT FOR WEAK LUNGS.

Hard work is good for strong people, but death to the weak.

That's why cold weather is death to thousands who suffer from Weak Lungs.

Even the healthiest and strongest break down during the rigors of the winter months.

Then what must it mean to millions of Lung Sufferers who haven't the vitality to fight the elements?

It means DEATH.

There is a Danger Point for all with Weak Lungs, beyond which it is not wise to allow their lungs to go.

Coughs, Colds, Pain in the Lungs, Grip, Pneumonia—all tell the tale too truly.

Before Reaching the DANGER POINT take OZOMULSION, the Food-Medicine that has saved many thousands from the Danger Point and Death.

Ozomulsion is known, recommended and sold by worthy druggists everywhere in 16 oz. and 8 oz. bottles.

Always ask for Ozomulsion by name.

That all may experience for themselves what this exclusive preparation will do, a 3 oz. Trial bottle will be sent by mail to all who send their address, by postcard or letter, to the Ozomulsion Co., 548 Pearl St., New York.

The rink is gayly decorated with flags and bunting of all kinds. Many of the curlers expected this morning, failed to arrive. There are, at the present time, nearly forty rinks and the officials expect at least ten more, bringing it up to an even fifty.

There are fifteen rinks entered from the Duluth Curling club; two from Itasca River, two from Winnipeg, seven from West Duluth, four from Superior, two from St. Paul, and one from Minneapolis, one from Virginia, one from Eveleth, and it is expected that a number more will arrive from the surrounding small towns as well as from the clubs located in Southern Minnesota.

By tonight thespiel will be in full swing. Loads and loads of stones kept arriving at the rink this morning, some of them acting as the advance guard for curlers who have not yet arrived. Brownies, attracted by the drayload and the jolly folks arrived in crowds.

A Merry Crowd. Everybody was in the best of humor and jokes were the order of the day. The J. H. Blackwood, manager of the bonspiel, was about the busiest man in town. Between answering questions and attending to his work of registering the rinks and making the draws, he was "in deep."

Deaths Is Absent. A letter received from "Bob" Dunbar, the veteran curler from St. Paul, announcing that it would be impossible for him to attend because of illness, was passed around and read by the curlers assembled with genuine regret. "Bob" had announced that he would be on hand to help carry away some of the prizes. There are some curlers who, remembering contests played at spels in days gone by, were anxious to get another crack at the almost unbeatable "Bob."

Smithy Is Missed. A. H. Smith, formerly of Duluth, but now of Winnipeg, is among the missing. Mr. Smith, or "Smithy," as he is familiarly called, has been for years one of the best known curlers in the country. Something serious must have happened or he would have been here, for the general verdict does not seem quite like a bonspiel without "Smithy," remarked one curler, and the others agreed.

Many other old-timers are missed at the present bonspiel. This is accounted for by the fact that there is at the present time a "spiel" going on at Regina, Can., and many of the Canadian clubs have sent their rinks West this year. Within a few days the bonspiel at Fort Frances begins, and many of the clubs have promised to send rinks there. These curling events coming so close together, the attendance at the Duluth bonspiel, but the attendance is good, nevertheless.

No Granite Men Here. The Granite club of Winnipeg is not represented this year. This club, like many others this year, sent its rinks West. The Granite club of Winnipeg is here. This rink, at St. Paul last year, won thirteen games during the Saulty City bonspiel.

W. P. Paine, news editor of the Manitoba Free Press, is here with Don Morrison's rink. Mr. Paine and Mr. Morrison take turns skipping the rink, although it is entered in Mr. Morrison's name.

Curling is on the boom in Winnipeg, according to Mr. Paine. There are six clubs in the Canadian city, and all of them in the most healthy and robust condition. They are: Thistle, Granite, Esplanade, St. John's, Strathcona, Free Press and Clives. At least two of these clubs are very unique in their makeup. The Strathcona club is composed mostly of the employees of the Free Press, and the Clives club, having recently completed a fine building, are at the moment in the process of making up a new rink.

The Clives are at an enthusiasm, and every one is an enthusiast. The Clives are composed of the members of the municipal office. There are in all more than 500 members in the six different clubs. This makes the curling game, as many inter-club tournaments are pulled off from time to time, Mr. Paine says that there is much interest in the game on the part of the residents here, and that many are taking it up. A charity bonspiel held last night, and that many are taking it up. A charity bonspiel held last night, and that many are taking it up.

Are Duluth men lucky? This is the question that Mr. McGilvray and Ron Smith were asking themselves. When Mr. McGilvray drew No. 13 for his rink, Ron Smith joined heartily in with a "haw haw" that could easily be heard from one end of the long curling rink to the other. It happened in the game of the world. Mr. Smith reached for his number and it happened to be No. 13. It was Mr. McGilvray's turn to laugh and he now thinks he has it on Mr. Smith. McGilvray would rather take chances on 13 than on 22. The "haw haw" which may mean an evening, present a pretty spectacle. Extra lights have been installed and the lighting and flags set off the walls in good shape.

Paulhan Rises More Than 4,000 Feet in Trials at Los Angeles. May Try Cross Country Flight of 100 Miles to San Diego. Former Wire Walker Is Easy Favorite With Crowds at Contests.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—Exhilarated by his easy success yesterday in breaking all high flight records, Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, may next essay a flight to San Diego, which lies more than 100 miles southward in an air line from the Dominguez aviation field.

BOSTON Y. M. C. A. BUILDING BURNS

Damage From Fire Is Estimated at More Than $200,000. Boston, Mass., Jan. 13.—The Boston Young Men's Christian association building at the corner of Boylston and Berkeley streets, in the Back Bay district, was destroyed by fire early today. The loss will exceed $200,000. A fireman was injured, not seriously, by falling from a ladder.

PENALIZED ON 'CHANGE

Chapin and Countiss Are Suspended for Rock Island Incident. Wrong-Doing Is Not Charged By the Board of Governors. New York, Jan. 13.—Simon B. Chapin, head of the New York and Chicago firm of S. B. Chapin & Co., has been suspended from the presidency of the New York stock exchange for sixty days for participation in the Rock Island case of Dec. 27 last, when alleged ill-managed manipulation sent the common shares of the Rock Island company from 60 to 81 and back again in a period of twelve minutes.

NURSEMAID IS KILLED BY THIEVES

Compton Mansion Is Then Robbed of Jewelry Worth $10,000. SEEK TO AVOID SCANDAL ABOUT KING LEOPOLD. Brussels, Jan. 13.—The royal family, with the exception of Princess Louise, daughter of the late King Leopold, has arranged to do everything possible to avoid lawsuits and scandal in connection with the distribution of the late King Leopold's fortune.

FLOOD PERIL IS IMMINENT ONLY TWO ARE SAVED

Ice Gorge Breaks and the Mississippi River Begins to Rise. Kansas River Bridges Are Swept Away By Flooding Jams. Steamers Czarina Strikes on Bar Off the Coast of Oregon.

St. Louis, Jan. 13.—An ice gorge which broke in the Missouri river at Hermann last night reached St. Louis this morning at 8 o'clock. Between 7:30 and 8:30 the Mississippi river here rose more than a foot and the gauge stood at 25.7 feet. The gorges below the city continue to hold, and damage to shipping may result from the ice and high water.

BIG WINNIPEG PLANT BURNS

Munro Wire Works Manufactory Is Almost Totally Destroyed. Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 13.—The manufacturing building of the Munro Wire works, located in the heart of the city, was almost totally destroyed by fire last night. The loss is between $75,000 and $100,000. It was one of the largest industrial institutions in the city.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY. TWO RECIPIENTS OF NOBEL PRIZES

DR. F. K. BRAUN OF STRASSBURG. DR. THEODOR KOCHER OF BERNE.

The Nobel prize for physics for last year was awarded between William Marconi and Prof. Ferdinand K. Braun of Strassburg. Dr. Braun is professor in the University of Strassburg and director of the physical institute. He studied at the Universities of Marburg and Berlin, specializing in mathematics and natural science. The Nobel prize for medicine went to Prof. Emil Theodor Kocher of Berne this year. Prof. Kocher has been connected with the University of Berne since 1872, being professor and director of the surgical clinic. He was born in 1841.

SCHEME MAY STRIKE SNAG

Tremendous Influence Likely to Be Needed to Pass the Bill. Provisions for Compulsory Adoption and Forfeiture Are Demanded. Payment of 10 Per Cent of Subscriptions in Cash Provided For.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Now that the main features of the bill to be recommended by the president, providing for a federal incorporation act have become known, there is a disposition on the part of many members of congress to insist not only upon a full discussion of the measure, but upon amendments which will, in their judgment, be necessary to make it effective in dealing with great corporations. Indeed it is believed nothing short of tremendous administration influence will enact it into law.

GOES TO JURY ON THE 13TH

Andy Jones' Case Now in Hands of Twelve Men at Fargo. Judge Amidon's Charge Concerning Wrecking of Bank Takes Two Hours. Fargo, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Superstition people point to the case of Andy Jones, alleged bank wrecker, given to the jury at noon on the 13th of the month. This morning Judge Amidon of the United States court spent two hours in charging the jury. He reviewed the case at considerable length, and the attorneys for the defense, evidently for the purpose of building up the record for appeal, took exceptions to many points of his charge. The charge was regarded by lawyers and spectators as having been most complete and fair.

WOMAN WHO SHOT CRAIG IS DIVORCED

Neville Castle Secures Decree From Court at Nome, Alaska. San Francisco, Jan. 13.—A morning paper here says that Neville H. Castle, former prominent San Francisco attorney, received a decree of divorce on Tuesday at Nome, Alaska, from Mary Scott Castle, nee William D. Craig, a New York attorney, while in an elevator of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The divorce is now assistant United States district attorney. Mrs. Castle is reported to be in Canada.

AT OUTS OVER THE PINCHOT AFFAIR

Livestock Men Are Not Unanimous as to the Indorsement Resolution. Denver, Colo., Jan. 13.—The resolution presented to the National Livestock association, indorsing the Pinchot administration of the forest service and urging federal control of range lands, met with bitter opposition from the Colorado delegates today. The Colorado delegates declare they see in the resolution an attempt by the large cattle companies to secure land at a merely nominal figure, thus replacing range land owned by them but now grown too valuable for grazing purposes.

BLAME STEWART AND GRIPPEN

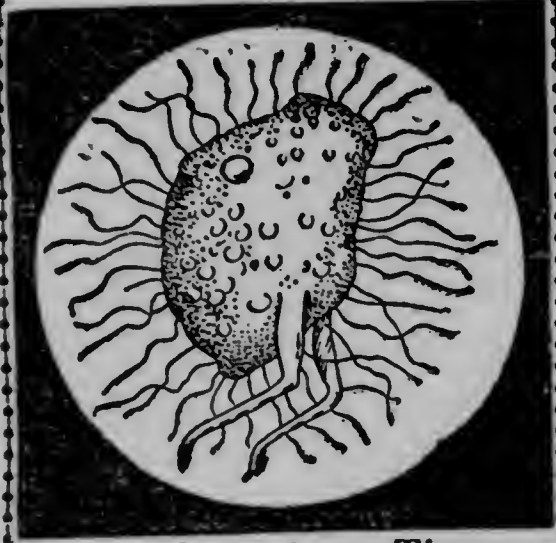

Grand Jurors at Hot Springs, S. D., Return Indictments Against Bankers. Hot Springs, S. D., Jan. 13.—The grand jury, which has been investigating the defunct Citizens State Bank of Edgemont, which closed its doors three or four years ago, returned indictments yesterday against the president, James A. Stewart, and the cashier, C. A. Grippen. There are several counts, including falsifying the records and receiving deposits when the bank was insolvent. Grippen is now in the banking business at Upton, Wyo.

THE GRIP IS HERE

What Can Be Done About It?

Bacillus of Grip.

Magnified 16,000 Times.

A healthy, clean mucous membrane protects the internal organs the same as the skin protects the surface of the body.

Poison cannot enter the body through the skin except there be a break somewhere—a raw spot.

It is not likely that the poisonous bacilli will enter the body through the throat, lungs or stomach except there is an ulcerated or denuded mucous membrane.

Peruna protects the membrane from injury.

A sound mucous membrane protects against the bacilli of influenza.

Those who put off taking Peruna until after the grip has fastened itself upon them have unnecessarily exposed themselves to this epidemic disease.

The next best thing to do is to take Peruna as a remedy for grip.

It will very quickly expurgate the invading bacilli and put the patient on his feet again.

Grip is everywhere.

Now is the time to act.

Peruna will prevent.

Peruna will remove disastrous after-effects of grip.

Mr. Joe H. Davis of the Davis Concrete Company, 306 N. Fifth St., Terre Haute, Ind., says of Peruna:

"I had a very severe attack of influenza, which developed into bronchitis of the worst form, and in connection with this I had been suffering with catarrh of the throat."

"I got very little rest or comfort out of living. Everything looked bad and discouraging and my business was a drag."

"About this time Peruna was recommended to me by a friend, which proved the old maxim: 'A friend in need is a friend indeed.' For I immediately began to feel better as soon as I began to use Peruna, and after using only two bottles I felt like a new man."

"I kept it at hand at all times in case of a return, but so far have had no signs of it ever returning. I am in very warm friend of Peruna."

FINDING FOR INJURED MAN

Judge Dibel of the district court this morning filed a decision awarding J. H. Gurry $300 against I. M. Olson and F. W. Gustafson. The case was one of the very few personal injury actions tried without a jury in the local court.

Gurry brought suit for damages on account of injuries sustained by falling into an excavation in front of Gustafson's property on Sixth street, in the East end. Olson had a contract to make a sewer connection, and Gurry claimed that they were both liable on account of his injuries—Olson for not protecting pedestrians by lights at the excavation, and Gustafson because he failed to secure a permit from the city for the work. Judge Dibel holds that they are liable and awards Gurry $300. The accident occurred April 28, 1908.

HOLM IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Sandstone Young Man Cleared of Charge of Embezzlement.

The jury in the case of George T. Holm, who was tried in federal court on a charge of embezzlement, returned a verdict of not guilty this afternoon. Holm, who was formerly assistant postmaster at Sandstone, was alleged to have been about $75 short in his accounts.

TALARICO GIRL TO WED

Innocent Cause of Murderous Assault Will Be a Bride.

Will Marry Brother of Her Stepfather, in Near Future.

Innocenza Zerta Talarico, or better known as "Jensie" Talarico, 16 years old, who figured prominently in a shooting affair of last summer, will become a bride within the next few weeks. The announcement of her marriage to Antonio Talarico, a brother of her stepfather, has just been made.

Early last June her former lover, John Morabito, shot and nearly fatally wounded Mike Talarico, her stepfather, because the latter refused him the hand of Jensie in marriage. The quarrel took place early one Sunday morning, following a celebration of a christening at neighbor's home.

Morabito asked Talarico if he would consent to the marriage, and Talarico refused. After the christening, Morabito lay in wait in a vacant building on Raleigh street, and when Talarico passed he shot three times at him.

Morabito's wound was never located by the police. Talarico was taken to the Duluth hospital, where he slowly recovered. Morabito is said to have been disfigured in the fight.

Antonio Talarico, the prospective groom, has lived at his brother's home since the shooting. He is now a member of the West Duluth church.

The wedding will be held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Talarico, on Saturday, Jan. 16, at 2 o'clock.

The banns have been read at St. Peter's Italian Catholic church by Rev. J. Zarillo, who will probably officiate at the wedding some time before the end of this month. The bride-to-be now resides with her parents at 123 South Sixty-first avenue west.

BOYS ESTABLISH RINK. Have Use of Vacant Lot and Take Turns Clearing Ice.

Through the efforts of a number of boys at Oneta, a free skating rink has been established for the young people in that community.

The young men have secured the right to use a vacant lot on Thirtieth street, west of the city, and have kept the ice cleaned off and flooded in the evening.

There has been considerable agitation at West Duluth for a free skating rink, but the matter has never been brought to a head.

Established skating places in other parts of the city, but there is none west of the ore docks.

TO ARRANGE FOR BANQUET. Commercial Club Will Appoint Committee on Annual Affairs.

At a meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club tomorrow evening a committee may be appointed to arrange for the annual banquet which will be held some time during the latter part of the winter or in the early spring.

The Commercial club banquet is considered to be one of the big events of the season, and those who will have it in charge will probably attempt to make the one this year eclipse all previous affairs.

Proponent speakers will be secured for the occasion, and it is understood that the governor will be asked to attend.

PLAN FOR CLUBROOMS. West Duluth Church Men May Provide Free Reading Room.

A movement is on foot among the church men of West Duluth to establish a free reading room and gymnasium on Central avenue, not only for the members of the various churches, but also for men without homes.

The men's organizations of the Methodist, Episcopal, and Lutheran churches are behind the movement and anticipate ready co-operation among the clubs which are being organized at the West Duluth Baptist, Plymouth Congregational, and Methodist churches.

IRVING SENIORS WILL DEBATE WITH JUNIORS. A class debate will be held tomorrow morning at the Industrial high school between the seniors and the juniors.

The subject will involve the merits of the two classes, and the debate will be held in the gymnasium.

The affirmative will be supported by the seniors while the negative will be upheld by the juniors.

The work in debate is one of the English work, which is part of the curriculum.

A subject is chosen each week.

With the Cutlers. There is little activity at the West Duluth cutlers' club since the banquet given at the Duluth rink most of the members have been busy attending the annual meet.

HOME CURE FOR CATARRH SUFFERERS

A Simple Remedy That Gives Relief From a Common Ailment.

(From the Gutterberg Press.)

While there are a great many people who suffer from catarrh of the nose and throat all the time, this common ailment is more prevalent in Fall and Winter than at any other season of the year.

Catarrh is an inflammation of the delicate membranes and is brought on by sudden changes in the weather, breathing very cold air or dust, getting the feet wet, etc.

Prof. Von Sternberg, a German specialist who has had unusual success in the treatment of nasal and throat diseases, recommends a solution of water and vitamin. Get from your druggist an original package (two ounces) of vitamin and dissolve it in a pint of water.

This should be used in the morning and twice daily when suffering from "cold in the head," from chronic catarrh. When the throat or larynx is affected it should be used as a gargle. Vitamin soothes and heals the inflammation and clears the passages.

FINE INSTITUTE AT GRAND RAPIDS

Well Attended and Much Good Advice Is Given Farmers.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers' institute here Tuesday was about the best attended and most successful meeting of the kind ever held in Grand Rapids. Two sessions, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon, were held, and at both the village was more than half filled with interested farmers and others.

The institute was opened by F. B. McFarland, who presided.

About Seeding of Clover.
The first speaker was E. W. Smith, a practical farmer from Otter Tail county, who told of his unusual success in the building up of the soil on his farm and a good living and some money besides by growing clover.

Mr. Smith said that he mixes ten pounds of clover seed and three pounds of timothy seed with the grain which goes on an acre of ground, and that together is sown in an acre. The next year after the seed is sown, the crop is ready to grow and will yield a little on the green side and before it becomes too mature.

VIVISECTION OF CAT IS STOPPED

Teachers in Eveleth High School Would Not Permit It.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—An attempt at vivisection of a cat by the physiology and zoology students at the high school was nipped in the bud by the intervention of the women teachers, according to high school gossip, and the affair is the talk of the students.

The deceased was about 20 years and examine his organs before life was extinct, but the women teachers raised such a storm of objection that the experiment was not carried out.

Now the Crescent Literary society of the high school has taken the matter up and at a mock trial will decide whether the cat shall be sacrificed for scientific purposes.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

STATE WILL PROBE RATES

Charges Against Express Companies Are to Be Looked Into.

North Dakota State Board Will Hear Plaints of Business Men.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of commerce, created by the legislature last year, is today holding a public hearing on the question of express rates in the state. The board is composed of representatives of the state, the express companies, and the public. The hearing is being held at the state capitol building. The board is to receive and consider all complaints from business men regarding express rates. The board is to report its findings to the legislature at its next session.

Many complaints have been made of the rates that have been charged by the express companies. The board is to investigate these complaints and to determine if the rates are reasonable. The board is to also consider the question of the public's right to be heard in the fixing of rates. The board is to report its findings to the legislature at its next session.

AITKIN'S CREAMERY.

Turned Out Nearly 140,000 Pounds of Butter Last Year.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The past year was a most prosperous one for the local creamery. The amount of butter made during the year ending Dec. 31, 1909, was 139,926 pounds. For a like period in 1908, the amount was 84,024 pounds, and the increase of 1909 over 1908 therefore amounts to over 45 per cent. The money that was paid out for butter fat in 1909 totals $39,553.91, and during the same period in 1908, the amount was $18,495.18. The increase in the amount of money paid for butter fat in 1909 over 1908 is in the neighborhood of 60 per cent. The increase in the price of butter made being on account of the higher price of butter. The price of butter fat averaged 23.71 cents a pound in 1909, while in 1908 the lowest price paid was 24 cents and the highest 26 cents, the price now being 24.

RAILROAD GIVES HINT.

If Chippewa Falls Wants New Depot, Better Build Better Bridge.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Jan. 13.—A prominent official of the Onondaga line was in town Monday and when asked how much longer local people would have to put up with its present snarl of a depot said: "Until your people show some disposition to help themselves. A town claiming 10,000 people with one being the only one in the stream does not show very great enterprise. Give us a bridge and we will give you a depot."

SELLS HIS INTEREST.

Grand Forks Man Disposes of Interest in Woolen Mill.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 13.—A deal was closed Monday by which J. J. Boyum and Joseph Rose, the owners of the Fergus Woolen mill, dissolved partnership. The latter retiring. Between $18,000 and $20,000 is involved, and Mr. Boyum will be the sole owner. An inventory is to be made at once and Mr. Boyum assumes sole charge. Feb. 1.

RELATIVES SUSPICIOUS.

Do Not Believe Horse's Kick Caused Man's Death.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 13.—Relatives of Louis Altman, whose death occurred on Dec. 11, have decided to exhum his body, as they suspect that he was the victim of foul play.

Mr. Altman was a resident of Dorset, this county, and died near Wheatland, N. D., where he was working on a farm. It was alleged that he was killed by a horse, and his body was sent back to his home for burial. Parties who saw the body claim that there were injuries upon it that hardly could have been inflicted by a horse.

As other suspicious circumstances have come to light, it has been decided to investigate.

EAU CLAIRE PULLETS ARE GREAT LAYERS.

Eau Claire, Wis., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—With twenty-five white Wyandotte pullets, John Lee, residing at 146 Maple street, has set a new egg record in Eau Claire. During the month of December, Mr. Lee collected 429 eggs laid by the pullets, an average of seventeen eggs a day. He expects to go largely in the chicken and egg business in the spring.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph C. Wood of St. Paul, and Frank Ferris, only son of the late Senator A. F. Ferris, were in the city yesterday, attending to the formalities of the transfer of the latter's share of his father's estate to him. His portion of the estate is, in itself, a good sized fortune, being estimated at $75,000 or upwards. This property, Washington County Farmer Could Not Stand Loss of Wife.

Sillwater, Minn., Jan. 13.—Nels P. Person, a farmer, living about a mile from Hugo, committed suicide by shooting himself Monday. The act was committed in the barn on the farm. He placed the muzzle of a revolver at his right ear and fired. Death was instantaneous.

Mr. Person was about 60 years old, and had lived on the farm that he owned a number of years. About two years ago his wife died and he has since been dependent on mourning over the death of his wife, having apparently unbalanced his mind.

He has a son, Arthur, living at Taylor's Falls, and two daughters, Selma and Elma, who are making St. Paul their home. After the death of Mrs. Person, the man leased his farm to Frank A. Swanson, who lives in the dwelling, and Mr. Person made his home with the Swanson family.

REDWOOD FALLS HAS GONE "DRY" BY ELEVEN MAJORITY

Redwood Falls, Minn., Jan. 13.—The license question was the principal issue at Monday's city election. The vote many has a 14-year franchise that has ten years more of life, but applied for a new one. The ordinance was passed last week by a vote of 3 to 2, one of the aldermen being absent. The mayor thereupon vetoed the ordinance.

MAYOR JOYCE RESIGNS.

Ill Health Forces Ashland's Executive to Relinquish Job.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ill health forced Mayor John Joyce to relinquish the office of mayor and he resigned at the last meeting of the council, much to the surprise of every one. William C. Knowles, president of the council, will be acting mayor for the next two years. The council refused to confirm the acting mayor's appointments of Charles Maloney and George Cook as sanitary officers, the second being named when the first was turned down. The appointment was made to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. W. Sharp, who resigned to become chief of police.

DRIVER FROZEN STIFF.

So Was His Team During North Dakota Blizzard.

Stanton, N. D., Jan. 13.—Frozen stiff while seated in his sleigh, his horse, still in their traces, having met a like death, was the fate of Everett Flinde, a homesteader in the remote part of North Dakota. Flinde started several weeks ago for ing school, will be in charge, and will be officially known as acting warden.

FOR CONCERTED ACTION.

Commercial Bodies of Red River Country to Meet Next Month.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the representatives of all the commercial organizations and municipal bodies in the Red river valley will be held here in February, with the view of securing concerted action in the matter of federal assistance to control the waters of the Red river and Red Lake river and their tributaries.

Other matters of deep concern to the northwestern part of the state, and in which every section is vitally interested will be discussed. Well-known speakers from abroad and persons thoroughly conversant with local conditions will be in attendance to aid in the deliberations.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—Saturday evening next the pupils of the Ashland high school will present a carnival at the high school building, which is expected to outclass all previous attempts. There will be a big circus with funny, clown, trained animals and acrobats, a grand "After Concert," and a realistic "Side Show."

Mondovi—Fire ruined the Methodist church this morning. The loss, $6,000, with about $2,500 insurance. Waukesha—Henry M. Hartwell, aged 77 years, a pioneer in the city and early resident of Milwaukee, is dead at Inez, Tex., to which place he re-

Fargo, N. D.—Thirty-one years ago Tuesday, Jan. 11, 1878, the First National Bank of Fargo started in business. Many of its depositors and patrons at that time are still living in Fargo and are still doing their business with this institution.

Whitecourt, S. D.—Charles Barton, a stage driver who was caught in a storm in which he lost his way, and only through sheer pluck saved his life and reached Sturgis in safety, was so badly frozen that he will lose his hands and feet.

Bismarck, N. D.—Fred Green, the first child born in Glenfilla, was in the city Monday proving up on a homestead. His father, Elbridge Green, came from the town of Jay, in Essex county, N. Y., in 1886, and has been in the state ever since. They are among the most substantial settlers of that section of Morton county.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Moorhead—At the meeting of the city council on Monday evening it was announced that the members of the water and light commission had voluntarily agreed to forego the monthly salary of $166 which has been paid to each of them, and were willing to serve the city in the future without pay.

Brainerd—The taxes of the city of Brainerd have been rather better paid up this year than last, according to the statement of County Auditor Snary, to whom County Treasurer Adair has returned the tax books of 1908. There is about $11,000 unpaid out of a total of about $97,000.

Marquette—The executive committee of the Southern Minnesota Educational association has completed its preliminary announcements for the annual meeting, to be held in Marquette, Thursday evening, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 10, 11 and 12. This change of date has been made necessary by the change of the date of the state meeting to that formerly used by the local associations.

Little Falls—Ezra Heroux of Wagner, Mont., who is visiting his brother, F. A. Heroux, purchased two stallions in Morrison county and shipped them west on Wednesday. Both are large, grey animals and were purchased at Pierz.

Aitkin—At a meeting of the board of education the need of a sewing machine for the domestic science department was brought to the attention of the members. The board was reluctant to take action. E. A. Gyd promptly offered to donate a new sewing machine to the department at his own expense.

St. Cloud—The First National bank directors elected the following officers: President, E. F. Moore; vice president, W. C. Collier; cashier, George A. Moore; teller, P. Moore; and Thursday, assistant cashier, George A. Moore. Mr. Moore is the president of the First National bank, and has been in the city since the bank took effect in the near future.

Anoka—Mary E. Butler died at her home in this city Monday, after an illness of eighteen days. She was born in Nova Scotia in 1839. In 1879 she was married to Hugh Butler, who survived her. She came to Minnesota twenty-eight years ago.

Sillwater—James Johnson, a resident of Sillwater, died the past two weeks, died Monday at his home at the age of 56 years. Mr. Johnson has been married to his bed since Christmas. The cause of death was pneumonia. He was a native of Sweden and was a member of the Lutheran church. He was survived by his wife and two daughters.

St. Cloud—News has been received by relatives in this city of the death of Mrs. John Wedl, formerly of St. Cloud, who left here last spring to live at her home in Spokane. Mrs. Wedl was born in Munson, in 1867. Her maiden name was Zaczowski. Shortly after her marriage to John Wedl she moved to St. Cloud. She was 42 years of age when she died, leaving a wife and two daughters.

East Grand Forks—Superintendent of Schools O. A. Pherson of Crookston was in the city Monday for the purpose of making an inspection of the heating and venting system in the Central school. He made the inspection that he might be in a better position to pass upon the installation of such systems in other schools.

purpose of effecting an organization to take up the work again this year. In addition to boosting the candidates of Gronna and Marshall, the organization will also make up a slate of candidates which has already been partially arranged. Mr. Marshall is in attendance at today's meeting, but Congressman Gronna is in Washington.

One of the latest reports in connection with the movements of the two senatorial candidates is that they will endorse the candidacy of Congressman L. B. Hanna, who is out for reelection. Gronna's action in giving way to Congressman Hanna on committees in congress is taken to mean that they have come to an agreement.

KILLS HIS HELPER.

Manager of South Dakota Farm Wields Big Butcher Knife.

Aberdeen, N. D., Jan. 13.—In a fight which took place two miles east of this city last evening, Carl Storch, manager of the Heard farm, drove a big butcher knife into the abdomen of his helper, Robert Frank.

The latter died at a hospital. It is thought that a long standing feud over family affairs was the cause for Storch's action.

BRainerd LODGE INSTALLS.

Interesting Ceremonies Mark the Annual Event Tuesday Night.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—White Sand Lodge, No. 330, held a very pleasant and profitable session Tuesday night. There was inhis cellar, but when questioned as to the exact location of it he refused to answer. Judge Davis ordered Luck-singer placed in the county jail until he decided to give the other information on the subject. Evidence was given in the case of Myers vs. Dora Luck-singer, involving the transfer of some property.

leave the "dry" eleven majority, but there he thought the aldermen's calculations are under agreement that this is the matter.

The no-license candidates had agreed that they would refuse license only in cases the votes in both wards gave a majority against the proposition. The first ward gave a majority of twelve against license, while the second went 36 "wet" and 97 "dry," two ballots not being marked on the license isue and one ballot being imperfectly marked on the license issue, the word "yes" appearing opposite the affirmative and a check opposite the negative.

NELSON COUNTY COURT TERM IS CONCLUDED.

Lakota, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of criminal cases in the Nelson county district court was completed yesterday when the jury in the case against Albert Wagner, charged with non-support, returned a verdict of guilty. The jury was out at night before and apparently agreed to a fine of $30. Failure to pay the fine will mean six additional months in jail. Stevens was taken to Grand Forks last night and will serve time in the county jail in that city.

Passed Over Mayor's Veto.

Sauk Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—The city council has passed over the mayor's veto an ordinance granting a 25-year franchise to the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company. The commissioners of the Northern Wisconsin state fair Tuesday, the dates for the big fair at Chippewa Falls for 1910 were fixed as Sept. 19 to 23, inclusive. These dates will not conflict with the Minnesota state fair nor the Wisconsin state fair, which come Sept. 10 to 18, and Sept. 12 to 16, respectively.

WARDEN WOLFER GETS A LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Warden Henry Wolfer of the Stillwater prison, was given a three month leave of absence by the state board of control. It was requested by Mr. Wolfer.

During his absence, F. A. Whittier, superintendent of the Red Wing train-moved from Waukesha a year ago. Mr. Hartwell was born in Washington county, N. Y., in 1832, and came to Milwaukee in 1868, where he kept books for a time for a packing company.

Milwaukee—Mrs. Louise Tetrazzini appears in song recital at the Auditorium Jan. 23, under the management of Max Baumbach, a Chicago impresario. She will be supported by singers from the Manhattan opera house, New York. Her program includes the "Lucia" sextette, which will be given with a full complement of singers; the soprano aria from "La Traviata," the mad scene from the former opera, and a group of French and Italian songs.

Kenosha—John McGuire, aged 50 years, formerly one of the best-known men in Kenosha county, died in the Racine county hospital for the insane at Grafton, on Saturday. McGuire had been in the asylum for more than seven years.

Madison—State High School Inspector H. L. Terry has gone East, and in company with Prof. John F. Woodhull of Columbia university, and Prof. C. R. Man of the University of Chicago, will inspect the public schools of New York city.

Bau Claire—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Northern Wisconsin state fair Tuesday, the dates for the big fair at Chippewa Falls for 1910 were fixed as Sept. 19 to 23, inclusive. These dates will not conflict with the Minnesota state fair nor the Wisconsin state fair, which come Sept. 10 to 18, and Sept. 12 to 16, respectively.

WARDEN WOLFER

Have Been Shot.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14. (Special Telegram.)—Alexander McKenzie convicted in Roseau county in August 1916, of murder in the first degree and now serving the fourth year of a life term in the state prison at Stillwater, may be an innocent man.

The complete vindication of your McKenzie rests upon the identification of Dutch Henry, one of the men who were with the three thieves that ever terrorized the border country, who was shot and killed by the Royal Northwest Mounted Police at the mouth of the Red river, last Monday. "Dutch Henry" is a man for whose murder McKenzie was sentenced to spend his life in prison.

The work of unravelling the crime is now in the hands of the police, who resulted in landing McKenzie behind the bars of the state prison at Stillwater and it is expected that in a few days at the latest McKenzie will walk out of the penitentiary a free man.

Most Signally Successful Clothing Sale in the History of Duluth.

From the hour of starting up to the present time the response has been tremendously gratifying—a fact which clinches the argument that clean, honest methods are appreciated and that the Oak Hall enjoys the fullest confidence of the people. No exaggerating or misleading statements are permitted in our advertising. No need to tell you we soon move to the beautiful new building at the corner of Second avenue west and Superior street and that we are compelled to sacrifice our entire stock of seasonable, stylish, perfect-fitting hand-tailored

Suits and Overcoats for Men and Boys

As nothing is to be moved to the new store—startling reductions must sell everything here. We have prepared for a big day's trade tomorrow—extra salespeople in every department, and our assortments are still so complete that we can promise to fit both father and son with the Suit or Overcoat you like best.

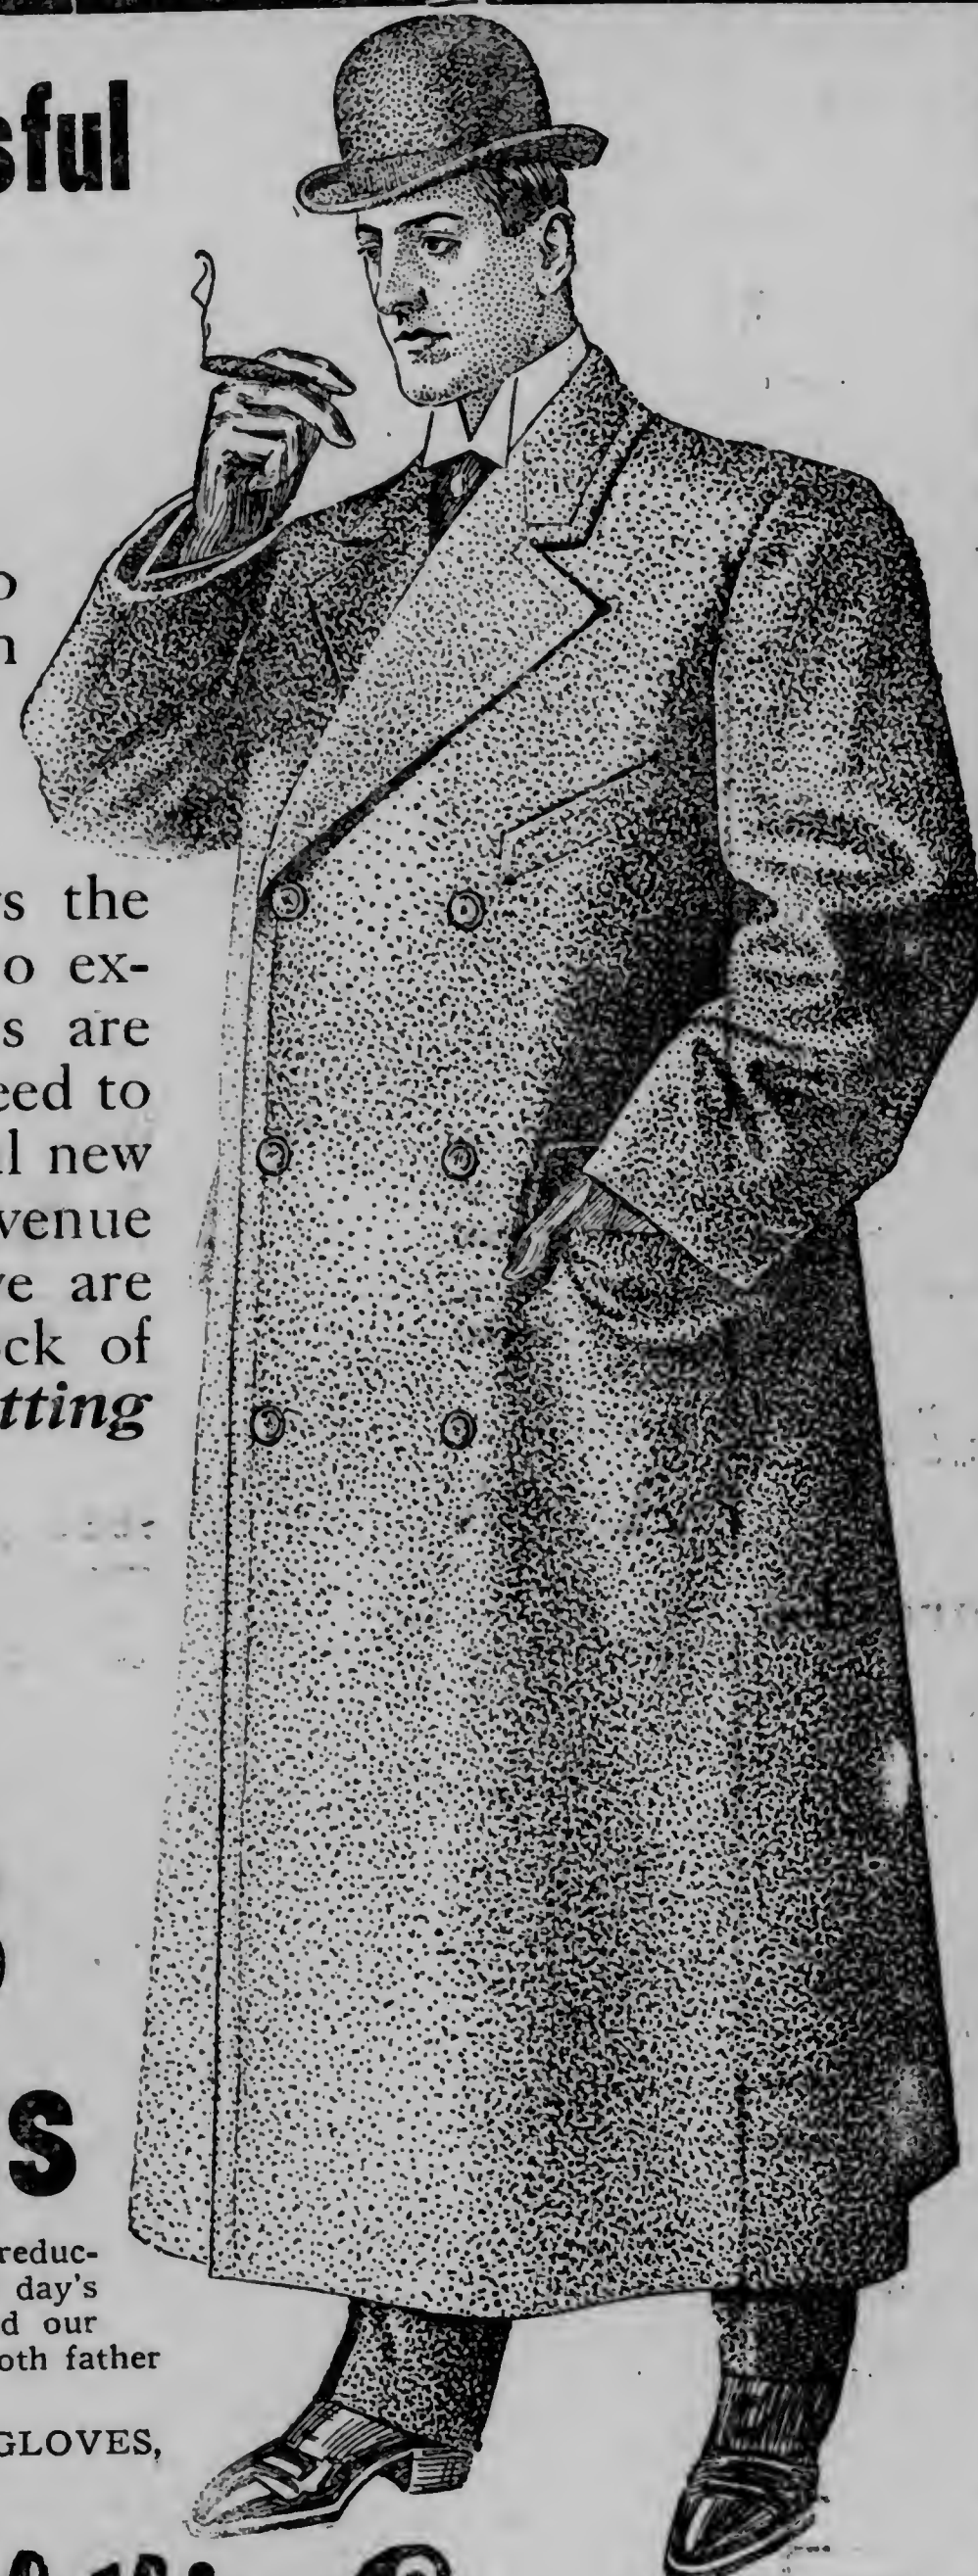

YOU NEED UNDERWEAR, SHOES, HATS, CAPS, GLOVES, and YOU SAVE MONEY BY BUYING HERE.

OPEN HOUSE FOR GUESTS

Big Excursion of Merchants Will Visit Duluth
Feb. 12.

City Will Entertain 500 Visitors From Soo Line Territory.

On Feb. 11 and 12 Duluth will be the host of more than 500 merchants, professional men and settlers, their wives and families, from the towns along the line of the Brooten branch of the Soo railway. Final plans for the entertainment of the visitors were completed today.

The excursionists will reach Duluth at noon on Friday, Feb. 11. The citizens of the territory that is, in the near future, going to prove a market for this city, will be met at the station by the Duluth Ski club to have the visitors taken to either the Commercial club, as later plans will determine. Friday evening a public reception will be given to the guests of the city, either at the Lyceum theater or at the Commercial club.

Saturday the big ski tournament will prove a great attraction to the visitors. Arrangements have been made by the Duluth Ski club to have the Stillwater tournament's date, which came on the 12th of February, cancelled, and plans are being completed to make the tournament held here on the 12th, the largest tournament that has been held in the Northwest for years.

Prominent riders from all over the Northwest will compete for cash prizes and trophies. A special effort will be made to have the tournament especially attractive because of the presence here of the excursionists.

Three trains of seven coaches each will bring the guests of Duluth here. Everything will be done to contribute to their enjoyment. They will be shown through the wholesale center, the retail stores, and other attractions of the city. Mayor Haven will extend the freedom of the city to the visitors for the two days they are the guests of Greater Duluth.

Special rates have been secured at all of the Duluth hotels, and special arrangements will be made for the comfort of the visitors will be made by the managers of all the local hostilities. The excursionists will leave Duluth at 6 o'clock Saturday.

Duluth-Husa Copper Mines Company Has Great Mine.

Great interest is being shown all over the Northwest in the proposition of the Duluth-Husa Copper Mines company of Duluth, which will place tomorrow a limited amount of its stock on the market.

The company is comprised mostly of Duluth men and has secured control of the famous Husa copper mines at Jemland, Sweden.

The property comprises 6,000 acres and 2,000 acres of timber land. The company owns its own water power and a railroad crosses its property.

Reports from mine of the prominent mining engineers of Europe and America are unambiguously unanimous in stating that the ore bodies are inexhaustible.

Thousands of applications have been made at the company's offices for the properties, which is one of the most complete that has ever been issued in this part of the country. The prospectus contains a minute description of the property, with engineers' reports, photographs, maps, etc. The company's offices are located at 218 West Superior street.

Bonding Company Cannot Recover By Confiscating Pinkerton's Claim.

James H. Pinkerton, formerly treasurer of the town of Schroeder, in Cook county, may hold his homestead of 160 acres of land in sections 28 and 27, 39-5, according to a decision filed by Judge H. B. Dibel, in district court, this morning. The decision probably rights the last chapter to the Pinkerton case, which has been before the courts of Cook and St. Louis counties for over three years past.

The Title Guaranty & Security company, of St. Louis, Mo., Pinkerton's surety while he was treasurer of the town of Schroeder, claimed an interest in the lands by virtue of having been substituted as the judgment creditor in a judgment obtained against Pinkerton by the town of Schroeder in the St. Louis county courts after Pinkerton had failed to turn over all of the money due to the town.

Pinkerton brought suit to have the judgment declared no lien on his land, and Judge Dibel upholds him in the contention.

For a beating he says he received from the hands of Carl Wallin at Midway, Nov. 26, Carl Johan Lind wants $3,500 damages. The case was put on trial before Judge Dibel in district court this morning.

Lind claims that he called on S. Samuelson, a neighbor at Midway, on the day of the fight, while he was in the house, Wallin entered and without warning, attacked him. He claims he was knocked down and beat-

Every Friedman Suit and Dress

At Exactly

HALF PRICE!

Every garment must go now. We are taking an enormous loss to clear our racks. This is a time when you cannot afford to hesitate. Every single garment in our stock will go—there's no doubt about that—it's simply a question of who is to profit by this half-price opportunity. Our stocks are confined to high-grade garments, exclusively. We do not handle the ordinary cheaply made garments at all—so do not conflict this sale with the ordinary sales of sale garments, of which you read every day.

Weeks.

The remarkable increase in the value of lands on the St. Louis river and vicinity is illustrated by two bids, which came to light this week.

In one instance twice the price paid, an advance of $200 an acre, was turned down and in the other an advance of $90 an acre was not even considered.

Eight weeks ago, Thomas Merritt acquired an interest in the old McKenzie farm, opposite New Duluth, paying $200 an acre. This week the man with whom he is associated in the deal refused to take $400 an acre for his share.

IS SUING HIS STEPMOTHER

John S. Wolf Claims She Misrepresented Value of Property.

Land Involved Is Now Site of the Branch Bethel.

The suit of John S. Wolf against his stepmother, Jennie C. Wolf, is still on before Judge Cant in district court today. Wolf is suing for a one-half interest in the property on which the Branch Bethel stands on West Superior street. He claims that he deeded his interest in the property to his stepmother for $50, under a misapprehension as to its value.

The case is attracting considerable local attention on account of the prominence of the family in the early days of Duluth. The property was the Wolf homestead and was occupied for years by Joseph Wolf of the railroad contracting firm of Wolf & King. Mr. Wolf died here in 1894.

John S. Wolf, who was 16 years old at the time of his father's death, was away at school. He did not come to Duluth for many years and shortly after he became of age, he says his stepmother told him that the only interest he had in his father's property was an interest in some lands that were almost valueless. He claims he signed two deeds covering his interest in two pieces of property. As a matter of fact, he says, he had a half interest in the Bethel property, subject to his stepmother's life interest.

He says he recently learned the value of the property which he deeded away and he wants the deed set aside.

The January Out-Clearing

ALL-OVER-THE-STORE has made this a more than busy week.

Women have flockt here in thousands. This annual event has been held so many years that shrewd people of economy have long ago learned its full value. Half price and less (with a red line under less) practically rules thruout the store. Something doing tomorrow!!!

Clearance-- Hosiery & Underwear

These prices—lowest of the year—justify economical people to lay in a year's supply.

$3.00 Black Silk Hose, embroidered in all shades. Clearance price $2.00—$2.75 grades at $1.75 pair.

LYCEUM—"The Third Degree"

HER FIRST PART.

Miss Fernanda Elisen Tells of Her Early Stage Career.

"My first acquaintance with the theater was made in Jassi, Roumania. I was a child of 8," said Miss Fernanda Elisen of "The Third Degree" company, now at the Lyceum. "Our home was next door to the theater, and my greatest joy was to watch the actors and actresses as they went to and from the theater. My playmates, all of whom were older than I, related glowing tales of the wonderful lives led by these people. When I was asked what I intended to do when I grew up, I invariably answered: 'To play in the theater.' My parents, moving to America two years later, I found that here the theater was even more popular than it was in my native country. Going to school and learning the English language was for me only a means to the end—of going upon a theatrical career. I studied with this aim in mind, and finally I interrupted the management of the Sargent School of Acting to devote myself to the study of the art. I had an idea that this was an endowed institution, but to my dismay I discovered that the fees were beyond the means of my parents. However, I was permitted to take the entrance examination and won a quasi scholarship, which permitted my receiving two lessons a week. In order to gain funds to continue my work I was given an opportunity to do extra work in the way of singing. The first money I earned with Maude Adams in 'The Little Minister,' then playing at the Empire theater, New York. I was given the third understudy part of Miss Dow. One night I arrived at the theater and found that Miss Adams had been called away. I was told to dress for the part immediately, and with trembling hands I stepped upon the stage. I was given the opportunity of even running through the lines, Miss Adams called me to her dressing room and volunteered to help me dress and make up. I told her I thought I could do it myself, but she insisted that after I had finished I should come and see her. She came and I needed anything. Miss Adams, who played the part, wore a wig but I looked as if I had a wig on. After I had dressed I came to the star to have her look over me for final inspection, and she said that I needed no suggestion. Realizing that my future depended on my performance, I fortified myself against any nervousness and went through the performance without a hitch. After the play was over Miss Adams complimented me in the presence of the entire company. I played the part three times and Charles Frohman sent me a check. It was significant that on the same night I played the part I received a letter from Sargent school, congratulating me and the directors in consideration of the progress I had made would permit me to skip a year and take the junior examination for the senior course, although I was then doing the first-year work. I finished my year at this school, and when Miss Adams went on the road in 'The Little Minister,' I was given the regular part of playing Miss Dow."

VIGOROUS AT 82

MR. WARREN CUTLER, 82 YEARS OLD.

Mr. Warren Cutler of Woburn, Mass., who is 82 years old, says that DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY is the right thing for him because it restored his vigor and strength in his declining years. He looks and acts like a man 30 years younger.

In a late interview Mr. Cutler said: "For about two years I have been using Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and it has been of great benefit to me. I was all run down and debilitated and nothing seemed to build me up. I read in the Boston Globe about Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and thought it would be just the right thing for me, and have found it so. I am 82 years of age."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is endorsed by leading men in all professions, including clergymen, doctors, educators, nurses, lawyers, as well as business men and women in all walks of life who unite in commending it as the only perfect tonic stimulant, the one true medicinal whiskey.

It makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong. It is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

as a tonic and stimulant is one of the greatest strength-givers known to science. It aids in destroying disease, and by its building and healing properties assists in restoring tissue in a gradual, healthy, natural manner. It is a wonderful remedy in the treatment and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grippe, bronchitis, coughs, colds, malaria, low-fever, stomach troubles and all wasting, weakened conditions, if taken in time, and in small doses as directed.

If in need of advice, write Medical Department, Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, N. Y., stating your case fully. Our doctor will send you advice free, together with a valuable illustrated medical booklet, containing rare common sense rules for health, which you cannot afford to be without, and some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of this great medicine and who continue to enjoy good health. It is sold by druggists, grocers and dealers or direct, $1.00 per large bottle.

CASUAL REMARK

Of Judge Wrings Admission From Prisoner of Past Offenses.

New York, Jan. 14.—For stealing $3 from a poor box in St. Agnes church, in East Forty-third street, John Do Laune, a Frenchman, who refused to tell his address, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Justice

Wyatt of the court of special sessions. Although there was no record of the prisoner on file, one of the justices said casually: "You have been here before."

"Yes, but it was five years ago," retorted De Laune.

OLD KENTISH WEDDING.

London Daily Graphic: A quaint old English wedding took place at Trinity church, Kent, on Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Marjory Nash, daughter of Capt. Nash, late R. H. A., of Trowley, was married to Percy Allen. The bridal carriage consisted of a gaily decorated motor wagon drawn by a prize team of shires. Returning from the church the bridal party was headed by fiddlers and dancers, and on arrival at the village green the inhabitants were given cakes and cider, and very bright festivities followed.

MYSTERY IS EXPLAINED

Friendship of Crown Princess of Sweden for American Girls.

London, Jan. 14.—It used to be a source of the bitterest pain to Connaught, duchess of Manchester, to know that certain portions of the press used to make unkind insinuations regarding the great friendship between her and the king. She was a keenly sensitive woman, but burning curiosity, and would know all that was said about her in the press, or elsewhere, if she could. With unfailing regularity she subscribed to numbers of press cutting agencies here, on the continent and in America. She was wont to remark: "There are people who won't believe until I am dead that there is not one vestige of truth in the horrid things they say of my friendship with King Edward. I mean yet to prove what a villainous lie it is."

Her way of proving it was in the gift of the superb bracelet to the queen Alexandra. It was only a couple of years ago she decided to present this to her majesty, the idea having been suggested unconsciously by Queen Alexandra herself, who is passionately fond of rubies.

"Really, duchess," she said, "I have never seen so lovely a ruby as that in your bracelet."

There and then the duchess wished to give the jewel to the queen, but her majesty would not hear of such a thing.

"I should feel as if I had asked for it," she replied. "I shall leave it to you in my will."

Neither thought at the time how very soon the promise was to be fulfilled.

Princess Connaught would dearly like to have taken to Stockholm one of two of the American girls she loves best, but some time ago it was intimated to the crown princess, her sister, that it was better for her to meet her American friends in England than in Sweden.

Furious jealousy was caused among her future subjects by the way in which she used to have Americans to stay with her. At first she put her friends in the hands of her mother, but her relations and King Edward advised her to be more independent, and to have a house of her own, that it was better for her to meet her American friends in England than in Sweden.

The princess part of Connaught is spending the holidays in Stockholm to cheer her sister up, as she expressed it. Her sister, though, though considerably improved since the advent of the English princess, is still dull and downy. Americans are the first to admit, the Connaught family are the best dressed, by long odds, in the royal family. There are those who maintain that this is because of the influence of an American, Mrs. John Leslie, who is the inseparable friend as well as lady-in-waiting of the duchess of Connaught.

When Princess Margaret was having her trousseau, everybody knew that it was Mrs. Leslie who advised her sartorially and selected the things for her approbation. Mrs. John Leslie is a sister of Mrs. George West.

Now that Joseph Chamberlain is before the public once more, his life in her element. Since the first day of her marriage she has always been of the opinion that her husband is the greatest man on earth. Mrs. Chamberlain is a revelation to the typical society woman. Since his illness she has never been separated from her husband for a single day. His companion, chum, nurse, secretary, factum and, moreover, his better half, his inspirer, are roles which Mrs. Chamberlain fills all the time. She is aware that the old man is never so happy as when he is before the public, and she reverts in any manner of gratifying his ambition through the anxiety that he may overexert himself is eternally with her. Her hands are more than full at the present, endeavoring to keep him quiet, for like an old man, he has a tendency to dash to the front at the smell of powder, so does the venerable statesman pine to be in the thick of the political fray.

At a country house where the Chamberlains were staying some time ago a man who took Mrs. Joe in to dinner tried the usual subjects of conversation.

"Ninety-Three"

The Story of a Famous Name and How It Originated.

The foremost dermatologist in France, Dr. Souverain, Paris, and Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, discovered that a microbe caused baldness. To prove their theory, Dr. Sabouraud infected a guinea pig with some of these microbes and in a comparatively short time the animal was denuded of every hair that was on its body.

Some eminent histologists and chemists were employed by the United Drug Co., Boston, Mass., to find the cause of destroying these microbes and a remedy that would create a new growth of hair where the hair root had not been entirely destroyed.

After months of study, experiment and research work, they discovered what they claimed would do what was demanded, and unquestionably prove their theory. 100 leading druggists, located in as many different cities, were requested to each furnish the name of a responsible person suffering from falling hair and baldness. Each of these 100 persons was furnished three bottles of the preparation with a request to give it a thorough trial and report results.

Five of these people failed to report. Two declared they had been bald for years; that their hair follicles had long been closed, and their scalp was smooth and glossy.

Ninety-three of the 100 sent in enthusiastic reports that they were delighted with the hair-restoring qualities of the preparation, and expressed sincere thanks for the wonderful benefits brought about by its use. In commemoration of this, the new preparation was named Rexall "93."

We sell this remedy with the distinct understanding that it is free of cost to the user in every case where it does not completely remove dandruff, stimulate the hair follicles, revitalize the hair roots, stop the hair from falling out, grow new hair and make the scalp free from irritation.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic comes in two sizes, prices 20 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Duluth at our store—The Local Store—E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street.

tion with her. He began on the new play. "I have not been inside of a theater for nearly four years, she frankly acknowledged. Then he turned to books.

"It's ages since I read a novel," she said. "Mr. Chamberlain does not care for novels, but he likes to deal with travel, science or history, and I have grown fond of them, too, because he reads."

Afterward this man said to his hostess: "Talk of the old-fashioned wives! Crickly Mrs. Joe Chamberlain takes the cake. I thought there were none of her sort left. She is almost enough to tempt a saint to sainthood."

Sometimes at a wedding one gets a glimpse of Mrs. Chamberlain—almost the only festivity at which she is ever seen. She wears always a lovely frock with Parisianly written, so to speak, in every fold of it. She looks slight and almost girlish, and her friends all know that if they want to curry favor with her they must talk about "him."

Girls Like Election.

Quite young girls are looking forward to an exciting month—"the time of our lives," as one enthusiast expressed it. They think electioneering will be far better fun than tea parties and dancing. In London ballrooms, champions regard the forthcoming fight as a splendid opportunity for their shrews to meet with desirable suitors. They are willing for such a possibility to pay the girl's personal expenses in the matter, and to contribute to the funds besides.

The other morning there appeared in the columns of the Daily Telegraph the following advertisement: "I want a Conservative candidate at general election, a number of young men to canvass. Must be pretty well dressed."

It is said the advertiser received 1,000 answers. In the first instance he was willing to pay for the services he desired. When he saw the baskets full of letters which were sent in reply, he observed that this was unnecessary and is accepting services for love.

Women like to work, they say, whether they are paid for it or not. It is one of their ways of amusing themselves. In electioneering they assume you that, notwithstanding the hard work, the scope for amusement is considerable. The experience of living in country inns, which has so often to be done, gives one a taste of the life of a king or at least what will appear so, because of the circumstances in which it will be undertaken.

A Wild Hibernian Ragging.

Brings danger, suffering—often death—to thousands, who take colds, coughs and laryngitis—that terror of winter and spring. Its danger signals are "sore throat, hoarseness, loss of voice, sore, chills and fever, pain in back of head and a throat-scratching cough. When grip attacks, as you value your life, don't delay getting Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle cures me," writes A. L. Dunn of Pine Valley, Miss., after being laid up three weeks with Croup, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, it's curement, $1. Guaranteed by all druggists.

PEARY WRITES REGARDING COOK

Mentions the Brooklyn Doctor in His Story in Hampton's.

New York, Jan. 13.—For the first time in his story of the discovery of the North Pole, now appearing in Hampton's Magazine, Commander Robert E. Peary mentions the name of his late lamented rival. In the forthcoming February installment he says: "At Etah, Rudolph Franko, who had come North with Dr. Cook in 1907, came to me and asked permission to go home on the Etah. He showed me a letter from Dr. Cook directing him to go home this season on a whaler. An examination by Dr. Goodell, my surgeon, showed that the man had incipient scurvy and that he was in a serious mental state, so I had no alternative but to give him passage home on the Etah. Boatswain Murphy, whom I was to leave at Etah, was a thoroughly reliable man, and I gave him instructions to prevent the Eskimos from looting the supplies and equipment left there by Dr. Cook, and to be prepared to render Dr. Cook any assistance he might require when he returned. As I had no doubt, so would as soon as the ice froze over the North Sound (presumably in January) so as to enable him to cross to Ancheron from Ellesmere Land, where I have no doubt he then was."

The fact that Franko was suffering from mental disorder finds a curious coincidence in the recent report of Cook's own mental condition.

DREADNOUGHT FOR FRANCE.

Admiral de Lapeyriere Is New Force in French Navy.

Paris, Jan. 14.—Admiral Boue de Lapeyriere is the new organizer of victory in the French navy. Not for twenty years has there been such activity in French shipyards, such hope in the breasts of naval performers. The admiral is a real man of action—not a mere theorizer like his predecessors. He has urged the government successfully to build Dreadnoughts of a larger and more powerful type than any now being laid down by England and Germany, and work upon the first two units in the great new fleet of France will be commenced in the spring.

Though avoiding the exaggerations of those who attribute a high rate of offense to the submarine, the admiral is convinced of its military value. Quite recently he ordered a redistribution of the principal ports in time of war. In this connection M. Loubet, former chief designer in the navy and well known authority on under-water craft, contributes an important paper to La Guerre Maritime. He insists that the submarine is the real arm of the weaker nations. M. Loubet declares that European countries are on the eve of a profound change in naval policy. The second-class powers will give up the costly attempt to build small battle-ships, being unable to afford Dreadnoughts, and limit themselves to the construction of defensive flotillas composed of torpedo boats and submarines.

TALK OF COST OF LIVING MEETING

Convention of Chambers of Commerce Suggested at Washington.

Washington, Jan. 14.—A convention of the chambers of commerce of all the large cities to take some step to investigate the cost of living and the reasons for higher prices of foodstuffs is, it is said, being considered. Such a course has been suggested as an adjunct of the investigation which Secretary Wilson for the department of agriculture has proposed.

It is said that neither Secretary Wilson nor the department of agriculture take could be concerned in suggesting such a step, it is being considered and is now being discussed as among the probabilities of the future.

PRISONER AT STILLWATER SERVING LIFE SENTENCE MAY BE INNOCENT MAN

Don his father and mother, who have worked untiringly for four long years to free his innocent son.

McKenzie's case is one of the strangest in the criminal annals of Minnesota and one of the most recent. In the past year has occupied the attention of Governor Johnson and Edward of Minnesota Governor D. A. McKinnon of Prince Edward Island and of the British Isles.

Alexander McKenzie was born near Charlottetown, P. E. I., in 1852, and lived there the first twenty years of his life. He came to the United States in 1870, in 1902, when 20 years of age, young McKenzie, by the promise of the great wealth to be made in the Canadian Northwest, left his home and parents and went to Southern Saskatchewan. He worked at harvest work for one season, and then crossed the border to Montana.

He remained in Montana four years, and it was in that state that he made the acquaintance of Henry Stewart, known throughout the border land as "Dutch Henry," and who was one of the most desperate characters which that district ever produced. It was at that time that a price had been placed on his head by the police of that range state on both sides of the border.

One Circumstantial Evidence. Just how McKenzie was acquainted with "Dutch Henry," McKenzie was at this time is not known. But in December, 1905, the two were seen in Ardoch, N. D., in company with a third man, John Stevenson. After the supposed murder of "Dutch Henry," it was this incident that furnished one of the circumstances in the chain of circumstantial evidence that pointed to McKenzie as the murderer.

Stevenson owned a farm in Roseau county, Minn., and the promise, as he testified at the trial, McKenzie accompanied him to the farm. "Dutch Henry" went also, and the three were seen several times in company. A suspicious circumstance was that at this time McKenzie, at the request of Stevenson, manipulated a horse deal for the latter under the assumed name of John Cummings.

"Dutch Henry" left in a few days and was last seen on Dec. 30, 1905, in company with McKenzie. McKenzie went to several places, to which he was directed by Stevenson, in search of work, but failed to find any, and shortly after, in January, 1906, went back to North Dakota.

Body of Man Found. In April, 1906, the partially decomposed body of a man was found near the Stevenson place in Roseau county. It was identified as that of "Dutch Henry." Suspicion immediately pointed to McKenzie and he was arrested a few days later in McKinnon, S. D. He protested his innocence and volunteered to accompany the officers back to Minnesota without resistance. There was no direct evidence to connect him with the crime, but the circumstances were strong, and in August, 1906, McKenzie was tried, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Before, during and after the trial there was a strong belief current that "Dutch Henry" was not dead. Depositions along the boundary of North Dakota and Canada favored strongly of "Dutch Henry."

Parents Sought to Help Him. Young McKenzie's father and mother came to Minnesota to aid their son in his fight for acquittal of a crime that many were convinced, even though McKenzie had been acquitted, that he never committed. After their son was sent to Stillwater the father and mother returned to their old home in Eastern Canada, but settled in East Boston, Mass., where they have since resided.

The father, Daniel McKenzie, on the same day that Alexander commenced his life term in the penitentiary, began the accumulation of evidence that would tend to prove the latter innocent. He worked incessantly and by June, 1909, had collected a mass of evidence upon which Alexander could apply to the pardon board. This evidence included a letter from Governor D. A. McKinnon of Prince Edward Island to Governor Johnson, beseeching the good character of McKenzie and requesting a personal investigation of the matter, and a letter from the British foreign office stating that the English government was interested in the conviction of a Canadian subject and asking for full information on the case.

Applied to Pardon Board. The formal application, based on numerous affidavits, was made to the pardon board in July. One affidavit was from J. H. Butler, deputy sheriff of Valley county, Minn., where both McKenzie and "Dutch Henry" were well known, saying that several persons had seen the latter within a year. Mr. Butler testified that he knew of two persons well acquainted with "Dutch Henry"—P. L. Price and James Sherry, both of Montana.

Price wrote that Stewart, or "Dutch Henry," had been seen "alive and ugly as ever" by several persons whose affidavits he would secure. Sherry wrote that the man was alive and believed that he had been seen in Montana. Alexander's mother made an independent search for evidence and secured some Montana newspapers giving accounts of recent depositions by a man positively identified as "Dutch Henry."

A curious circumstance presented before the pardon board was that officials of the state of Montana evidently believed Stewart alive, for in 1908, nearly two years after McKenzie commenced his sentence in Stillwater, the governor of that state offered a big reward for his capture.

Identification Was Disputed. Affidavits were presented stating that the personal description of the man found dead in Roseau county did not correspond with that of "Dutch Henry." The former was an old man of small features and dark hair. Stewart was 35 years old, light complexion and weighed about 165 pounds. Based on this apparently strong proof of his innocence, the hopes of McKenzie ran high when the pardon board took up his case. Governor Johnson weighed the evidence in favor of a pardon and recommended that it be granted. Then came two letters that carried weight with the pardon board and blasted the "young man's" hopes for that time.

One was from S. M. Stebbins, county attorney of Roseau county, strongly opposing a pardon.

"He has served, but a little over three years," said the letter, "and I do not think his punishment has been commensurate with his crime."

The other letter came from A. Grindland, the judge of the district court who sentenced McKenzie. He said briefly:

"My recommendation is against the exercise of clemency at this time."

The pardon was refused.

No Appliance This Year. Then came the death of Governor Johnson. Governor Eberhart knew nothing officially of the case. McKenzie did not apply to the board this year.

COMMERCE HAS DOUBLED

The United States, compared with 46.08 per cent in 1889.

Lumber Heads Imports.

The ten largest items imported from Canada in the calendar year 1909, so far as shown by the monthly statements of the bureau of statistics, are: Lumber, $18,000,000; copper pigs, etc., $4,000,000; wood pulp, nearly $4,000,000; hides of cattle, $3,500,000; furs and skins, undressed, $1,500,000; tea, $1,000,000; copper ore and matte, $900,000; distilled spirits, $750,000, and horses, $700,000.

The ten leading articles exported to the dominion in the same year were: Bituminous coal, $17,000,000; anthracite coal, $14,000,000; cotton, $8,000,000; fruits and nuts, $5,000,000; boards, etc., $4,000,000; books, maps, etc., $3,000,000; agricultural implements, nearly $3,000,000; and automobiles and wheat, each about $2,500,000.

Nearly all important articles of exportation to Canada have increased in value since 1889. In 1889, for example, the value of the exports was $1,000,000; in 1909, scientific instruments, for example, were valued at $2,000,000, but in 1909, practically $5,000,000; furs and fur skins, from $500,000 to over $2,000,000; builders' hardware, from $1,000,000 to over $2,000,000; sewing machines, from $20,000 in 1889 to about double that sum in 1909; boots and shoes, from less than $500,000 to over $1,000,000; clocks and watches from less than $500,000 to nearly $1,000,000. It is proper to add that in the above statements of distribution of exports by articles the figures, while credited to Canada, include small amounts of merchandise exported to Newfoundland and Labrador, though the grand totals of both imports and exports relate exclusively to Canada.

SOLD LIQUOR ON INDIAN TERRITORY.

James Quinn, Edward Gannon and May Provost of Bemis, Minn., were each sentenced to sixty days in jail by Judge Morris in federal court yesterday afternoon, after they had pleaded guilty to charges of violating the laws relative to introducing liquor into Indian territory, on which they were indicted by the grand jury. William Quinn and Gus Johnson pleaded not guilty and they were released on $500 bonds.

WILLARD TO TAKE NEW OFFICE SATURDAY.

New York, Jan. 14.—Directors of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad yesterday put into effect the recently announced change in the management and declared the usual semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the preferred stock and 3 per cent on the common. Oscar G. Murray announced his withdrawal from the presidency, his formal retirement to take effect today. Daniel Willard, the new president, will take charge of the company's offices on Saturday. Mr. Murray hereafter will act as chairman of the board of directors, the new office especially created for him.

PLAN BILL AGAINST GAMBLING IN FUTURES.

Washington, Jan. 14.—A conference looking to the renewal of the fight on gambling in futures was held at the White House late yesterday. When President Taft took up the subject with Representative Scott of Kansas, lowering of Massachusetts and Burleson of Texas. The discussion was based on the bill introduced by Mr. Scott last year forbidding interstate telegraph, telephone and the mails to transmit messages with reference to future contracts for the sale of farm products where there is no intention of delivering the products.

CLAIM MILLIONAIRE WAS POISON VICTIM.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 14.—Doubting that Thomas H. Swope, the millionaire philanthropist, who died Oct. 3, came to his death by natural causes, relatives have started an investigation to determine the cause of his death. It has developed that Swope's body was taken from a vault in Forest Hill cemetery Wednesday and submitted to a medical examination. The man under suspicion is said to have attempted to inoculate the Swope family with typhoid bacteria, hoping to bring death by this means so he would not be suspected. This falling, however, he resorted to poison in the case of the two men.

Why Does Not The Stomach Digest Itself

An Unsolved Problem, Which Has Puzzled Physicians of All Schools.

A Trial Package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sent Free.

There seems to be no logical reason why the stomach should not digest itself when we consider the fact that it secretes digestive fluids and acids which are powerful enough to disintegrate and digest meats, eggs, fruits, cereals, vegetables and other forms of food taken into it.

In animals which were killed while in full digestion the stomach has undergone complete self-digestion after death, when the body was kept warm; and in human beings who have died suddenly while digestion was going on, it was found at the autopsy that not only had the stomach been digested, but also the liver, pancreas, spleen, and portions of the intestines.

The question naturally presents itself, "What protects the stomach from self-digestion during life?" Dr. Hunter declared that the "principle of life" in living things protected this organ from being digested by its own fluids, but Dr. Barnard successfully demonstrated that the hind legs of a living frog, when introduced through a fistula or artificial opening into the stomach of a hog, undergoes complete digestion, and Dr. Pavy, through similar experiment, found that the same was true of a rabbit's ear.

While the normal stomach is immune from self-digestion, there are many cases on record, however, in which a long-standing gastritis, and perverted digestion, has completely digested or eaten away the mucous membrane lining of the stomach, and in some instances has engendered gastric ulcer, which acts its way clear through the stomach wall, and caused a fatal peritonitis.

In all cases of perverted function of the stomach, which manifests itself by the numerous well-known symptoms of indigestion and dyspepsia, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act as a corrective, restoring it to a normal condition, toning up the secretory glands, as well as the lactical glands, which absorb the food, and at the same time assisting the stomach in the process of digestion, and preventing all possibility of such conditions arising as will cause perverted function, gastritis, gastric ulcers, or the eating away of the mucous membrane of the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are exceedingly powerful digestives, a single grain being sufficient to digest 2,000 grains of food, including meats, vegetables, cereals, etc. They digest all mucous and starchy foods equally well. Whenever the stomach is in a weakened condition, and so lacking in tone, that it furnishes an insufficient amount of gastric juice, such symptoms as heartburn, biliousness, headache, belching of gas and sour eructations are sure to appear, and make one feel generally miserable.

Such symptoms can, however, be overcome and done away with at once. Simply take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and forget all about your digestive troubles. They do their work promptly and thoroughly, every particle of food being completely digested, and fermentation, decomposition, and flatulence and heaviness in stomach after eating, relieved and cured. UNDERWOOD IS ELECTED

Defeats Furlong for Head of the State Agricultural Society.

Claimed to Be Victory for the Eberhart State Organization.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald)—J. M. Underwood of Lake City is the victor in the struggle for the presidency of the State Agricultural Society. He defeated J. J. Furlong of Austin by a plurality of 74 votes, the vote standing: Underwood, 162 1/2; Furlong, 156.

The battle was really won in the credentials committee, which passed on ten contested delegations. These delegations reported ten societies whose right to representation in the association was disputed. The delegates from these societies were all for Underwood, without them he could not have been elected. The disputed delegates were elected and that settled the fight, though by a close vote.

The victory of Underwood has statewide political significance. It is a victory for the Eberhart state organization. Furlong has been understood to be backed by R. C. Dunn and others who are not in harmony with the state administration. Underwood was supported by the governor's adherents.

The election of Underwood immediately brought Furlong's resignation to his feet with a motion to resign. Furlong followed with a short talk, urging harmony in the association and pledging his own active efforts toward the support of the new president. The motion was adopted by a rising vote.

For first vice president, E. W. Randall of St. Paul, former secretary, nominated M. Griggs of this city. His election followed by acclamation. E. P. Stillwell was likewise elected second vice president on being nominated by Dr. V. Collins, editor of the Northwest Agriculturalist, on the behalf of the Minneapolis Commercial club.

A secretary will be elected by the board of managers later. C. N. Cosgrove, the present secretary, doubtless will be re-elected as he is affiliated with the Underwood forces.

D. S. Hall announced his resignation as a member of the board of managers. He said he did so in deference to the ruling of Attorney General Simpson.

REID MAY QUIT THE ROCK ISLAND

May Be Eliminated Entirely From That Road, According to Report.

New York, Jan. 14.—S. B. Chapin & Co. have been published: Daniel Reid resigned yesterday as chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad, and now out of the mass of rumors which have cropped up since the recent sensational rise and fall in Rock Island common stock, the apparently authoritative report that the control of the Rock Island company is to change and Reid's influence will be eliminated.

Powerful foreign interests, headed by F. S. Pearson, banker, owner of Mexican properties and with strong Canadian connections, have recently acquired in the open market, large blocks of Rock Island common and preferred stocks. The exact amount is not disclosed, but probably represents about one-fifth of the whole. The newcomers, it is understood, are working in harmony with Judge William H. Moore and First National bank interests, who with Mr. Reid have in recent years dominated the Rock Island properties. Judge Moore has issued a statement in which he says that he and Mr. Reid, contrary to reports, were working in perfect harmony, but he declined to discuss other developments in the Rock Island situation.

Official announcement was made yesterday of the resignation of Richard A. Jackson as president and director of the Rock Island company and of the election of Robert Walker, formerly assistant general counsel, as his successor. Mr. Walker was also elected a member of the board of directors and chairman of the committee on finance and general counsel of the company. As chairman of the executive committee of this company he succeeds Mr. Reid.

Mr. Reid remains, however, as chairman of the board of directors of the Rock Island company and of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific company. Further changes in the official, former and director of these companies, including Mr. Reid, are forecasted as being probable.

The Columbia January Sales Are Now in Full Swing!

Many Kike stores flourish in this city that pay $3.33 for a sweatshop-made cotton suit, call it an $18 suit, and sell it for $6.66. Even stores you'd least suspect make big money in their special sales by juggling with figures and by downright deception in their ads. A "pure clothes" law hasn't been passed yet, but it will some day. The way many Retail Stores are conducted and the continuous, all-the-year-round "sales" have a lot to do with the high prices everybody complains of. Just keep your eyes open until the inevitable change comes and trade where you can go with confidence in straight methods. Special sales are rare at this store, but all of them are the real thing. Our January Sales are bigger than we like to see them on account of the money loss they entail. Still we have to clear the stocks at the end of each season.

PINCHOT DECLARES THAT HE WILL KEEP UP FIGHT

Dismissed Forester Makes Strong Statement on National Issues.

Brands Tawney Amendment to Conservation Bill as Treachery.

Washington, Jan. 14.—"The conservation of natural resources and the conservation of popular government are both at stake. The one needs the other."

This statement epitomizes the formal announcement made public last night by Gifford Pinchot, who was recently removed as chief of the forest service. The former official declares the great moral issue that now faces the country is not over loss of natural resources so much as whether special interests or the people shall rule. The statement in part is as follows:

"At this time I have no comment to make on recent events. Whether in or out of the government service, I propose to stay right in the fight for conservation and an equal opportunity for every movement and measure, from whatever source, that tends to advance conservation and promote government by men for human welfare. I shall try to help. Every movement and measure, from whatever source, that hinders conservation and promotes government by money or profit, I shall endeavor to oppose."

The Supreme Test.
"The supreme test of movements is the test of the people."

ing the fertility of our soils and developing their agricultural value. Mr. Pinchot then traced the recommendations of the conference, announcing and endorsing them all. "In a word," he said, "the message, taken together, set forth a comprehensive, definite statement for the conservation of our natural resources."

"At this critical period, when the legal was in sight, enemies of conservation in congress not only succeeded in preventing an appropriation with which to pursue the work, but attempted to forbid its progress by the Tawney amendment to the last sundry civil bill. Thereupon the work of the national conservation commission was stopped."

"The Tawney Amendment. The recommendations of the commission still wait for action. All wise men will agree that the situation is serious. The Tawney amendment was more than a mistake—it was a deliberate betrayal of the future. The dangers which confront the conservation movement today must be met by positive action in congress. No action will be equivalent to bad action and will have the same bad results."

"Unless congress acts, the water-powers will pass into the hands of special interests without charge and without limit of time. So with the phosphate deposits on public lands when the withdrawal which now prevents their sale is removed, the enormous valuable coal deposits in Alaska which the present law would sell for $10 per acre."

"The danger of bad legislation is no less serious. The special interests must no longer be allowed to take what they choose out of the great property of the lands and steal homes from men and women who need them. Congress can stop the pillage, or congress can let it go on."

"Great Plans May Fail. In the absence of proper action two great conservation plans for the public welfare may fail. The first is the plan for the conservation of the navigable streams in the public interest. The second is the plan for the conservation of the Great Lakes to the Gulf. The unanimous opinion of the Mississippi valley recognizes this waterway as a commercial necessity. It believes, however, that the institution which is already officially known, which is already compared with the benefits conferred. Transportation facilities create traffic. The failure to develop our waterways together with adequate terminals and connections by rail, leaves to the railroads a complete monopoly of transportation in the Mississippi valley."

The former forester then calls upon every "man of good will" to make clear to his representative in congress his firm intention to hold him personally responsible for safeguarding the "right and property of the people."

In such action, says Mr. Pinchot, lies the remedy.

"The first great immediate danger is that the water powers will be lost. The second, that the coal lands will be lost. But these specific dangers are public losses are merely parts of the great issues between the special interests and the rest of us. That issue is whether this country shall be maintained by men for human welfare, or by money for profit."

"It is a tremendous moral issue, far greater than any man's personal feelings or personal fortunes. It lies between the people and their representatives on one side and the interests and their representatives on the other between progress and reaction, between special privilege and square dealing. I repeat that the supreme test is the welfare of the plain people. It is time to apply it."

TWO OF HIS RIBS WERE SEVERED BY KNIFE.

Two of Walter Whitehead's ribs were completely severed and a lung penetrated by the knife wielded by Ralph Jones in the colored cub at 14 West Michigan street, as shown by a post-mortem on the prize fighters' body last night. This evidence will probably be used at Jones' trial to substantiate the claim that the slayer jerked the knife down and twisted it about while still imbedded in the dead man's body. The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

"PLANT ENEMIES"
SUBJECT OF ADDRESS.

"Plant Enemies" will be the subject of a lecture to be delivered tonight by Prof. F. L. Waburn, Minnesota state entomologist and member of the agricultural school faculty, before the association institute course of lectures at the Y. M. C. A. building, tonight. His lecture will be the first of the series. Ex-Governor John Lind was billed to deliver first lecture, but dates were exchanged as Prof. Waburn leaves shortly for Europe. This is the second year that the Association Institute course of lectures with the Commercial club, has given a course of lectures on the benefit of Duluth and vicinity.

Why Do Men
DRINK?

When you stop to think of the terrible results which come to men who indulge to excess in intoxicating beverages, well may you ask, Why do men drink? The fact simply stated is "A victim of the Drink Habit can no more resist liquor than a man with ague can stop shivering. Drunkenness is a disease and must be treated as such. The wives and mothers of those who drink intoxicants will be glad to know there is a remedy which will restore their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Many thousands of grateful women praise Orin for its benefits. Orin has been known to effect a cure after all other means failed. Jackson & Rockefeller, 24 West Park St., Butte, Mont., tell about a case of drunkenness of 25 years' standing. Read what they say: "A gentleman well known to us, who has been a hard drinker for twenty-five years, stated he had been entirely cured by Orin. We consider this a remarkable case, as this gentleman has been treated three different times at a well-known sanatorium. This and other cases that have come to our knowledge gives us confidence in your preparation, and it gives us pleasure to recommend it to those needing a reliable cure for temperance."

Orin is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and for those who give secretly in food or drink. Orin No. 2, in pill form, is for those who give secretly in food or drink. Orin costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Drive for Orin. Orin Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orin Co., 45 Orin Building, Washington, D. C. PUTS AN END TO STOMACH MISERY

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Vanish in Five Minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapensin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion, or gas, or heartburn at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Diapensin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belchings of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Diapensin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

INNOVATION IS PLANNED

Rome Making Preparations For the World's Fair in 1911.

Will Scatter Exhibits Over Four Corners of the City.

Rome, Jan. 14.—The program of the great exhibition to be held in Rome in 1911 is very attractive as well as original, and reflects credit on the executive committee and their indefatigable president, Count Di San Martino. The fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of Rome as the capital of the new united Italy is an occasion which might well call for more than ordinary efforts for its celebration, and the city seems to have fully responded to the call. The task was simplified to some extent by the fact that Turin will undertake in the same year an exhibition exemplifying the great economic progress made in Italy, her advance in science and machinery, and her agricultural and industrial products. The exhibition of Rome was, therefore, free to devote itself to the more generally interesting display of her achievements in the fine arts and of the discoveries of archaeology.

The scheme evolved by the committee of management introduces an admirable innovation in the history of international exhibitions. Everyone knows the weariness and monotony of visiting an endless number of temporary buildings, all erected in the same area, forming a collection too vast to be seen fully, even in two or three days and yet satisfying the sight-seer after a few hours. The exhibition of Rome will not be one, but many, scattered over the four corners of the city and each in its appropriate setting. Two of these exhibitions, modern art and architecture, will be international. The others will be almost purely Italian in character and will illustrate the archaeology of Italy, the history and art of the Middle Ages, of the Renaissance and of the Sixteenth century, modern Italian art of the last half century, the folklore and characteristics of the different Italian provinces, and Italian ethnography.

The most important feature will be the exhibition of modern art. The site is a stretch of ground between the Villa Giulia museum and the Borghese gardens. Here a large, permanent building is being erected by an Italian architect, Signor Bazzani, which will house the Italian pictures during the exhibition and will remain as a museum of Italian modern painting in the future.

The foreign pictures will be lodged in eleven other smaller buildings of a temporary character situated in the gardens with which the whole space will be filled. All the nations invited to compete have signified their consent, and with one or two exceptions have already allotted the funds which will be necessary for the erection of their pavilions and other expenses.

Valuable Prizes.
The permanent building of Signor Bazzani will also contain some international rooms where other foreign pictures will be admitted. The managing committee of the exhibition will, on the proposal of their advisers, give a special invitation to Italian and foreign artists of eminence to send works. The admission of works by artists not specially invited will be controlled by a committee of seven members, three of whom shall be foreigners. No picture will be accepted which has already been exhibited in Italy. Facilities will be made in the case of artists of foreign origin for the exhibition of groups or series of pictures by the same hand.

The prizes offered to international competition amount to $40,000; a prize of $10,000 for the best work, or group of works, in painting; $10,000 for the best work, or group of works, in sculpture; four prizes of $2,000 and $10,000 for other works of painting or sculpture; $10,000 to be divided among artists who send engravings, black and white or color, monotypes, original lithographs, or original illustrations for books and other publications, and finally prizes for works of criticism. These prizes, which may only be allotted to works by living artists, will have been completed since 1901, will be adjudged by a international jury of seven members, three elected by the exhibitors and four appointed by the section of the arts of the Italian government. Three of the jury must be foreigners.

Architectural Exhibit.
On the same area as the exhibition of modern art, between the Villa Giulia and the Borghese gardens, sites are set aside for an international exhibition of architecture. Of these nine will be allotted to foreign competitors who are invited to construct a modern building, suited to the changes and improvements of modern life. Three prizes will be given—one of $30,000, one of $20,000 and one of $10,000.

On the same area as the Villa Giulia museum to the Tiber will lead to a new building, which the Italian government has already begun, consisting of one single span. Over this bridge one passes to the Piazza d'Armi. In the Piazza d'Armi, there will be a national architectural exhibition of a very practical character. Sites have been allotted for different forms of architecture, and the competitors will be invited to construct permanent houses of three kinds: for the rich inhabitant, for the middle class, and for the workers' dwellings. A prize of $20,000 will be given to the successful competitor in each type.

In the Piazza d'Armi will also be erected the exhibition which will illustrate the regional differences of origin and customs in Italy. The various provinces will have their separate pavilions for the display of their characteristic arts and industries. Round them will be scattered representatives of village life and peasants in distinctive costumes will carry on some of their everyday industries, or dance and sing through the fashion, handed down through the centuries.

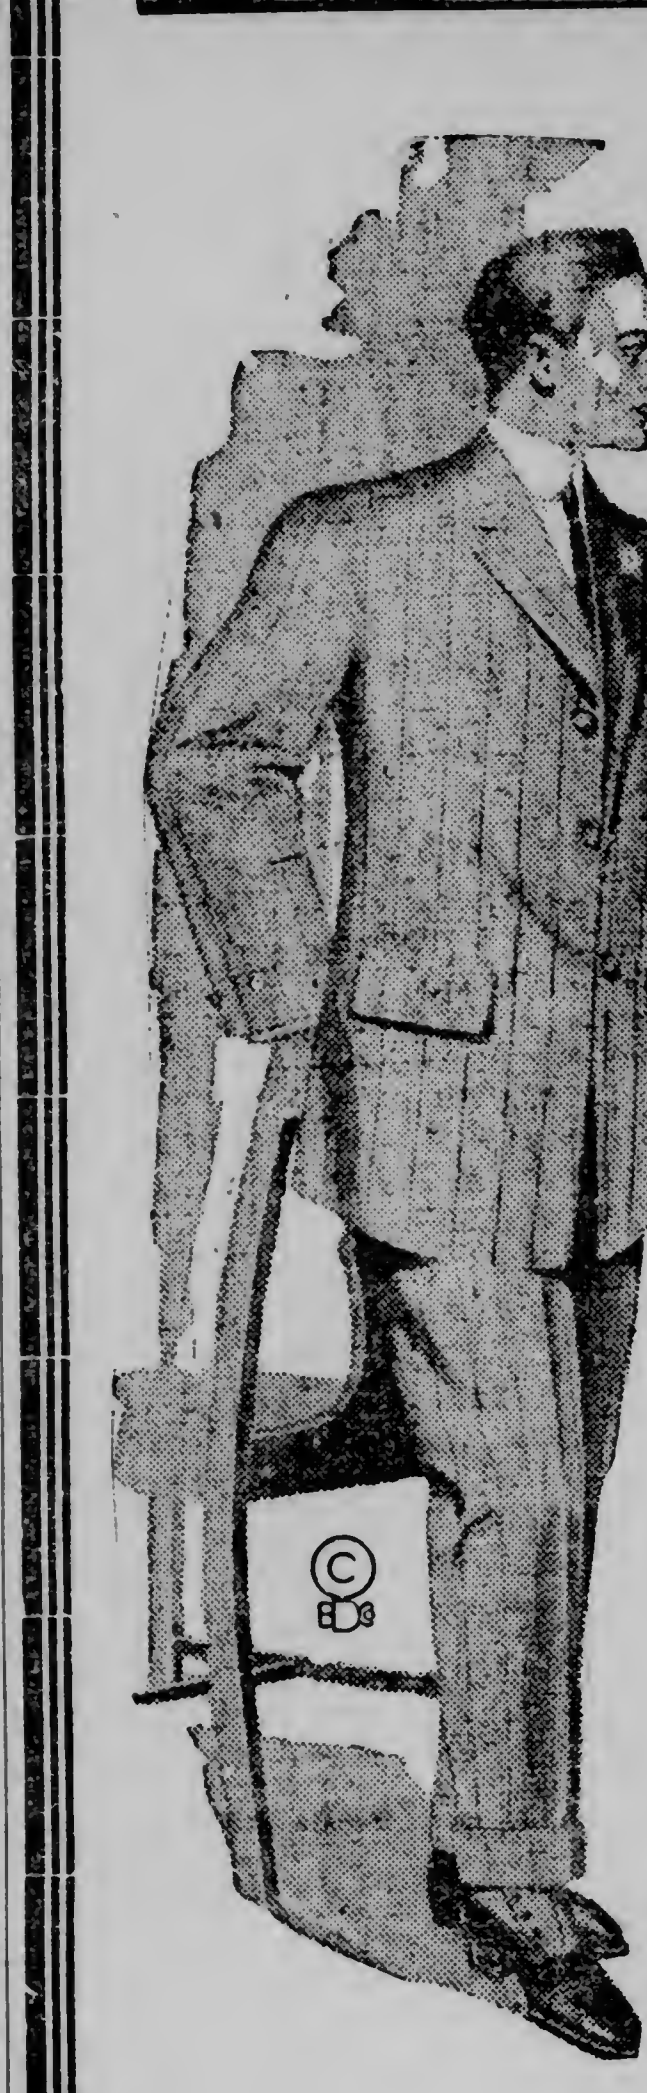

Psychology of the Courtship.

"We speak of the man as the wooer," says a recent writer on women, "but falling in love is really mediated by the woman. By dress, behavior, coquetry, modesty, reserve and occasional boldness she gains the attention of man and infatuates him."

Consider the predicament of the girl but such an interesting sport, who finds herself suddenly becoming fat. She knows by instinct that she can not infatuate long if she is fat, so to excite and attract instantly she must lose weight. They may—but there is an easier way.

One can take off up to a pound a day without causing wrinkles, stomachache or any other undesirable effects. This can be done in old cases of overweight as well as recent ones. A fine figure can be saved or a trim one regained. Simply send seventy-five cents for the Marmola Prescription Tablets. Detroit, Mich., or better still, tender the same to your druggist for a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets. This elegant preparation can go with you everywhere in your satchel. Take a tablet daily; off comes the fat, nice and uniformly, from the fattest parts first.

many generations. The main idea of this exhibition is to give a comparative ethnology of the various races which now form the nations, and even their speech sometimes, from every carrying source—Bosnian, Northern Greek, Arab, Egyptian, Roman and others. The dress and jewelry of the women, the domestic utensils, the music, songs and dances are all evidences of widely differing origins.

To Destroy Modernism.
The old ruins of the Baths of Diocletian, now including the Museum delle Terme, will be cleared and restored to the monuments, tombs, temples and other relics of the Roman empire which still remain in the city. The new excavations in Greece and Britain. An interesting feature of this exhibition will be reconstructions of the most interesting ancient Roman monuments, such as the Ara Pacis. Connected with it also will be a collection of plans, drawings, pictures and models illustrating the topography of Rome at the various stages of its long existence.

An exhibition dealing with the history and art of the middle ages and Renaissance could hardly have a more fitting and beautiful setting than the castle of Sant' Angelo. Here will be collected arms, pictures, sculpture, tapestries and furniture illustrating the greatest periods of Italian art. The four bastions of the castle will be used for separate periods, while the castle itself, with its beautiful rooms, will offer an illustration of the sumptuous life of the Renaissance. Another exhibition will be held elsewhere, where of the Settecento, but a suitable locale, some palace of the period, has not yet been selected.

To complete the artistic character of the exhibition a number of concerts, operas and plays will be given during its duration. The concert rooms will have a monopoly of foreign music; Italian music will be represented only by operas on the stage. The dramatic performances in the theaters are intended to illustrate the successful periods of the drama in Italy. There will be erected, either on or near the Palatine, a Roman theater for the classical drama where Euripides, Aristophanes, Plautus and other Roman dramatists may be heard again.

TO RAID EUCHRE PARTIES.

Police Chief of St. Louis Stands Pat on His Order.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 14.—Police Chief Greely is standing firm on his order to raid euchre parties. He says that the law is clear and that he will enforce it. He has received many complaints from citizens who are annoyed by the noise and disorder of these parties. He says that he will not tolerate them any longer.

to raid all women's euchre parties to which admission is charged, notwithstanding the sermon denouncing the order which Rev. Father Stephen J. Brady, in St. John's Catholic church, gave last Sunday.

An incident of the crusade was the announcement that plans for a euchre party to be given at the bazaar of St. Philomena Catholic girls' school had been abandoned. This decision was reached at a meeting of the St. Louis Women's club at which the wife of R. C. Kerens, new ambassador to Austria, presided.

Triumph Over Drugs.
Herb That Kills Craving.

New York, Jan. 14.—A cablegram to the Sun says: A London physician vouches for a cure of the morphine habit of ten years' duration by the infusion of dried leaves of a plant named ambretum, which is grown on the Malay Peninsula. He claims that a wineglass full of this tea every half hour daily for four weeks cured his patient. The patient was a man of 30, who had reached a stage where he injected 45 grains of cocaine and from 24 to 30 grains of morphine into his system daily.

He began the new treatment in November, but broke down after a few days and secretly obtained a supply of morphine which he used while taking the half-hour infusions. But on Dec. 8, the patient made up his mind to overcome the habit. His cravings for the drug returned at intervals, but always with lessened force until a week ago when the administration of the new medicine was stopped and the cure was announced to be complete. The patient now sleeps eight hours each night. Twelve cases like this one have been successfully treated during the last two years, according to the physician.

The herb was discovered accidentally. Some Chinese coolies who were working in the forests of the Malay Peninsula ran short of tea. In its place they used comfrey and sundew. After two weeks' use it was discovered that the herb destroyed the taste for opium among certain of the party who were addicted to its use.

Constipation

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered with indigestion, flatulence, and heartburn. I am now in the best of health. Thank you, I am free from all that suffering humanity. R. F. Fisher, Rossmore, Ill.

YEAR TO BE EVENTFUL

Dire Forebodings By Astrologer for Taft and the United States.

New York, Jan. 14.—If there is anything which is not going to happen in this year, 1910, Gustave Meyer, the astrologer of Hoboken, must have overlooked it. "I find," he says, "that 1910 will prove to be quite an eventful year for the United States and all of Europe."

"Here America much trouble is indicated to occur to our government, our president should guard against secret enemies and assassins, and should be more cautious than usual, otherwise he will have much to regret. I fear that he will experience a bereavement in his immediate family, and his wife should look to her health."

"President Taft will come in for a good share of slander, dishonor and discredit, business will be practically at a standstill, some of the greatest failures in history will occur in the commercial world and in the stock market."

"Financial panics will be much in evidence, as well as a run on the banks, and bank robberies. Fires in banks will also occur."

"The heads of large corporations will come to dishonor and grief and justice will prevail."

"Agriculture will thrive and farmers will be more fortunate and prosperous than usual."

members of the bar, press and clergy, affinity cases will be on the increase, and the divorce courts will be overcrowded, and great scandals will occur among the fair sex.

"The fair sex will be very successful in speculation, but the opposite sex will not. This will be a very fortunate year for children."

"Suicides, especially among wealthy people, will be quite shocking, mostly as the outcome of scandals, swindling affairs and public exposures."

"Wages will greatly decrease, but prices of provisions, etc., will be increased, the minds of the people will be in a turbulent state, and much trouble will occur on the floor of congress."

"During 1910 the birth rate will greatly increase, and most of the children there born will be girls."

"England and Germany will be on the verge of war, if not come to a serious clash or disagreement, and international troubles all over the world will be much in evidence."

"Uprisings and sedition will occur in India and England will need to guard against such."

"During January we will experience a severe cold wave, great snow storms and blizzard weather, but February and March will prove to be open."

"The most severe earthquakes will occur in the western part of the United States, also in China, Japan, England, Italy, India, Germany and France, especially during the fore part of 1910, spring and early summer."

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by overwork, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

"Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headache, backache, dragging-down distress or from painful irregularities, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, catarrhal drain, prostrated, antenatal or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same or, better still, send 31 one-cent stamps for cloth-bound copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, new, revised up-to-date Edition, 1000 pages.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it. It is not only foolish but often dangerous to do so.

THIRTY LIVES LOST ON CZARINA

Only One Survivor of Wreck on the Coast of Oregon.

Marshall, Ore., Jan. 14.—Another tragedy of the sea has been written into the record of marine disasters on the North Pacific coast, through the loss of thirty lives in the wrecking of the iron steamer Czarina, on the north spit of the Coos Bay bar. A solitary survivor, Harry Kentzell, first assistant engineer of the wrecked steamer, is the only living testimonial to heroic efforts made by the United States coast guard and crew of Marshall to help the doomed ship's company.

Kentzell's escape is a wonderful story of man's endurance and physical strength. A tremendous sea swept the ship and Kentzell was washed from his place in the rigging.

He was swept toward land, but time again he was carried out to sea by drifting currents. He managed to get hold of a piece of timber and was slowly driven shoreward. As he neared the beach, consciousness left him and he knew nothing more until he came to on the dry sand beside a fire.

It was brought back to life after several hours vigorous treatment.

Men seen in rigging. With the first gleam of dawn yesterday, those on the beach saw six figures in the rigging on the remaining mast of the wrecked steamer. As it was lowered into the sea, one of the six men was seen to surrender and then a third was seen to fall into the water.

The identity of the six never will be known definitely, but it is believed that they were the crew of the Czarina, son of General Manager C. J. Mills of the Southern Pacific company in Marshall.

Boys' Cabinet holds meeting. The regular monthly meeting of the boys' department Y. M. C. A. cabinet was held at the residence of Mrs. George Martin, East First street, last evening.

The following members were present: Palmer Bevis, Rex, St. Clair, Earl Bradley, Glen Merritt, George Martin, William Nelson, Caldwell Harris, Richard Callum, Ely Saljars, Harry Weston, Morrison Harris, Laurence Juby, Robert Edmonds, Russell McLean, J. B. Batchelor and N. D. McLeod.

The reports by the various committees showed activity along all lines during the past month. The social committee has arranged for a big social next Friday evening and the guests will be the employed boys of the city.

The athletic committee has started the high school interclass league and also an interschool league and on Saturday evening the boys' department Saturday night league will start.

The entertainment committee is busy with the entertainment course. The fourth number will be given Friday evening and will be the Castle square entertainers.

The practices for the annual minstrel show will commence next Monday. The production will be given the latter part of February. The Bible study committee has eleven Bible classes going with an enrollment of 120. The committee also raised $30 for missionary purposes.

The camp outing committee is conducting outings every Saturday afternoon. One of the features for next month will be the annual election. The Sunday club committee is making a campaign to increase the attendance at the Sunday afternoon meeting. Each member of the club will be asked to bring three new fellows to attend the meeting. It is hoped to get the attendance up to 100.

This Sunday Watson S. Moore will be the speaker. Wellington Cook leader and Miss Antless and Miss Webb the soloists. The orchestra is well organized under the leadership of Harry

The financial committee reports that $650 is on hand for the purchase of the camp ground and erection of a clubhouse.

Plans for raising $1,000 more were discussed. Definite action will be taken at the next meeting. In addition to the regular work that each member of the cabinet does, they have agreed that for the next three months one boy each week will act as assistant secretary. The membership committee reported that the present membership of the club was 502 members.

PINCHOT MAY BE GIVEN GRAVES' YALE POSITION.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 14.—The possibility that Gifford Pinchot may be appointed head of the Yale forestry school to take the place of Director Graves, who was appointed by President Taft to the place recently occupied by Mr. Pinchot, is being freely discussed. Mr. Pinchot is in very close touch with the work of the school and the forestry profession.

A prominent forestry meeting Prof. J. W. Toumey was appointed acting director of the forestry school for the year.

COL. GEARHART TO SPEAK HERE

Noted Lecturer Will Address the Y. M. C. A. Meeting for Men.

Col. G. A. Gearhart, a platform speaker of national repute, will deliver the address at the Sunday afternoon men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday. His subject will be "Civic Righteousness."

Col. Gearhart is a speaker of force and eloquence, with an intimate knowledge of his subjects and ability to hold his audiences, instruct and entertain them. "Civic Righteousness" is one of his favorite lectures, one that has drawn excellent press notices all over the country and here is one of the best attractions the Y. M. C. A. will offer for the Sunday meetings during the winter.

Added interest is given Col. Gearhart's lecture in Duluth, for he is a nephew of H. G. Gearhart of Duluth and has many friends here.

SQUEAKERS ARE COSTLY

Two Little Kansas Pigs of No Pedigree Have Cost $1,000.

Noted Case Has Been to the State Supreme Court Twice.

Ottawa, Kan., Jan. 14.—Franklin county challenges the world on hog values with the record of two small pigs of no pedigree in the character whose value is now $1,000, and whose worth is increasing more rapidly than even the phenomenal rise in the pork market.

The $1,000 represents the costs that have accumulated in prosecutions for the theft of the two pigs, whose original market quotation was never placed higher than $2 each and has been placed by some witnesses at 50 cents each. Three years ago a district court justice heard the stories of these pigs, and the dignified judges of the state supreme court have twice studied their history and passed down opinions that have been taken into the general court practice of the state.

Back to the Supreme Court. The "pig case" is now on its third trip to the supreme court with the $1,000 cost bill attached. The pigs themselves long ago entered into an estate of pork chops and sausage with none of the market benefits that court association has since given to the value.

A few days ago the "pig case" just closed the Franklin county court to give room for the celebrated trial of Pastor Stuckey of Williamsburg, previously the jury had returned a verdict which interrupted the proceedings in the murder prosecution of Frank Schneck for the slaughter of his family. Weaving in and out among midwesterners' stories and divorce suits and damage claims, the "pig case" has made the lower filings for many a court calendar sandwich.

It was in May, 1907, that B. F. Matthis, a farmer, four miles southeast of Ottawa, missed two small pigs from his farm. His nearest neighbor was Bert Tawney, between whose family and the Matthises the records show there has been a slumbering feud since thirty years ago, when the elder Matthis and his son, Tawney couldn't get together on a matter of country road.

And There the Pigs Were Found. Search through the Tawney place led onto the farm of Joe Lockwood, Tawney's brother-in-law where the pigs were found. Bert Tawney was arrested. The Matthises told a story of repeated invasions by the pigs, of their finally being locked in the Tawney barn, where they had been trespassing, by Mrs. Tawney and by her carried in a sack, and sold to her brother without her husband's knowledge.

Lockwood testified against his brother-in-law, though it was shown in his talk he had previously confided his story and had spent some time in jail between statements for failure to answer questions.

The defense alleged intimidation. The state asserted proof of theft, that the pigs had been taken from the Tawney place and carried to the Lockwood place. The supreme court overruled the case. Tawney was found guilty of larceny and convicted. The supreme court again overruled.

Right Hook at the Supreme Court. A third time the case was returned as the jury to try Pastor Stuckey was found guilty of murder. The case for the supreme court have again begun. Tawney is defended by W. J. J. Chalmers, a prominent lawyer of the Populist journalism in Kansas, who has entered into the case with all of his former vigorous championship of the plain people against the octopus of big business.

The last two trials have followed the overruling of motions for change of venue, and the case has been brought to a fair trial in this county.

FORMER MAYOR JOHNSON of Cleveland, Ill at New York, Is Taking Rest Cure.

New York, Jan. 14.—Former Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland is taking a rest cure in an uptown hotel. The name of the hotel is kept secret from all except his family.

It is admitted that Mayor Johnson has been in a serious condition, but Mrs. Bessie Mariani, his daughter, who lives in New York, declared the physicians said there was no constitutional ailment and that with rest he would recover.

His illness, the physicians declared, was due to overwork and the strain of his political activities in the last few years. A trained nurse is in constant attendance upon him.

FARMERS IN CLOVER. Are Getting Over $1 a Bushel for Their Grain.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the coming of warm weather, North Dakota farmers are again rushing their grain to market. The two weeks of cold weather saw the wheat receipts fall off immensely in the small towns, but activity is reported, and many reports have been received by the local office of Charles E. Lewis & Co. to the effect that there is a big movement of grain to the market in progress. Some idea of how much the North Dakota farmer is getting for his crop can be seen from the fact that at Platte, N. D., wheat is being bought at the mill for $1.05 and at the elevators for $1.00. Adams & Drayton also reported that a great deal of wheat was being received.

Whiskey for Lame Back

The increased use of whiskey for lame back and rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following is the formula: "To one half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris compound and one ounce syrup Sarsaparilla compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

The ingredients can be had from any good druggist or he will quickly get them for you. Any one can mix them. Hundreds were cured by this last winter.

Stamina in Men and How to Possess It.

(From "Man's Maladies.")

A prominent physician being asked the question: "What are the things in life a man needs most?" answered, "Physical health, strong nerves, mental efficiency, money and social success." Any man possessing these five attributes is sure to be successful.

Strong virile manhood comes only to those whose nerves are properly nourished in a sound body. Nature in her wisdom has supplied certain extracts, essences, etc., which, if properly blended, will restore a normal keeness to the nervous system.

For the benefit of those temporarily inefficient in nerve strength the following ingredients can be obtained of any good druggist and prepared in a few minutes.

One ounce of compound fluid balsam, shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cadomene) and one ounce compound essence cardiol. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring. All distressing symptoms will soon vanish and a complete restoration to normal follows.

IS DRIVEN FROM TOWN

Man Named Morrison, Too Tough for Brookston, Is "Floated."

He Turned Several Tricks Not in Conformity With Modern Ethics.

Brookston, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A stranger named Morrison, who arrived in town Tuesday afternoon, got into a lot of trouble in a very short space of time and was finally "run out" of town as an undesirable character.

A few hours after arriving here Morrison made the claim that someone had stolen his satchel, and he went to J. E. Ryan and hired a team to go out to Colbroth's camp to look for it. When he returned he failed to say anything about paying for the hire of the team, and Mr. Ryan told him that Morrison did not have any money, but put up his overcoat as security, and the incident was closed.

He then went to Dunley's saloon and obtained a bottle of beer, which he pretended that he was going to work in a camp near here, directing the bartender to place the beer in a package that was lying on the floor. This the bartender did, and in a short time Morrison picked up the sack and went out. Wednesday morning Oscar Wilk, a homesteader, who owned the package, went to the saloon in search of it and was informed that Morrison had taken it away Tuesday evening. Wilk hunted up Village Marshal Tedraut and they started out in search of Morrison, who had evidently gone out to one of the camps. He was found at Colbroth's Camp No. 2, and the package was located there. Marshal Tedraut brought the man to town and lodged him in jail for a few hours, after which he was ordered out of town.

DRUG PERMIT LAW CONSTITUTIONAL

North Dakota Supreme Court Passes Upon an Important Measure.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 14.—(The drug permit law, passed by the last legislature is constitutional, according to a ruling of the supreme court.

This puts the granting of drug permits for the sale of liquor into the hands of the district judge. Some district judges are considering applications for permits on the ground that the imposing of this duty on district judges was in violation of the constitution. The supreme court takes the opposite view. Under this decision district judges will be required to consider all applications for permits and to pass upon them according to their merits.

The decision in the case of the attorney general, who sought to obtain access at all times to any grand jury for the purpose of presenting evidence, is by a divided court. A warm legal opinion gives the attorney general the right to appear at any time before a grand jury. Chief Justice Morgan and Justice Fisk dissent from the majority opinion.

The grand jury grand jury will be called together again to permit the attorney general to present any evidence he may have against the county commissioners. There is much interest in the result, to learn whether the evidence presented by the attorney general will result in any indictments.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and it did. I am now a healthy woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. J. G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

Head of Lakes Will Benefit

North Dakota Society of Equity to Build Terminal Elevators Here.

There is great disappointment over the announcement that J. J. Hill of the Great Northern has been forced to cancel his date as chief speaker for the last day of the Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention. He has been a speaker on several occasions before and was always popular. He announced that he was compelled to go East on legal matters next week.

HEAD OF LAKES WILL BENEFIT

North Dakota Society of Equity to Build Terminal Elevators Here.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minneapolis and Duluth will be the beneficiaries by a meeting of the American Society of Equity which will be held here during the Tri-State meet next week. The Terminal Elevator association will be organized.

It is planned for the equity members in this state to co-operate with those in Minnesota and South Dakota and at terminal elevators in Minneapolis and Duluth. Without any formal effort voluntary subscriptions for about $25,000 have been made in this vicinity. A strong canvas will be made for funds when formal organization is perfected.

SENATORS CANNOT AGREE

Barrows and Smith at Loggerheads Over Upper Peninsula Job.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A question that is still agitating the minds of upper peninsula politicians relates to the appointment of the successor of the late Gov. Smith of Marquette as collector for the Superior customs district. The post has been vacant for weeks, and the two Michigan senators apparently have not agreed upon the man who is to fill it.

The position is worth in the neighborhood of $5,000 a year and is easily the most lucrative in the federal service in the upper country. It has been supposed that the choice for the place lay between C. J. Byrnes of Ishpeming and D. W. Powell of Marquette, but lately there have been rumors that other names are in the running.

One of the most prominent of these names is George E. McCallum, who has been deputy collector at Sault Ste. Marie for several years. The question of filling the collectorship is said to be proving one of the most difficult to answer to Senator Barrows, who is a candidate to succeed himself and who will have opposition in the primary election next fall.

NEGRO WILL NOT SELL

Proposes to Live on Claim He Drew at Standing Rock.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 14.—Calvin Howdy, the colored man who secured first choice in the drawing of the Standing Rock and Cheyenne Indian reservation, has left for St. Louis, where he will visit with friends for a time before he settles.

He is still firm in his intention of not disposing of his land, but some of his family. It is likely he will be accompanied by his mother and sister.

DAVIDSON APPOINTS

Wisconsin Governor Names Some Members of State Board.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 14.—Governor Davidson has appointed Frank A. Cannon, secretary of the Citizens' Business League of Milwaukee, to be a member of the state board of agriculture, his appointment being credited to the Fifth district. William McLaren of Milwaukee is made a member-at-large.

Other appointments are: George Wyllie, Morrisville, Second district; C. H. E. Racine, First district; and Charles L. Hill, Rosendale, Sixth district.

Mr. Cannon is the only new member of the board, and his appointment was strongly opposed by members of the Wisconsin Men's League of Milwaukee, who are the oldest and most influential members, becomes a member of the board.

Mr. McLaren, of Milwaukee, is the member-at-large.

Game Warden Makes Important Arrest in Pine County.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Game Warden E. Indreus was in the city this week and reported a successful raid on a camp of pot hunters which he pulled off near Bruno in Pine county. Mr. Indreus found the parties, three in all, in a large cave, and he promptly placed them under arrest. They were brought before Judge J. Otto of Bruno. They demanded a jury trial and engaged Attorney H. C. Plue of Pine City. The state was represented by Mr. McKusick, county attorney of Pine county. A warm legal argument followed at the end of which the tribunal of justice found the three men guilty and the judge imposed a fine of $25 each or ninety days in jail. The names of the parties are Ivin, Clarence and John F. Hoffer, and they all paid their fines like little men.

MORE JURISDICTION FOR COUNTY COURT.

Hotiethu, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Petitions praying that they be allowed to vote on the question of increased jurisdiction of the county court are being circulated among the voters of Hotiethu county and will be presented to the board of county commissioners. At the present time the county court has jurisdiction for petty civil actions. At the time increased jurisdiction was voted, both Hotiethu and Hotiethu counties had been so far bettered that there now appears to be a possibility of the increased jurisdiction of the county court.

PIONEER MINNESOTA HOTEL KEEPER CALLED.

Mankato, Minn., Jan. 14.—C. J. Klein, aged 75 years, to be the first known hotel man in Southern Minnesota, died from Bright's disease. He was born Nov. 30, 1835, at Hessa, Germany, and emigrated in May, 1858, with his parents to Milwaukee, Wis. In 1859, he came to Mankato and SHIPPING LIVE OYSTERS.

Milwaukee Road Taking Two Carloads Through to Pacific Coast.

Bowman, N. D., Jan. 14.—A west-bound freight train on the Milwaukee road has a novel shipment among its freight, consisting of two cars of live oysters from the Baltimore oyster belt en route to the Pacific coast for propagating purposes. The long trip is being taken to keep the temperature and other conditions as near perfection as possible, and the treatment given them in the two cars varies slightly throughout the trip. Two experts are in charge of each car. The oysters are much larger and finer than the Pacific coast types, and the experiments will be watched with much interest.

WASHBURN MAN HAS BOTH FEET AMPUTATED.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 14.—Two or three weeks ago, Mr. Detto of Washburn was brought to St. Joseph's hospital, with frozen feet. It was found necessary yesterday to amputate a part of one of his feet. Reynold Isaac was brought in from Ryan's camp with a cut on his head and other parts of his body.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Williston is planning to put in a sewer system. A delegation of well known business men of that city have been in Fargo inspecting the system.

ALLEGED BURGLAR IS GIVEN HIS FREEDOM.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 14.—After having been held in the county jail since last September for burglarizing a store at Medford, Frank Roy was released yesterday by an order of Judge Kneeshaw, who gave him a suspended sentence. Roy, a Canadian, was another man in an affair at Medford in which a woman was injured. It was shown that Roy's previous reputation was a good one and consequently the authorities were lenient with him.

The next term of the district court will be held Jan. 25, at which time a jury has been subpoenaed.

VALLEY CITY MAN IS LATEST CANDIDATE.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The latest announcement of candidates on the Marshall Grand state is that of Frank S. Henry of Valley City, who is out for the position of attorney general. Mr. Henry is a member of the North Dakota National Guard, being captain of the 1st Cavalry. He has been in the service three years and has held the position of clerk of court of Barnes county.

Three Grand Burglaries.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three burglaries here in two days resulted in the loss of $10,000. The first was at the home of John G. Sweeney, who was burglarized last night. The second was at the home of John G. Sweeney, who was burglarized last night. The third was at the home of John G. Sweeney, who was burglarized last night.

THE LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS

CHRISTMAS ANNOUNCEMENT

THE Company has allotted extraordinary BONUSSES to its Industrial policy-holders payable in 1910. These are CASH BONUSSES which may be used in payment of premiums upon their Industrial policies. They were not promised in the policies, either expressly or by implication, the policies being strictly non-participating. No such bonus has ever been given by any company to its policy-holders, and no such bonus ever will be given by any other company.

BONUSSES TO LIVING POLICY-HOLDERS

To every holder of an Industrial whole life policy of the Company who shall pass the age of 75 during 1910, a bonus on its anniversary date thereafter equal to premiums for 52 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial policy in force issued in 1879 and 1880, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for 20 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial policy in force issued in 1881-2-3-4-5, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for 20 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial whole life policy in force issued in 1886-7-8-9-1890, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for 15 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial whole life policy in force issued in 1891-2-3-4-5, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for 10 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial whole life or increasing life and endowment policy issued in any year from 1896 to 1905 inclusive, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for 5 weeks

These bonuses are thus for percentages varying from about TEN to ONE HUNDRED PER CENT. of the amount of weekly premiums for a year. It will be observed that the bonuses are graduated by the age of the policies.

The whole life policies issued between January 1, 1907, and July 1, 1909, have received a reversionary dividend of about ten per cent. of their face during the past year (that is, have been increased in amount about ten per cent.). This cost the Company $600,000 in 1909; and will cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars in subsequent years in increased Reserve. The whole life policies, issued since July 1, 1909, have been increased about ten per cent. in amount above the amount of insurance previously provided for the same respective premiums.

BONUSSES ON DEATH CLAIMS

Death Claimants on whole life policies issued between January 1, 1907, and July 1, 1909, whose claims had been settled, have received in the last six months a payment of mortuary bonuses of about ten per cent. in addition to the amount previously received, at a cost to the Company of over $250,000.

Payment on Death Claims in 1910 will be increased over and above the face of the Industrial policies by amounts determined by the following scale:

When death occurs after policy has been in force over 5 years 5%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 10 years 10%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 15 years 15%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 20 years 20%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 25 years 25%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 30 years 30%

The cost to the Company of these CASH bonuses is estimated at

$5,204,639.95

Added to the bonuses heretofore paid for the last sixteen years OVER AND ABOVE THE PROMISES MADE IN THE POLICIES, this will bring the total CASH bonuses up to Twenty-one Millions of Dollars in CASH in 17 Years!

The Additional Cost of Concessions in Reserve Liability has been Four Millions of Dollars

The sources of these bonuses are:

1. Decrease in expenses—TEN PER CENT. in nine years to the close of 1908.
2. Saving in the Mortality which was expected when policies were issued, for accumulation of Reserves.
3. Gains in Interest actually earned over the amount required by the statute for accumulation of Reserves.
4. The fact that on a premium income of nearly $5,000,000 a year the Stockholders receive only $140,000, which is more than earned from the income of their own capital and surplus; the balance of such income going to the increase of the fund from which Bonuses are paid.

Not Wait for Investigation.
For reasons which it is not necessary here to state, congress has seen fit to order an investigation into the interior department and the forest service of the agricultural department. The results of the investigation are not needed to determine the value of, and the necessity for, the new legislation which I have recommended, in respect to the public lands and in respect to reclamation. I earnestly urge that the measures recommended be taken up and disposed of promptly, without awaiting the investigation which has been determined upon.

Thinking up epigrams is not easy. But it is easy to assume a contemptuous attitude toward him who would think up epigrams. It is easy to be contemptuous toward any accomplishment. But when one makes the effort toward accomplishment, one becomes much more kindly disposed toward the efforts of all the rest of the world.

There are times, of course, when one thinks that one will be unable to restrain oneself from doing physical injury to the person who remarks to one, "It's getting a little colder, isn't it?" There are times, everybody will admit it, of course, when it does seem that the personality that will insult one's intelligence by that snappy, opportune and highly original question, should be disciplined. There are times, when it does seem that the only answer to that statement would be to rush out a long forefinger and scratch a long, red mark on the countenance of the being who said it. That's the way one feels at times.

Then, of course, there are other times. Those are the moments when one meets a bright and interesting person, one whom one knows has originality and wit, and then what is the thought that intrudes itself upon one's mind in a manner that will brook nothing but expression. Is it not the question, "It looks as if it would rain, doesn't it?" It comes unbidden to one's mind. "No," one says firmly to one's self. "I'll not say that. I'll stand here like patience on a monument, or I'll just let them think that I am a person, not easy to be interviewed, but I'll never say that. And then what happens. Presently, in a weak and fragile voice, you are not bracing as those clear, cold days, is it?" After you have said it you could turn around to kick a nearby telephone post, but what good does it do you?

Then there is the trouble of thinking good things up when there isn't a soul lucky to say them to. All of this is the first statement—it is hard to think up epigrams. But several seasons ago when it first became as impossible to appear without your false hair as without your false teeth, there came that indescribable feeling to the writer that an epigram was about to be perpetrated. It came slowly and the climax only arrived at about the time that an effort was made to achieve the turreted style of hair-dressing, simply and solely with the crown of glory that nature had provided. It was a foolish thing to do. No one who understood the first canons of good dressing, not to mention the difficulties of achieving the modern culture, would have done it. But the attempt was made and as often happens, through sorrow and disappointment came a certain amount of satisfaction. As the momentary ideal of the shop girl so far as hair-dressing goes, was set aside as a thing not to be, there came the flash that told that the epigram had arrived.

As there seems to be no possible excuse for long hair when there isn't a soul lucky to say them to. All of this is the first statement—it is hard to think up epigrams. WED AT CHICAGO.

Miss Fitzgerald Becomes Bride of G. B. Ryan.

The wedding of Miss Sallie Honor Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fitzgerald of Chicago to George Bentley Ryan of El Paso, Tex., formerly of this city, took place last Saturday at the private chapel of Archbishop Quigley of Chicago. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Fitzgerald and the groomsmen were Edward R. Ryan, Jr., of this city. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, 2530 Pine Grove avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan will visit in Duluth the guests of Mr. Ryan's parents before going to El Paso, where they will be at home.

MRS. LUM'S PICTURES To Be Exhibited By Minneapolis Woman's Club.

Duluthians will be interested in the plans of the arts and letters department of the Woman's Club of Minneapolis that has been studying the work of foreign artists. The department is now planning a series of exhibitions of the work of Minneapolis artists in the Handicraft Guild building. The first of the local colony of artists to be thus honored will be Mrs. Bertha Bull Lum, a former Duluth woman and who is well known to the city. Mrs. Lum's pictures will be exhibited beginning Tuesday night of this week. Mrs. Lum's work is confined almost exclusively to Japanese wood cuts, she having studied the native methods in Tokyo, and having been successful in carrying on the entire process, from the drawing of the picture to its printing.

It is planned to follow the exhibition of Mrs. Lum's work by such displays as the water colors of Mrs. Gertrude Barnes, the illustrations of Miss Elizabeth Chonit, the magazine illustrations of Miss Ethel Barnworth, the portraits done by Miss Emily McMullan, the work of Miss Kate Alouton and others, many of whom are known in Duluth.

January Wedding.

Invitations have been received in this city from Mr. and Mrs. W. N. McIntyre of Watertown, N. D., for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Edith May McIntyre to Garfield Meyer of this city. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening, Jan. 26 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer and his bride will be at home in this city after March 1.

BEAUTIFUL COLOR

Is a Feature of the Play "Herod."

The test of any great drama of classic events is not so much the alluring charm of the picture, or the flowing melody of the lines, fifty spoken (although both may contribute to the embellishment of the scenes.) It is always the human appeal of the story, as it develops. Indeed it is the power of the dramatist, or raconteur, to make his people live, by investing them with familiar characteristics which, despite the lapse of long centuries, reflect our own, that proves the universality of the fundamental laws underlying human nature. This fact explains our continuous interest in the remote Biblical narratives, told with such unique dramatic simplicity, writes Eleanor Robson in Vogue.

In that great epic by Stephen Phillips, entitled "Herod," into which recently William Faversham, as the wife, Julie Opp, have read new meanings, the figure of Mariamne is one of compelling sympathy. Her golden voice and graceful poses give delight, and the rich color of her queenly robes has all the tableau value of the rarest stained glass.

How the sensuous blending of color holds the eye in that first act! The sacred hill of Jerusalem is seen as a background through the colonnade of Herod's palace. Garlands of roses entwining the pillars, and braziers of incense are burning. It is afternoon of the last day of the Feast of Tabernacles, and Mariamne's brother, Aristobolus (grandson of that Maccabean, or Asmonean, king, Hyrcanus II, whose ears had been lopped off to deprive him forever from the high priesthood), has been newly anointed high priest.

The multitude returns from the ceremony with music, a procession of flower girls, dancers waving palm and willow branches, and priests and councillors. Then arrives the queen, Mariamne, with her attendant women; and finally Herod, preceded by his Roman bodyguard, and surrounded by Nubian eunuchs, until the stage is transformed into a riot of variegated colors that focus in the persons of the king and queen.

Herod's costume of white velvet, heavy with hands and fringes of gold, is confined by a gold-and-turquoise belt, and sash of bright, grass green satin—the same green that lines his broadened court train over each ear and his helmet crown is bedecked with many gems. To this gleaming attire, Mariamne's robes make gorgeous contrast. Over a princess slip of white, she wears a long, flowing, golden robe, sleeves embroidered with jewels, she wears a long court train of the brilliant green satin suggested in Herod's apparel (so long that it must needs be carried by her attendant), decorated with royal-blue satin, arabesques to the green with emerald-studded gold galleons, giving an indescribably rich effect. Her flowing red-gold hair is covered with a large, golden gauze, and over this is set her diadem of emeralds, which has great jeweled discs swinging over each ear and suspended chains of sparkling emeralds. Later in this act, Mariamne appears without the court train and veil, clad in the simple gold-cloth slip, wearing on her head a diadem of emeralds and with flashing cabochons above each ear.

Fashion Hints.

With dark suits jackets of bright colors are used, made usually of mink, mouseline and silk and in purple. Recettes of all kinds, from the tiny ones for slippers to large fluff affairs worn as a sash, figure among novel dress accessories.

White gill buckles still retain their favor, some fancy footwear has buckles, the most of the current topic led by Mouseline and gauze rushing is used to finish gowns at the ends of the sleeves, around the bottom of the skirt and elsewhere. A special trimming that makes a gown look individual, and is luckier than what is known as tail-tail.

The new lingerie still shows the effect of ruthless suppression. It has lost none of its prettiness, but is no longer aggressive. White gill buckles, much liked has simulated button and button-hole closing from the throat to the ankle, edges of the closing being cut into squared scallops.

Irish crochet is seen on all the cloth and silk gowns, and insets of Irish crochet, large as well as small, ornament waists of cotton crepe. Attractive gowns are seen with no trimming save large buttons made of semi-precious stones, or clever counterfeits of them, set in rims of gold and silver.

Smart blouses are of a coarse gold net, embroidered in rich shades, and these are supposed to carry out the color scheme of the costume. Charming dish cloths are now considered indispensable for the young girl and the matron. They are made of dainty fabrics combined with inexpensive lace.

Sleeves are longer and flatter and they closely follow the lines of the arm.

Gumpies are made of cambrie, a pleasant change after the too frequent use of net.

Hair ornaments are large, the newest barrettes being from two to three inches wide.

A charming finish to the waist is the tie known as the director's, made of crocheted lace.

Stiff Cuffs Again.

One of the latest ideas in Paris is the shirtwaist which boasts a stiff white collar and stiff cuffs similar to those worn by men. These cuffs are to take the place of the stiff plated frill which has covered our wrists lately.

The important thing will be a choice of uncommon and valuable sleeve links.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

BILLIARD CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD LIES BETWEEN HOPPE AND CALVIN DEMAREST

Will Be Settled Soon-- Burns-Ketchel Fight Should Be a Great Battle--Zybszko Coming.

(BY BRUCE)

There is a great deal of dispute as to who is the greatest billiard player in the world. Few followers of the game will agree on this argument, for there are several wizards of the cue who have a large and enthusiastic following. Willie Hoppe, for show, though, is not a bad guess.

Calvin Demarest is the player who opposes the closest title to the boy wonder of Chicago. Like Hoppe, Demarest is just a boy. He was raised almost on a billiard table, and from a clever amateur player he has become one of the great players of the world. It is up to these two youthful wizards of the cue to settle the question of billiard supremacy.

Hoppe did not enter the recent billiard tournament at the Madison Square Garden. In that annual tournament a certain make of table is used, the put-ting balls, etc., are of a certain size, and the game played at the garden and as a result the great Western youngster was not seen in the last tournament.

Demarest won the tournament, as many of you know. Now an agreement has been reached between Hoppe and Demarest as to play for the title. These students of the ivory balls are of the opinion that the meeting will be the best play ever witnessed in the world. Hoppe, in many respects, is the most brilliant billiard player the world has ever produced.

Hoppe, despite his youth, has everything that counts to make a great player. He has youth and a nerve that has never been questioned. His game with the cue is simply marvelous, as many who saw the youngster in this city last winter will testify.

Demarest is the 182 champion, but according to the reports of the players he lacks the finish of Hoppe. George Sacks, one of the greatest in the world at the present time, says Hoppe is a better player than Demarest.

Hoppe will be the greatest player the world has ever known. However, Demarest has a host of followers who believe he can lower the colors of the champion. His game attracts more attention in billiard circles than any match since the old days of the playing of live and wild Jack Schaefer.

The meeting of the two young men, which many are looking forward to, will be the greatest in the history of billiard. There are a legion of billiard players who have seen the brilliant play of Demarest in the Madison Square Garden tournament, and place a wager on the chances of victory of the man who has recently polished his cue in the glare of the sporting spot light.

We are at last, it seems, to be given an opportunity of judging the true ability of young Willie Hoppe as a pugilist. Yesterday's telegraph news contained the news that Burns and Stanley Ketchel, the pair should furnish a great fight, a fight that will show whether Burns can really beat a great fighter of his own weight.

It was hardly a fair test to ask the small Burns to fight the giant Ketchel. Burns, of course, we all know, was simply paid for the licking he received on the 11th of December, 1909. He put up a wonderfully plucky and determined fight, but the man of the light, it is the opinion of many who are actually tough men to beat.

Many Duluth fans saw the pictures of the Burns-Ketchel contest. There was none who left the theater without a feeling of admiration for the boxer man. He was fighting against tremendous odds, and he put up a fight that won him more friends than Johnson can ever count.

In Ketchel, Burns will meet the most remarkable fighter of his weight in the country today. Ketchel is a fighter for the simple reason that he pays less attention to training than any champion of the present day. When he is right he is a tiger. Any man who hits with his right generally takes the count.

Burns is the more clever boxer of the two. In all his fights but the Johnson fight, Burns showed a healthy punch. The dict should be a great one. It is hoped that the winner will at last give Sam Langford the clatter he has been waiting for all these these years. A battle between the two of the greatest heavyweights in the world has been fought since Bob Fitzsimmons won the heavyweight title from a few men to work from his hearted Jack Dempsey.

It, Bob Fitzsimmons, trains Ketchel, and may be sure that the Grand Rapids youngster will show some improvement in his ring craft. Poor old Fitzsimmons knows only one thing—fight; but the veteran of a hundred fights, fighting battles since does know the fight game from side to side. Ketchel in the hands of the veteran should show some improvement if the dissipation of the past has not sapped his vitality.

We have had the nearest view of Jeffries that many of us will probably have. He showed in St. Paul last night and in Minneapolis the night before, and we that mysterious doubt as to the true condition of the Californian remains.

Willie Whitton, formerly the great center holder for the old Chicago White Sox, and later manager of the Minneapolis team when that aggregation was the dominant in the old West.

WILLIE HOPPE.

ern league, yesterday sent the writer his personal opinion of Jeffries. "He looks fine. Don't make any mistake about that fellow—he is all right. I am not kidding you—I am giving you the straight goods. Jeff looks in fine shape."

Those were the words Whitton spoke over the long distance telephone. He has been with Jeffries since the big fight should be for a man who has been in semi-training for the time that Jeffries has been at the world's best and not of the newspaper men of Minneapolis.

There is a bare possibility that Jeffries may be seen here before he begins active training for the big battle. It is only a possibility, however. Several reports have it that the Jeffries combination will work at Los Angeles, where it will disband and Jeff will take a long rest preparatory to real hard, unrelenting training.

Zybszko is really coming. The Duluth appearance of the Polish champion, which was yesterday, when the manager of the Duluth Athletic club secured the services of the champion, is in itself a testimonial to the management of the new athletic organization, which is endeavoring to place wrestling in this city on a plane of decency and fairness.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the wrestling match of Zybszko, the Polish champion, who wrestled Frank Gotch to a draw in Buffalo early this season, and who a little over a week ago defeated Fred Beel in two straight falls at Buffalo. Zybszko will wrestle Person a finish match and the local man is confident that he will long remember.

The match will be held at the Armory. Person will meet Gordon next Tuesday night. The match will be to a finish, best two out of three falls, and the winner will receive a purse of $100.

AFTERNOON AND NIGHT GAMES.

I. P. M. DRAW.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—The Minnesota-Wisconsin league, is expected in Duluth some time next week. In a letter to Al W. Kuehnow, manager of the Duluth baseball team, Mr. Elliott stated that he would leave the first of the week for a swing around the circuit.

John Elliott, president of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league, is expected in Duluth some time next week. In a letter to Al W. Kuehnow, manager of the Duluth baseball team, Mr. Elliott stated that he would leave the first of the week for a swing around the circuit.

Of his letter to Mr. Kuehnow, President Elliott also stated that the formation of the league was made some time ago, and also made in formal terms. A forecast of the schedule of the league will be played in the Minny league the coming season. The season will open May 11 or 12. Duluth will open the season in one of the southern towns of the circuit.

From information received here, it is certain that the league will be an organization of the past after the meeting of the Canadian magnates, scheduled for Saturday.

It is known here that none of the team owners have made any effort to sign any players for the coming season. Other advisers, received by Mr. Kuehnow lead him to the belief that the league will disband, and that Winnipeg will make formal application for admission to the Minnesota-Wisconsin league.

The meeting of the magnates of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league will be called some time the present month. The question of territory will come up at this meeting, as well as the appointment of the league's committee. Word from Winnipeg shows that Kuehnow is busy at his trade of building up a baseball team.

Killian has signed Jack Schuler, said to be a star in and outfielder, and the Schuler person will be seen in some position on the Winnipeg team next season.

Winona is out for a pennant-winning team next year, as is evidenced by the activity of Uncle Joe Killian in grabbing out the players of the Duluth team. In Clapper and Kuehnow he has stolen a couple of good players from the Super management.

The Central defeated the Big Duluth two out of three games in the Duluth league games last evening. The Central made the high average of 1.93. The score:

MCEWEN GOES
TO WASHINGTONInvestigation Into the Greek Labor Graft Postponed Until His Return.

William E. McEwen, state labor commissioner, will leave St. Paul tomorrow for Washington, where he will attend a national meeting of a civic organization.

Until the commissioner returns the investigation into the exploitation of laborers employed by the Great Northern railroad by interpreters and irremovable agents will be suspended. Men working for the state's labor department under the direction of Mr. McEwen have obtained several hundred affidavits from laborers who have paid money or have been forced to accept reduced checks because of extortion for John Thomas of Superior, and other interpreters.

It is probable that these men will pool their grievances and will start a civil suit for the recovery of their money. This phase of the situation will be settled when Mr. McEwen returns to the Northwest from Washington.

So far as the Head of the Lakes is concerned, the investigation in the language of Mr. Perlmutter, "is nil."

The meeting of the magnates of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league will be called some time the present month. The question of territory will come up at this meeting, as well as the appointment of the league's committee. Word from Winnipeg shows that Kuehnow is busy at his trade of building up a baseball team.

Killian has signed Jack Schuler, said to be a star in and outfielder, and the Schuler person will be seen in some position on the Winnipeg team next season.

Winona is out for a pennant-winning team next year, as is evidenced by the activity of Uncle Joe Killian in grabbing out the players of the Duluth team. In Clapper and Kuehnow he has stolen a couple of good players from the Super management.

The Central defeated the Big Duluth two out of three games in the Duluth league games last evening. The Central made the high average of 1.93. The score:

JEFFRIES SHAKES
GOVERNOR'S HANDNoted Fighter With Wrestler Gotch Pays Respect to State Executive.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—James J. Jeffries and Frank Gotch, the two Americans who crowd the president closely in making the clipping bureau work nights, visited Governor A. O. Eberhart Thursday, in the state capitol, to receive the official approval of their engagement in St. Paul last evening at the armory, where they displayed their prowess to the shrieking fans who care not how the Alaskan affects potatoes, if they are good enough to pick all the dark meat off the anatomy of Jack Johnson.

Followed by a throng of excited individuals, Jeffries, attired in a business suit, walked briskly into the governor's inner office, and was introduced to the executive. They grasped hands firmly and exchanged greetings without any bowing or scraping.

"I am pleased to meet you," said the governor, with natural dignity, "and welcome you to the state. I am proud to shake hands with you, and as an American citizen, glory in your prowess. I have no doubt that you are a great boxer, and I believe, also, what is so commonly reported, that you are a worthy citizen."

"I am glad to see you, too," replied Jeffries. "Less than a year ago I stood in this room and shook hands with Governor Johnson, a great and good man."

Jeffries was introduced to everybody in the room, and took his martyrdom with good-natured ease, smiling, generously and displaying no bashfulness. The governor asked him how he felt about the fight.

"Better than ever," replied Jeffries. "And he looked it. He did not appear to be the same man who was defeated by Governor Johnson, a great and good man."

Jeff remarked that he was getting a perfect fit, snugly made, at the right price. We have the shoes you want, at the price you want to pay.

A HIGH-FLYER IN CANINE CIRCLES

PAULHAN'S DOG.

When Paulhan, the famous French aviator, started for Los Angeles a few days ago he took with him his dog. This dog is probably the only one that ever went up in an aeroplane. It has made frequent trips with the daring air navigator.

Rapids to work. He is 26 years old and was born in Pittsburgh. He was a sailor in the navy for three years and has worked at various places since leaving the service. It was his first offense and the court was lenient. Thomas O'Brien and John Malone charged their plea to guilty. They are the men who stole thirteen sacks of flour from the Universal mill and they were charged with breaking into a building in the night time.

MAY BUILD IN SPRING

Street Car Lines May Soon Extend to Steel Plant.

Officials Will Give Out No Definite Plans on Project.

Although it is admitted that it is the intention of the street railway officials to build two lines to the site of the steel plant, one as an extension of the Grand avenue line from West Duluth and the other in Superior, nothing definite regarding the project has been considered by the officials of the street car company.

According to General Manager Warren, several of the higher officials of the company are in the East and until their return, it will be impossible to give out any information regarding the extension. He said that it was the intention of the company to eventually build the line, but he could not state when the work would commence.

There is a rumor to the effect that the company will extend its double track on Grand avenue to Sixty-first avenue west this spring before the paving of Grand avenue, between Fifty-fourth and Sixty-first avenues. It is also considered possible that the company will extend the double track during the summer to the end of the line at Seventy-first avenue west and from there begin to lay a single track to the site of the steel plant.

Men working at Smithville and Spirit Lake are now compelled to walk from two to four miles to the terminus of the line in order to get to the city or wait for the gasoline motor car which makes three trips daily on the Northern Pacific line.

GREAT INTEREST IN THE 'SPIEL

West Duluth Curlers Expect to Share in the Spoils.

West Duluth curlers are taking considerable interest in the Northwest curling championship which is being held at the Duluth curling rink and expect to carry away one or more prizes before the affair is over. The Western Curling club has the largest representation in proportion to its membership of any of the clubs in the association. There are seven rinks from West Duluth.

The West Duluth curlers feel confident that they have at least one of the trophies clinched. This is the seventh event for the Orndorff trophy. The play in this event is restricted to Minnesota clubs only and excludes rinks from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. According to a ruling which has been made, West Duluth will not be considered as Duluth, leaving it free to compete with the Virginia and Eveleth clubs.

The Virginia and Eveleth representtation is much smaller at the bospital than in West Duluth, which gives the players from the Western Curling club, the odds in their favor.

At the West Duluth rink, no games are being played except occasionally a practice affair.

JOINT INSTALLATION.

New Officers of Catholic Order of Foresters Take Up Their Duties.

Sancia Maria Court No. 322, W. C. O. F. and St. James' Court No. 614, C. O. F., held joint installation ceremonies last evening in Gilley's hall. This is the annual custom of the two courts of the Catholic Order of Foresters, and there was a large attendance of the members and their friends. The installation ceremonies were public.

After the officers of the local courts had been installed, State Chief Ranger D. H. Martin introduced to the members the new officers. The new officers, Rev. D. W. Lynch of St. James' church, West Duluth, who first made a presentation speech on behalf of the members of the women's local branch of the order, Rev. D. W. Lynch of St. James' church, West Duluth, who first made a presentation speech on behalf of the members of the women's local branch of the order, Rev. D. W. Lynch of St. James' church, West Duluth, who first made a presentation speech on behalf of the members of the women's local branch of the order.

Rev. Father Lynch then dwelt on the benefits of the order and the good work it has done since its organization. He urged all to take an active interest in the order during the next year.

Concluding his remarks on the order, he made another presentation speech on behalf of the members of St. James' court. No. 614, C. O. F., who has been recording secretary of the local court for the past eight years, was presented with a beautiful rocking chair as a token of esteem and appreciation of his work for the local court and the order. Mr. Murphy responded in a few words, thanking the members for their kindness and support during his term of office.

State Chief Ranger Martin then addressed the meeting and gave a brief account of the work of the order in this for the past two years. Over $66,000, he said, has been paid out to sick and convalescing members, and many thousands to aid the sick. He said the members of the order are increasing their courts and hoped that by next year they would be able to report a big membership in the state when he makes his annual report to the next state convention which will be held in St. Paul.

There was a short musical and literary program, after which a social evening was held at their home this afternoon.

SLEIGH RIDES POPULAR.

Irving Seniors Plan Ride to New Duluth and Return.

Since the arrival of the snow, sleigh-ride parties are becoming popular at West Duluth.

One of the first of the season will be given Monday evening by the members of the senior class of the Irving Industrial high school. The party will take sleighs to the Irving Industrial high school, where they will have a social evening and ride to New Duluth and back.

Miss Sadie Kern of 4809 West Sixth street will entertain the class upon their return at their home. Refreshments will be served.

PREPARE FOR REVIVAL.

Minneapolis Minister Will Conduct Services at Asbury Church.

Preparations are now being made at the Asbury M. E. church, Sixteenth avenue west and Raleigh street, for a series of revival meetings which will commence about Feb. 1 and will continue for two weeks.

Arrangements have been made to secure the services of Dr. M. H. Hirsch of Minneapolis as an evangelist. Dr. Hirsch is a well-known Methodist Episcopal minister in the Mill City, and it is expected that he will be a drawing card.

There will be special music arranged for the meetings.

Reception to Choir.

Rev. J. G. Leth, pastor of the Westminister Presbyterian church, gave an informal reception for the members of the church choir last evening at the Asbury M. E. church, Sixteenth avenue west and Raleigh street.

All the travel he had indulged in, all the excitement of the business absorption and worry all the great affairs of life, he had been through, and now he was back in the quiet of the college life.

HUSA COPPER MINES

JEMTLAND, SWEDEN,

Have scored a tremendous success. It could hardly have been otherwise. They are known to thousands, who pronounce them WONDERFUL IN EXTENT AND RICHNESS.

Read the Statements of Prominent Engineers

One of the most prominent Mining Journals commented recently on the Husa mines, as follows:

"Possibly the most important outlook for this proposition lies in the fact that the company has provided itself with complete details of its enterprise. Every foot of its ground has been gone over by engineers—surveys, maps and plans illustrate the authenticity of every assertion made by the company. Truly a wonderful opportunity and an undoubted success for every man and woman who seeks returns. THERE IS NOT THE LEAST DOUBT THAT THESE MINES WILL STARTLE THE WORLD WHEN OPERATIONS ARE IN FULL BLAST"

Could anything be stronger than the foregoing unpaid for and unsolicited editorial statement of a Mining Journal?

Engineer Neimke, director of the great mines at Lipin, Silesia, in Austria, made a thorough examination of these mines and reported as follows:

"The undersigned has carefully analyzed the ore from the surface downward and everywhere found an excellent quality. In the mines lying close by, the existence of veins, visible on the surface, has been proven by test pitting, and if worked in a workman-like manner, the Björke mine, (one of the Husa mines) with its rich quantities of ore, promises a splendid future." Again, this same engineer writes:

"Low, in the deepest parts of the mine, the veins are 18 feet thick and contain one-ninth smelting ore with an average of 8 per cent copper. The contents of the smelting ore increased up to 14 per cent, and, as regarding the concentrating ores, it may be mentioned that a large portion can be included in the smelting ore." Speaking of the Gustaf Mine, (another of the great Husa group), the same authority continues:

"The copper ore in this mine appears in the same manner and surrounded by the same minerals as in the Björke mine, except that the veins are not as thick but are of better quality—being free of magnesia and blende. The contents of copper in the smelting ore comes up to 24 per cent and is an average of 11 per cent."

DR. BESCOW ON THE FAMOUS HUSA MINES.—Dr. Gustaf Bescow, an eminent Swedish Mining Engineer, for many years in charge of the Husa mines, and probably more familiar with this wonderful mining range than any other engineer, writes as follows:

"A knowledge founded on long experience has not only strengthened the conviction entertained from the first that there are great deposits of ore in this locality, but even demonstrated that these deposits are such that they might be called inexhaustible." Again he says:

"It seems the conclusion is justified that there is no danger of exhausting this stock of ore under any circumstances."

The foregoing is a strong statement from a great engineer. It means, practically speaking, that the ore in the Husa Copper Mines can never be exhausted, and that we and our children and our children's children for generations can continue profitable operations there. Many more engineers agree with those already quoted.

WHAT AN AMERICAN ENGINEER SAYS: Engineer J. J. Durage went to Sweden last summer to examine these mines and is loud in his praises of them. In writing of the tremendous stockpiles, which stand upon the property like mountains, Mr. Durage says:

"These stockpiles contain about 240,000 cubic yards of loose ore." (680,000 tons.) Again: "The stockpiles show crushed ore of rich average, some of the sulphides barely escape being native soft copper, as shown in some of the exhibits brought over. The samples are an average and not a selection, and by good judgment and sorting, the average of the mill run could be brought to a phenomenally high figure in concentrates. In as much as all the ore is practically crushed, the sorting would take but a small amount of labor."

MINNESOTA'S ENGINEER, DWIGHT E. WOODBRIDGE.—Mr. Dwight E. Woodbridge, well known mining engineer of Duluth, Minn., experted the Husa mines last summer for the Duluth-Husa Copper Mines Co., and says in part:

"Operations began soon after the discovery, in about 1745, and continued in the case of one of the mines, till about 1881. In that period they produced a large amount of copper, any attempt to estimate the amount would be worse than useless."

"It is about six miles from Bkelke (one of the Husa mines) to the Gustaf mine, (another of the Husa mines) around the flanks of Areskutan, and the out-cropping bodies of copper ore have been traced for that entire distance. In fact, work has been done all along the veins."

"Stratification of these various veins is rather flat, and dips in the mountain, apparently extending to a very considerable depth. Out-cropping can be traced for miles and miles."

"As a general thing, the various reports I have seen, Padley Hendrickson's, J. H. James, and J. H. Rhodes', all Englishmen and those of Swedish, Hungarian and Norwegian engineers and superintendents who have made examinations, or who have worked there, coincide generally as to values and extent of the copper bearing layers."

"Water power for all purposes can be developed close to the property at a low cost, and electrical power will be cheap and all operating charges will be considerable cheaper than in America."

ALL AUTHORITIES AGREE that the ore is here in the Husa mines in inexhaustible quantities. The authorities also agree that conditions for successful mining are better in Sweden than they could be in the United States. The price of copper is the same the world over. The market is everywhere. With reference to the question of transportation and market for the Husa product, ENGINEER WOODBRIDGE CONTINUES:

"You are not far from a deep sea port on the Atlantic, and once there your ore is in direct connection at a very low freight rate with the great copper reduction centers of Belgium, Germany and England. Those who are not conversant with these ocean freight matters can have no conception of how low they are. I could give you example after example. Doubtless you will not smelt Husa ore yourself, at least, not at first. You will ship to some smelting center. You will ship the concentrated ore, running high in copper so the freight rate per pound of copper will be almost infinitesimal, and you will be entirely independent of imported fuel for mining operations with your abundant water power close at hand. I am perfectly safe in saying that freight from Trondjem, your port, to those countries mentioned will not be more than three or four shillings per ton, probably the former is ample."

"In reference to those works in Europe, in a position to buy and treat copper concentrates and raw ores, I will state that there are many such concerns, notable among them being the Vivians of Wales. There are others in Wales, and a number in Antwerp, Ghent and Brussels, also in Germany, where the Mansfield Copper Company is not only smelting its own ores, but is in the market for additional supplies. You may rest assured that, the ore once mined and sent to these ports, there will be no difficulty in getting it sold, or reduced to metallic form at a reasonable charge."

WHAT MAY BE REASONABLY EXPECTED—The following conservative estimates are based on the report on the Husa Copper mines, by the great European Engineer, John Heinrich Meyer.

Taking the lowest percentage of ores and the highest paid workman, the lowest net profit the company should realize per ton on the production would be $5.25. One hundred miners would produce 425 tons per day, and this would give the company a daily net profit of $2,231.25.

Allowing 300 days to the year, gives the company a net annual profit of $669,375.00, which is 111 1/2 per cent on an investment of $600,000.

In other lines of investment 5 per cent is a liberal average earning, and many millions of dollars earn less, and figuring on that basis, we find that the Husa mines would earn 22 times as much as 5 per cent per dollar invested, making a $5 share of Duluth-Husa Copper Mines Company stock, worth $110.00.

By doubling the output, the company can double its earnings and enhance the value of its stock in like ratio. Was there ever so great an opportunity offered to you before?

REMEMBER, there are but 20,000 shares to be sold at $5 per share, and as the company has interested workers in forty different cities, there is not much for each city, and you should act promptly. Sale begins Jan. 15.

Please enter my name for shares of your stock. I enclose herewith $2.00 per share and will pay the balance in cash payments in thirty, sixty and ninety days.

PRICES ARE UNCHANGED

Michigan Street Commission Men Report a Dull Produce Market.

A Shortage of Storage Eggs Is Now Being Experienced.

Commission men report a quiet market with prices scarcely changed from what they were a week ago. Trade is light, with little stirring after the holiday rush, which condition is expected at this time of the year.

A shortage of storage eggs is reported, but as yet the price has not been changed, running from 25 cents to 26 cents. More will be brought in, but the fresh eggs are starting again in small quantities, which are expected to increase as the season gets older. Fresh eggs are selling at 25 cents a dozen.

Winter vegetables are high. They are kept for an exacting class of trade, and are shipped in from the South. There are some tomatoes, and included in this list are lettuce, celery, young onions, etc. All shipments of this nature are small and come mostly by express.

Fruits have stayed at the level to which they dropped the week after the holidays. Fancy California apples are selling at $2.25 a box and Florida oranges at $2.00 a box. Imported Malaga grapes are $2 a box. Fancy California pineapples $1.50 a crate and Florida pineapples $1.25 a dozen. Apples are unchanged, ranging from $2 a box to $2.50 a barrel. Lemons are selling at $2 a box and limes at $1.25 a box. Bananas are 4 cents a pound. Cocoanuts are 6 cents a dozen. Cranberries are $5 and $7 a barrel.

The butter situation is also unchanged. Fancy creamery is demanding 25 cents a pound in prints and bars and 31 1/2 cents in 96-pound tubs. Hand separated creamery in 90-pound tubs is 25 cents a pound and dairy butter is 25 cents in any size package.

Root vegetables are plentiful. The demand is steady and the prices are about the same. Large cabbages are $1.75 per 100 pounds, and Holland seed cabbage is 75 cents per 100 pounds. Northern Michigan cabbages are 75 cents a crate. Bunch cabbages at 20 cents per 100 pounds. Beets at $1.25, carrots at $1.25, potatoes at 20 cents per bushel, garlic at 12 cents a pound, squash at 4 1/2 cents per pound, and egg plant at $1.25 a dozen.

Wax beans are $5 a bumper, new beets, 55 cents a dozen, carrots, 75 cents a dozen, cauliflower, $3.75 a crate. Eastern celery, 80 cents a bunch. California celery 55 cents a bunch. Potatoes, 20 cents a bushel. Turnips, 15 cents a bushel. Southern parsley, 75 cents a dozen. Lettuce $1.25 a box. Peppers $1.50 a basket and round radishes 50 cents a dozen.

Poultry and fish are moving about as usual. Hens are 11 cents a pound, spring chickens 15 cents a pound, turkeys 23 cents a pound, geese 14 cents a pound, and ducks 18 cents a pound. Fish is also maintaining the same level as last week.

Feed and hay are holding the high prices which they reached earlier in the season and the market for meat is also maintaining an even level. Beef is quoted at 9 1/2 cents to 11 cents a pound, mutton at 11 cents a pound, lamb at 11 1/2 cents a pound, and pork at 14 cents a pound and lard at 15 cents a pound.

ARE BRINGING BODY OF MOTHER TO DULUTH.

W. G. Hegardt and Mrs. H. B. Paul of this city will leave California tomorrow to return to Duluth with the body of their mother, who died there recently. They are expected to arrive in Duluth Wednesday or Thursday of next week.

MILLER WILL BE EXPELLED

Michigan Student Council Recommends Dismissal of Football Player.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 14.—The student council of the University of Michigan, organized to assist the faculty in maintaining discipline, has recommended to the engineering faculty that Joy Miller, who is alleged to have played on the football team last fall, knowing that he was ineligible, be expelled from the university.

Miller, residing whereabouts are not known. The council criticized the engineering faculty for its methods and gave Miller a record for unpraiseworthy character up to last fall.

SLIDE OFFERS GREAT SPORT

Toboggan Parties Popular at Northland Country Club—Cafe Open.

Tobogganing at the Northland Country club is one of the most popular winter sports of Duluth. Toboggan parties are weekly events at the East end club.

The new toboggan slide of the club has proved the most popular attraction of the club. Afternoons and evenings the members of the club and their friends are making use of the big slide. The club now has a number of toboggans for rent to members.

The cafe of the club has been opened, and every evening when there is a toboggan party at the club, the cafe is well filled with club members. One of the finest natural ski hills in the country is also an attraction. Some of the members of the Northland club have become very expert ski riders, and before the present winter is over it would not be surprising to see some of the members of the club enter one of the ski tournaments.

MINING OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

Black Diamond Man Finds Conditions Promising in Large Territory.

Maurice S. Dessau, representing S. Dessau's Sons of New York, dealers in black diamonds, is at the Spalding today. Mr. Dessau has just covered a territory, extending from the Mesaba range to the mining districts of New Mexico, and he predicts the coming season will be an unusually heavy one for operating and prospecting.

Mr. Dessau says prospects for a big season on the Mesaba range are excellent. He also says New Mexico is receiving a large amount of capital from Pittsburgh and the East.

ANDY JONES GUILTY ON FOURTEEN COUNTS.

Farago, N. D., Jan. 11.—Andy H. Jones, former cashier, charged with wrecking the First National Bank of Fargo, was found guilty by a jury in the federal court late yesterday afternoon. The defendant was found guilty on all but one of fifteen counts.

SUPERIOR

SUPERIOR JOBBERS PLAN FOR $90,000 BUILDING.

Plans are now being drawn for the new building of the Twenty-Elmton Mercantile company on the northwest corner of Banks avenue and Winter street, the probable cost of which will be close to $90,000. The site is the property purchased some time ago by the company and it is said that the structure will cover four lots extending from Winter street to the terminal right-of-way. The building will be built of reinforced concrete and will be fireproof.

Would Reduce Salary.

A resolution providing for the employment of a combined dairy inspector and city veterinarian at a salary of $90 per month, which is now paid to the dairy inspector alone, will be framed and presented to the council by the committee on ordinances. A meeting of the committee was held last evening at the council chamber when the matter of reducing the salary of the inspector was discussed.

Normal vs. Cumberland.

The Superior normal school basketball team left today for Cumberland, where this evening the first regular out-of-town game of the season will be played with the Cumberland high school quint. The Superiors are not over-confident, but still expect to trim the Cumberland coterie. A game has been arranged between the pedagogues and the Duluth Central high school at Superior, Jan. 22.

Inspects Lodging Houses.

Deputy State Factory Inspector H. P. Peterson has just completed a complete inspection of the Superior hotels and lodging houses to see how they are complying with the requirements of the department relative to fire precautions and sanitary conditions. He says that there are some things which he will recommend to be changed, but in the main the general requirements of law have been met.

Oratorical Contest.

A preliminary oratorical contest to decide who will represent the Superior normal at the state contest to be held later in the year will take place this evening at the normal school assembly room. Five students will compete for honors. They are: Lillian E. Lund, Maudie Bergin, Pearl Blandin, L. J. Johnson, and Agnes Akin.

THE CORN INDUSTRY.

Wisconsin Man Says Minnesota Is Becoming Great Corn State.

A. B. Cambler, sales manager of the Waukesha Canning company, with facories at Waukesha, Wis., Rice Lake and Barron, Wis., and Streeter and Waukesha, Ill., is a guest of the Spalding today.

The company represented by Mr. Cambler does a large business with the Duluth wholesale houses. Mr. Cambler stated today that the Duluth wholesale houses are one of the best corn in the whole country; better, in fact, than Illinois, Iowa and other of the states that have been known as corn-growing states. He predicted a great future for the corn-growing industry in Minnesota.

EVILS SPONSORED BY CANNON.

That performance and the things which followed it; the scandals of the arrangement; the withdrawal of the Payne bill after it was ready to report. In order to doctor up the nasty concessions made as the price of Tammany support, the eleventh hour reduction of the brewer's tax by committee, the refusal of all opportunity for real debate, the appearance of Cannon in person on the floor to demand the retention of Standard Oil's duty on petroleum; the nauseous liquor glory duties; the eleven hour reduction of the brewer's tax by committee; the sympathy and support of a vast body of public sentiment, says J. C. Welch in Success Magazine. Bedding as a hopeless little group of parishes, rejected by the contemptuous Democrats, threatened by the president, besought or bullied by this or that political agent of the administration, put under the pressure of regularity demand by the senators from their home states, these insurgents stood their ground, and presently they found the whole country lining up at their backs. Where will you turn to find record of another rebellion that so soon has become revolution? For who will deny today that it is revolution?

NEGRO'S IDEA OF MARRIAGE.
A white savage roamed the forests of Northern Germany. Skin-clad and war-proud, he worshiped Odin and Thor; he gambled and drank; he was fierce and cruel. But he had a clear conception of what marriage meant. He honored the woman at his side, she was his brave and virtuous companion, trained like himself to the use of arms, and together they drove back the eagles of Imperial Rome.

To this naked Teuton marriage meant family; a group of families meant a village; many villages meant a nation. The existence of a nation presupposed the honorable families of free men. Upon this indestructible unit the white man built his civilization, every law and all progress making for the betterment of the race. Here, says Harris Dickson in Success Magazine.

The negro's hazy idea of marriage is the greatest barrier in the path of his success. No race can become permanently good or great if they are not home makers. In Africa he had scant sense, but he had a sense of duty. He understood it. Therefore he felt no need for laws and customs which made the family sacred. Transplanted to America, he regarded the rule of the discipline of slavery—a restriction forced upon him by his master. Incidentally, he threw and multiplied the evils of the negro.

After the war, many, if not all the Southern states, decreed that couples then living together as husband and wife should be legally so. After that, these negroes were free to carry out their own ideas. I cannot tell you what the results have been, but I can tell you that the negro's idea about anything, I can tell you, is hard for the white man to get at.

SAYS DANTE'S GHOST STALKS.

Blacksmith Who Occupied Poet's Chamber Is Sure of It.

Baltimore Sun: Recent occurrences in the house in Florence where the poet Dante was born probably will make other people in the more prosaic walks of life chary of taking up their abode under roofs which have formerly sheltered celebrated persons or at least will make them very careful what trade they pursue when inhabiting such famous homes. The one trade most to be avoided in such circumstances appears to be that of blacksmith, judging from the uncomfortable, not to say painful, experiences which the smiths living in Dante's house, whose shop once formed the bedroom of the poet, has just had.

Besides most mysterious noises which were heard all over the house, sufficiently disquieting to all good Florentines, and uncanny "carrying on" by his implements, which acquired the uncomfortable habit of rising from where they had been laid and placing themselves safely out of reach, cursing some very explicit remarks by the blacksmith and his attendants, the most alarming manifestations of the presence of a ghostly visitor made itself felt literally the other day. A big hammer started mysteriously from the bench and dealt the blacksmith a heavy blow on the head, he says.

After a few days of exciting episodes of which the above are a few examples, the inhabitants of the house had had enough, and the two assistants of the blacksmith, who are believed to be powerful mediums and the innocent causes of these phenomena, decided to hold a seance. They, therefore, summoned two other mediums and sat down to discover the wishes of the spirit, which was evidently as much disturbed as themselves. The spirit obligingly complied with their wishes and, on being summoned in the usual way, revealed himself as the ghost of the poet Dante, who occupied the room in which he was born; furthermore, he desired that the two assistants, who had placed themselves in the room in which he was born, should be dematerialized. Needless to say, these commands were attended to with alacrity by the good blacksmith, who had no desire to feel his heaviest hammer descending on his head again.

THE OLDEST LIVING COCKATOOS.
World Magazine: Cockatoos are well known to live to patriarchal age, and probably the oldest bird in the world whose age can be traced with certainty for over a century flourishes in the well-known hostelry at Tom Ugly's Point, near Sydney, N. S. W. When he had feathers enough to distinguish his species he was recognizable as a lemon-crested cockatoo, but then, living together as husband and wife for half a century, few living people can remember when he was a young bird. He was just the same age as Capt. George Ellis, a well-known master mariner of Sydney, who died at the Solomon Islands in 1887, at the age of 89 years. The bird was presented to the captain when the latter was 9 years of age, and he was then informed that "Cocky" was just the same age. The bird was left as a legacy to Mrs. Bennett, one of Sydney's best known hotel landladies, but she did not get on with the bird, and since that period the old veteran has lived at George's river, appropriating enough within sight of where Capt. Cook landed, and has been there ever since. None of his faculties are weakened, and he is as voracious as youngsters of his tribe who may be 100 years younger. In hilarious moments he will flap his wings—you could not call them wings—and he can pick up and crack his favorite maltivally as ever. Mrs. Bennett has, besides, three pieces of beak-cut two inches in length. "Cocky" is known to thousands of Australians and globe-trotters, and all his lovers will chat freely with anybody. Among his recent visitors were Lord and Lady Northcote, Sir Harry Rawson and Miss Rawson, who were delighted with the ancient bird. He danced to command, went through his various acrobatic feats, and finally wound up with a demand for "a bit of potato."

LONGEVITY OF OLIVE TREES.

Dundee Advertiser: The longevity of olive trees is extraordinary. In Syria recently have been found some remarkably ancient olive trees whose ages are established beyond question. A trust deed exists which relates to an orchard covering 130 trees near Tripoli, Syria, the trust deed having been issued 499 years ago.

Though the trees look aged, they still bear fruit of fine quality in abundance and are likely to maintain their productivity for many hundreds of years yet. An olive grove near Beirut is admitted to be the third largest olive farm in the world. Syrian fruit farmers are extending olive culture with much interest. One place of recent set out 300,000 trees in a block.

Under European systems of culture the Syrians make the olive tree bear each season, while in the old days one crop in three years was thought to be all the tree could produce. The medium cropping capacity of the trees was due to the native method of thrashing the fruits from the branches with sticks, which seriously injured them.

The method of grinding the olives for oil and picking the fruit are peculiar. Neither the grinders nor pickers received wages, but are paid on percentage. The pickers receive 5 per cent of the actual fruit picked and the grinders get 10 per cent of the fruit ground.
